Fierce Battles Fought

Cong Loss Heavy In Two Attacks

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—The Viet Cong launched two big attacks on government troops in South Viet Nam's central highlands during the night and suffered heavy casualties.

A U.S. Army helicopter was shot down during one of the battles and the four Americans aboard were killed. An estimated 150-200 guerrillas were killed in the two actions.

Supported by heavy air attacks, a force of 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 American advisers held off hundreds of guerrillas laying siege to a special forces camp at Plei Me, about 17 miles from the Cambodian border.

The Viet Cong lost an estimated 60 to 100 men but kept up their attack throughout the day. Casualties among the defenders were reported light.

U.S. advisers said government troops beat off attacks by two Viet Cong battalions in a fierce battle in the Ba Long valley, about 400 miles north of Saigon near the North Viet Nam border.

COUNT 94 BODIES

The advisers reported 94 Viet Cong bodies had been counted and "they're still counting." South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

Government forces also took one wounded captive, a regular North Vietnamese soldier who told intelligence officers that he was with the 800th Viet Cong Battalion which rendezvoused two days ago west of Hue. He said he came from North Viet Nam six months ago with other Hanoi regulars to fill out the battalion.

A large store of Viet Cong weapons was seized, including seven Chinese anti-tank weapons, four machine-guns and one rocket launcher.

The intensified Viet Cong activity Tuesday night and this morning followed one of the biggest strafing and bombing campaigns carried out by U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft in the Viet Nam war.

A fleet of 124 U.S. naval and air force jets pounded targets north of the border Tuesday—all were reported to have returned to base safely.

U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft flew more than 300 sorties against Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam.

KLAN leader Robert Shelton today was dismissed as a witness before the U.S. Un-American Activities Committee but not before he was warned contempt charges will likely be laid. The Imperial Wizard of the United Klans of America again refused to answer questions concerning funds received and monies spent. (See also Page 6.)

REHEARSAL GOES SMOOTHLY FOR FIRST SPACE HOOK-UP

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford ran through a smooth rehearsal today for Monday's Gemini 6 space flight.

There was no trouble, in contrast to Tuesday when the exercise was postponed because of a stray electrical signal that scrambled the memory bank in the spacecraft computer.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration called it an excellent test and reported the computer was in good working order.

Schirra and Stafford are to make man's first attempt to hook up with a satellite and will determine whether any problems exist. The technique must be perfected for man-to-the-moon flights.

Gemini 6 is scheduled for launching Monday from Cape Kennedy and will rendezvous with the Agena rocket 185 miles above the earth while travelling at 17,500 miles an hour. Astronaut Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford will practise four such docking manoeuvres after the original union. Small side rockets push the capsule away from the rocket. (AP Wirephoto.)

'THREE WEEKS? NONSENSE'

Beer Back Next Week If Strikers Vote Yes

Beer will re-appear in liquor stores and beer parlors next week if striking brewery workers vote tonight to return to work.

Sources who preferred to remain anonymous discounted as "nonsense" one report that it will be three weeks before beer reappears.

One source said if the 450 brewery workers agree to return and the agreement is signed before the weekend, beer will be flowing early next week.

He said warehouses already have stocks of bottled beer on hand. Draft beer will take a few days longer to prepare.

The break in the two-month strike over wages and automation came Tuesday after the first face-to-face meeting of the five breweries and the United Brewery Workers of America.

Involved in tonight's vote are 62 employees of the Lucky Lager brewery on Government Street.

A joint statement by both sides said the new offer, which was not made public, covers all points at issue.

The union struck Aug. 23 after the breweries rejected its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase in one year and a guaranteed annual wage to protect employees against the inroads of automation.

The breweries rejected the guaranteed annual wage plan, similar to that enjoyed by longshoremen, and offered an 11 per cent wage increase over two years and other benefits, which were turned down by the union.

The strike reduced the supply of beer to practically nothing, but cider sales enjoyed a tremendous boost.

Nearly 2,000 beer parlor waiters, including more than 100 in Victoria, were laid off when supplies ran out.

The strikebound breweries are Lucky Lager, Carling's Molson's and O'Keefe's.

If It Moves, Shoot; Colorado Code?

CRAIG, Colo. (UPI) — To make sure they returned from their hunting trip Tuesday, Don Mallison, a firearms safety instructor from Hutchinson, Minn., and his brother, John, wore bright jackets and fluorescent hats.

To make doubly sure, they drove a bright red truck and planned to paint their horses yellow. But no sooner had they parked and unloaded the animals than a shot rang out. One horse fell dead. Then more shots and the second horse fell.

The brothers ran for cover. Minutes later a dozen hunters came out of the trees in Colorado's White River forest ready to argue for the kill.

But when they saw what they had killed, none would admit firing his rifle, Mallinson said.

RE-ELECTED today as West German chancellor was Ludwig Erhard by a vote of 272 to 200 in the Bundestag lower house at Bonn. He still faces difficulty in forming his government. A coalition agreement with the minority Free Democrats still must be accepted by his own Christian Democratic party.

Dief Reaches New Peak In 'Clean Up Mess' Plea

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Tomes Ottawa Bureau

PEMBROKE, Ont. — Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has again appealed to the conscience of Canadians to decide whether they will give the Liberals "carte blanche" to allow international crime to probe government circles.

With an almost inevitable momentum the Tory leader reached an emotional peak with the theme of "clean up the mess."

It is a theme which he has now carried more than 7,000 miles in this election campaign.

He has reached thousands of Canadians at 25 major meetings and countless whistle stops in every province but Prince Edward Island.

This time it was pounded out to an overflow crowd of some 1,100 in this Ottawa Valley community.

The stage was set with a mammoth blue and white banner which greeted the leader with "Welcome Honest John."

Hundreds crowded the railway platform as Diefenbaker swung off his special campaign train which had carried him from Sudbury.

He was obviously tired, having managed only about three hours sleep the night before when his itinerary was set back by fog.

His lengthy speech was received with few outbursts of applause but a quiet attention, particularly when he intoned his now standard campaign phrase: "The tentacles of international crime have reached into the highest levels of government."

"We Conservatives never had to apologize for our honesty," he said with eyes blazing across the rostrum.

"We will clean up the mess. They will cover up the mess.

MANIAC RECORDED DYING SCREAMS

Search Pressed for Child Victims

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—The maniac killer in Britain's weird mass murder hunt tortured his victims and tape recorded their dying screams, detectives reported today.

But although they hold recordings of the murders, and even photographs of the mutilated victims, police have found only one of the bodies.

They believe up to eight and perhaps 11 others are buried on the wild northern moorlands where the dismembered body of 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey was found last weekend.

Police seized tape and photographs in a raid on a house in Cheshire near the Pennine Hills where the hunt for the bodies continues.

More tape was found in a suitcase left in a Manchester railway station cloakroom. From tapes and photographs, detectives have built up a casebook of a sadist who enticed young children, got them drunk on wine and then murdered them if they refused to join perversions.

Police said they know the killer and are awaiting only to establish an iron-clad case before charging him. Their main difficulty is in finding the bodies.

Rhodesian Decision Reached

11th Hour Appeal Made to Britain

WILSON TALKS WITH PEARSON

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson, searching for some last-minute solution to the grave Rhodesian crisis, conferred with Prime Minister Pearson in an eight-minute trans-Atlantic telephone call Tuesday. An aide at 10 Downing Street said later Wilson was encouraged by Pearson's "advice and wisdom."

'Consequences Depend on You'

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth agreed to receive Prime Minister Harold Wilson at his urgent request tonight as the Rhodesian independence crisis approached a final rupture.

(Times News Services)

SALISBURY—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith today made an 11th-hour appeal to Britain to "do the statesmanlike thing" and grant independence to Rhodesia.

Smith said earlier today his cabinet has made a decision in principle on whether to declare independence from Britain unilaterally.

Smith's letter to British Prime Minister Wilson said: "We have made our decision on what our next step should be. Its implementation and the consequences which flow from it now depend entirely on your response to this appeal I now make to you at this 11th hour."

Wilson called an urgent cabinet meeting at noon today to decide what, if any, action to take on Rhodesia's decision in principle on a declaration of independence.

ILLEGAL MOVE

Informed sources said Wilson decided to summon the cabinet after receiving legal advice that any statement by the Rhodesian government that it intended at some future date to declare independence would, in itself, be illegal.

The sources said that the cabinet would now decide whether to go ahead with plans for punitive action against a Rhodesian government which had declared its intention to take independence.

Smith said in the letter he again offered as proof of his good faith "a solemn treaty to guarantee our undertaking" to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution of Rhodesia, a self-governing central African colony ruled by a white-minority government.

"Rhodesia is being condemned not for what we have done but for what others say we might do in the future.

IAN SMITH
. . . 'put us on trust'

"Therefore, at this grave hour I repeat to you the suggestion I made to you at the London talks that the statesmanlike thing for you to do is to grant us our independence and to put us on trust to observe and to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution.

"Should there occur a breach of such a solemn undertaking, that would be the appropriate time for the British government to take whatever steps thought fit.

"I believe it is my duty to impress upon you that no hardship and misery will flow from any action taken by the Rhodesian government. If the unfortunate situation which you predict should occur it could only stem directly from actions taken by the British government and those whom you have induced to support you."

'Personal Freedom Not Lost'

By IAN MacDONALD
Times Ottawa Bureau

WESTLOCK, Alta. — Prime Minister Lester Pearson said Tuesday night there is no stripping away of personal or provincial freedom in the Liberal medicare proposal.

Pearson made a strong defence of his government's plan as he flew into Alberta voicing election confidence and appealing for more Western Canada Liberals in Ottawa.

The prime minister drew a jam-packed audience of more than 1,000 in this small town about 50 miles north of Edmonton.

People unable to get seats stood at the back of the hall and sat in another room listening to him over loudspeakers.

The prime minister also made a strong appeal for national unity in a 30-minute speech.

He described it as Canada's most important problem next to that of peace.

OUTSPOKEN OPPONENT

Pearson carried his medicare stand into country where Alberta Social Credit Premier Ernest Manning is the most outspoken opponent of the Liberal proposal.

The prime minister's meeting was in Athabasca riding, where the Liberals are hopeful that they can take the seat from Tory Jack Bigg.

Pearson ran into his only heckler when he said there has been a great deal of interest in Alberta and other provinces concerning medicare.

"Socialist," shouted a man.

Pearson said the primary responsibility for medicare is provincial.

"But we believe there should be medical services available to every Canadian irrespective of ability or inability to pay," he stated.

He added Ottawa believes its job is to work with the provinces, help them finance a medical scheme, but leave the details to the provinces.

"We have not imposed any

IN ALABAMA

Court Won't Disqualify Jurors

MONTGOMERY (AP) — The Alabama Supreme Court refused today to disqualify 11 prospective jurors in a Ku Klux Klansman's murder trial because they had said they regarded white civil rights workers as inferior.

The unanimous decision cleared the way for resumption of the trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, at nearby Hayneville and for the selection of a jury.

State Attorney-General Richmond Flowers, prosecuting the first-degree murder case, told reporters: "I'm going back to my office now. I'll have a statement later."

Before the ruling was handed down, Flowers had said he would be ready to go back to Hayneville to resume the trial if the court rejected his claim that the prospective jurors by their statements had indicated prejudice.

The attorney-general based his appeal on the fact that Wilkins is charged with killing a white civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

NDP COMPARISON

People Blamed For Job Lack

MONCTON (CP)—New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas Tuesday night used a statistical comparison with the rest of Canada to support his claim that the Maritime provinces have been "the Cinderella of Confederation."

Speaking to a rally here in the centre of the Westmorland riding, now held by Liberal Mrs. Margaret Rideout, Mr. Douglas said the average income in the Maritimes is only two-thirds of the national average, wages are lower, the cost of living higher and unemployment greater than the national average.

The fault lies with the people of the region themselves for continuing to return members of the old-line parties to Ottawa "who have never spoken out for the Maritimes", he told a crowd of about 500 in a hotel ballroom.

He said industries must be created in the Atlantic provinces to stop the annual migration of workers from the area and to halt "the export of jobs" by shipping away natural resources for processing in other parts of Canada or other countries.

DEVELOP INDUSTRIES

For this purpose, he proposed establishment of a government-sponsored and operated national industrial development corporation to develop industries in economically - depressed areas where there is unemployment.

Such a project would be unlike Finance Minister Gordon's proposal for a development corporation "which would include a 10-per-cent investment by government and two directors, with the rest of it controlled by financial and business interests."

To spread national wealth by means of increased job opportunities and manpower training schemes would be to redistribute purchasing power and thus bolster the Canadian economy, Mr. Douglas said.

"This country is divided in language and culture, but it is also divided in wealth and economic opportunity. It is divided language and culture, but it is between 13,500,000 Canadians whose incomes allow them, at least in part, to share in the affluent society, and 6,500,000 Canadians who are shut out from this feast."

EXTEND PROSPERITY

He said the solution to economic divisions is "to show that a nation can be wealthy and humane. . . We must build an economy which brings prosperity from coast to coast, eliminating the sectional pockets of economic deprivation."

Turning to cultural and linguistic differences, the NDP leader said national unity is a major election theme of both the Liberal and Progressive Conservatives, but "if after eight years of Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson, our unity as a country is in such a shattered state, these are not the men who are fit to put us back together again."

Canadians must build a society in which differences in race, language and culture "are accepted as the natural fabric of a community."

Mr. Douglas was to leave today for Port Arthur, Ont.

'600,000 To Get Aid Under Plan'

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said Tuesday night a Liberal government will undertake "a massive program" to help provide job security for the more than 600,000 young Canadians who now have low education levels.

The program will be for the unemployed and those threatened with unemployment, he told a gathering. There were more than 600,000 Canadians "betwen the ages of 15 and 24 who are physically and mentally capable of receiving more education, who now have less than grade eight education."

The government must adopt policies to keep young people in school, Mr. Martin said and listed the training program, a $10,000,000 university scholarship program and the Company of Young Canadians as Liberal policies which will give the young "hope and encouragement they are going to share in the destiny of our country."

Thompson Outlines His Version

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prominent Liberals were behind the scheme to gain support of six Social Credit MPs after the 1963 federal election, Robert Thompson, national Social Credit leader, said Tuesday.

Mr. Thompson told a press conference he has no independent information on charges by his former colleague, Dr. Guy Marcoux, to the effect that an offer of $25,000 was part of the same deal.

But he was certain someone "at a high level in the Liberal party" sought out two Social Credit MPs as part of a plot to force the resignation of then-Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

SIGNED STATEMENT

The two MPs got the support of four others and signed a statement of support for the Liberals "on the same night that we had agreed in the caucus meeting that there would be no deals, no comments, that we'd go home while they (Liberals and Conservatives) settled their own problems between the two parties."

Mr. Thompson said disciplinary action taken by his party against the MPs marked the beginning of the split that led to a breakaway by the Quebec Creditistes.

Give Farmer Better Break

ALMA, Que. (CP)—Postmaster-General Rene Tremblay said Tuesday night the Liberal party intends to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by any other member of modern society.

After Nov. 8, he said, a Liberal government would increase the farmer's income gradually until it paralleled that of other Canadian workers.

Mr. Tremblay told a rally in this city of the Lake St. John district that the main plank in the Liberal agricultural platform is its proposed crop insurance scheme, which would shield the farmer from the full effects of a bad year.

Fire Kills Prisoners

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — Two U.S. Army prisoners were asphyxiated when a fire broke out in the brig of the troopship Gen. W. H. Gordon, informed sources reported Wednesday. The sources said guards attempted to rescue the two soldiers but were unable to save them. Military officials were reluctant to comment on the incident.

FULTON
. . . lost old magic

Davie Works Like Unknown In Federal Bid

By DENNIS ORCHARD

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Davie Fulton has been beaten once in the home country and he's taking this campaign from scratch.

Defeated in provincial politics during a three-year absence from the federal scene, he is working like an unknown as Conservative candidate in Kamloops constituency.

All parties feel the Fulton name may no longer hold all its old magic for this transportation hub and the mining, cattle and lumber country that surrounds it.

Mr. Fulton was its prominent MP for 17 years and held the major cabinet portfolios of justice and works. But his opponents are sticking him with his recent record—the bold autumn pronouncement of 1962 to commit himself "without reservation" to victory over British Columbia's Social Credit government, and his subsequent failure as B.C. Progressive Conservative leader to capture a single seat in the legislature.

Three strong opponents say Mr. Fulton is ripe for federal defeat after being whipped by 1,200 votes provincially. In the field are Liberal Jack Chilton, 52, mayor of North Kamloops; the New Democratic Party's Vernon Jones, 56, a high school teacher; and Social Credit's Tom Sills, a 48-year-old contractor.

The projected return of Mr. Fulton to Ottawa has been in the cards for more than a year and the name of the 49-year-old lawyer remains prominent among contenders to the party leadership.

FEW NATIONAL WORDS

But he has few words to say about national issues as he troops across the enormous constituency.

At Merritt he stresses a plant to refine ore; at Salmon Arm the need for foreshore development of the Shuswap Lakes; at Lillooet the prospect of hydro and coal-generated power; at Williams Lake the urgency of meat-inspection facilities.

Mr. Chilton, whose nominating convention outdrew Mr. Fulton's 2-to-1, is a CNR car inspector, who emigrated from England in 1929. He spent the next dozen years as a farmer, miner, logger and truck driver, and within the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America (CLC) he has been a vigorous union man.

The party counts on him as a diamond-in-the-rough candidate. He says he has found voters resenting what they call two moves by Mr. Fulton to abandon his party while it has been in trouble.

Dr. C. J. M. Willoughby, a family doctor who retired in deferrence to Mr. Fulton, held Kamloops for the Conservatives in 1963 by a 245-vote margin over the Liberals. Mr. Jones was another 1,500 votes back and Social Credit 1,500 more in a total constituency vote of about 29,000.

Grits Weakening Provinces By Policies, Says SC Chief

MISSION CITY, B.C. (CP)—The Liberal battle cry of co-operative federalism hides a policy of "sheer disintegration" that is weakening the provinces, Robert Thompson, national Social Credit leader, said Tuesday.

He said massive Liberal programs in the name of co-operative federalism have been drafted by the party's "backroom boys." The party MPs have not been consulted and the programs have been thrust on the provinces on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, he said.

Mr. Thompson spoke to a crowd of about 200, half-filling a hall in this Fraser Valley community of 3,000. He spent the afternoon touring the valley and talking at coffee parties in support of Alex Patterson, who held Fraser Valley constituency in the last Parliament.

The national leader outlined—for the first time in the Nov. 8 federal election campaign—party policy for establishing a ministry of federal - provincial affairs.

This department would bring about "consultive federalism" dealing with all responsibilities overlapping federal and provincial jurisdiction. It would maintain a continual liaison in such matters as health, trade and education.

SEES 'RAW DEAL'

Mr. Thompson was critical of the Liberals for what he called "the raw deal" they are giving B.C. and Alberta. He said heavy taxes are taken out of these provinces to pay for such things as "free education" in Newfoundland.

Any one of the 10 provincial premiers would do a better job in Ottawa than Prime Minister Pearson or Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, he said.

He feared that the election will solve few national problems but hoped it will select MPs with a greater degree of responsibility and with less blind allegiance to party ties. This election presented few national issues and no national party to the voters.

"In fact, it's more like 265 byelections where individual candidates will have more influence than ever before," he said.

"A Diefenbaker-Pearson cock and bull fight" has destroyed the image of Parliament, said Mr. Thompson.

THATCHER BACKS PM ON 'SAME PRINCIPLES'

MOOSE JAW (CP)—Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan said Tuesday he and his government will give their full support to Prime Minister Pearson's election compaign.

Premier Thatcher, addressing 150 delegates to the annual meeting of the Moose Jaw Liberal Association, said that although the Liberal governments in Regina and Ottawa have their differences, Liberals believe in the same principles.

UBC Election Guest Gets Rude Reception

VANCOUVER (CP)—Peter Baxter, who says he is running for president of Canada in the Nov. 8 federal election, was given the bird by University of B.C. students Tuesday.

Chicken feathers from a 75-year-old pillow were dumped over him as he told students about his plans for the nation.

Mr. Baxter, 42, who is gatherig signatures so he can file papers in the Comox-Alberni riding by Monday's deadline, told them he wants all his supporters to make plus signs rather than X signs on their ballots, whatever the riding.

"After the election, the number of plus signs can be counted, and if I have a majority, the governor-general will call upon me to form a republican government," he said.

Murray Farr, head of the committee which sponsored Mr. Baxter's speech at UBC, admitted his group set up the boobytrap that dumped feathers on the speaker.

"The feathers were from a 75-year-old pillow that belonged to my grandmother," he said.

Gov't 'Embarrassed' To Give Tax Details

Times Ottawa Bureau

SUDBURY — Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker charges Tuesday that the government would be "too embarrassed" to divulge the details of a back taxes settlement with Canadian Javelin Ltd. concluded last spring.

The Tory chieftain kept the income tax problems of millionaire mining promoter John C. Doyle and Javelin alive during a hurried press conference here after his campaign schedule had been delayed overnight by fog.

Diefenbaker made it clear that he felt Revenue Minister Edgar J. Benson was not eager to give out the terms of an out-of-court settlement last April of a $1,492,073 corporate income tax claim against Javelin and associated companies.

After a lengthy legal battle the revenue department writ of garnishee against Javelin—which has huge holdings in Newfoundland — was dropped in favor of a negotiated settlement.

Diefenbaker wants to know what that settlement was and he feels Canadians also would be interested in the amount actually paid to the revenue department by Javelin.

Benson would not answer the question himself "because it would be a bit embarrassing for him," Diefenbaker said.

Benson said he would not discuss the Javelin case because the department never reveals the amounts of such settlements until the debt is paid in full.

'WOULD WEAKEN NATO DEFENCES'

Canada Vetoes Soviet N-Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada Tuesday turned down a Soviet-proposed treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons on grounds it would endanger the defences of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canada's chief disarmament negotiator, told the United Nations General Assembly's main political committee the Soviet draft treaty seemed designed to prohibit certain defensive arrangements which now exist within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet Union, in unveiling its treaty during the General Assembly debate, said the United States-proposed treaty is inadequate because it would allow "dissemination of nuclear weapons" to nations within the Atlantic Alliance.

The Soviet treaty would rule out the establishment of such groups as the American-suggested multilateral nuclear force for the 15-nation alliance.

Burns told the 117-nation political committee that under existing NATO arrangements certain nuclear-weapon delivery vehicles of limited range in the hands of U.S. allies could be used to deliver nuclear weapons to repel aggression. But, he added, the U.S. retains control over them.

If these arrangements were abolished, Burns said, "it would weaken the NATO defences" and give the Soviet Union a nuclear advantage.

The Canadian delegate called for intensive negotiations on disarmament pending the start of a proposed world disarmament conference to which Communist China would be invited. Disarmament talks should continue in Geneva regardless of the decision taken on the calling of a world conference.

He welcomed the efforts of the Latin-American and African countries to create non-nuclear zones in their regions, and said Canada supports Sweden's proposal to set up a "detection club," a world-wide surveillance system aimed at prohibiting all forms of nuclear testing, including underground tests not covered by the 1963 test-ban treaty.

Princess To Pack Union Card

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Princess Margaret will be made an honorary, card-carrying labor union member when she officially opens a new newspaper building next week.

She will join the National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants because the ceremonies call for her to push a button starting the paper's new presses—a job only a union member can do under the printers' closed-shop agreements.

The ceremony next week will open the new $21,000,000 Birmingham Post and Mail building.

Jewels Seized

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Customs guards at Beirut International Airport recently intercepted a shipment of contraband jewels worth $1,000,000, sources close to the police reported Tuesday. The source said 438 pieces of jewelry were hidden in secret compartments in two suitcases which arrived aboard a plane from Geneva. The guards opened the suitcases when no one claimed them.

GROMYKO IN CUBA

HAVANA (UPI) - Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko arrived here by plane from New York today and got a warm welcome from Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and other government officials.

Gromyko, the first high-ranking Soviet visitor to this Communist island since the visit of then deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan during the 1962 missile crisis, was accompanied by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa.

The Wide Swings

THE PUBLIC HAS BEEN shocked by the disclosure of details of the casually planned, deliberately executed murders by an underworld arson ring operating in Quebec province.

The first public mention of these crimes — the bankruptcy-arson activities and as many as a dozen murders in one official estimate—led to quick attempts by election-conscious opposition party candidates to criticize the federal government not only for permitting conditions which led to the occurrence of the crimes but also for federal laxity in not solving them and bringing the guilty to punishment.

Obviously, this was an exorbitantly wide sweep of accusation, which was put in its proper perspective a few days ago by Quebec's Prime Minister Lesage. The Quebec provincial government, he has made it clear, has the full responsibility for investigation and prosecution of the fradulent bankruptcy cases which have plagued the province in recent years, and of the arson and murder which have developed from the underworld activities.

"The administration of justice is our responsibility alone," Mr. Lesage said, and he took occasion also to deny knowledge of any secret report to the federal government from his provincial administration in connection with the wave of fraudulent bankruptcies.

The contentious climate of an election campaign provides, of course, a fertile environment for free-running charges such as have been made on the hustings, and for the much more reprehensible devices of innuendo and calculated rumor.

Canadian electors should by now be well able to separate the grain of truth from the political chaff, at least to the point of demanding proof of generalized accusations by political opponents. As the campaign nears its end, the charges no doubt will fly more briskly, for the close approach of voting day will reduce the opportunities for answering irresponsible claims.

This is a part of politics, of course, and apparently inescapable —even in a campaign which all parties promised would be conducted on a clean and lofty plane.

The Mouths and the Millions

IN HIS ADDRESS TO THE United Nations, Pope Paul spoke out against any endorsement by that body of population control as a means of easing the desperate plight of countries where hundreds of thousands of people are short of food.

"Your task," the Pope declared, "is to insure that there is enough bread on the tables of mankind and not to encourage artificial birth control . . . in order to diminish the number of guests at the banquet of life."

This is a noble sentiment, but the plain truth of the matter seems to be that both measures—to increase the world's food supply and to limit population growth—will have to be undertaken if starvation or near-starvation is to be ended in many parts of the world.

Despite the application of revolutionary techniques to production of food all over the globe, the fact is that the world grows steadily hungrier. Four years ago, according to the best estimate of the UN's Food and Agriculture Organization, about half the people in the world were suffering some degree of hunger or malnutrition or both. Another 10 to 15 per cent were badly undernourished. This meant that at that time close to two billion people were not getting enough to eat.

Since that estimate was made almost every underdeveloped area of the world has lost ground in the race between population growth and production of food. In Latin America as a whole food output per person is below the level of 25 years ago. The same holds true in many parts of Asia, in India and much of the Middle East. Population gains in these areas are not only outrunning food supplies, they are also negating the enormous efforts that have been put into general development of all kinds.

In theory it is possible to prove that by utilizing all the resources of land and sea there could be produced enough food to give everyone in the world an adequate diet. It can also be shown, unfortunately, that if even the present rate of population growth continues unchecked there will still come a time when all the resources of the world will not be enough to feed all the people.

More Voices Heard

DURING THE PAST MONTH or so the leaders of all the East European Soviet satellite nations have trekked to Moscow to confer with Russian leaders on the future development of what has been for 20 years called the Iron Curtain bloc.

Reports trickling out of Moscow and the East European capitals confirm the observations made by seasoned observers and commentators during the past year—the old days of unquestioned obedience to the masters in the Kremlin are gone; under the new regime "consultation" between allies is the order of the day.

The two chief topics for consultation are the Warsaw Pact and COMECON (the East European equivalent of the European Common Market) and there is no doubt that there is serious concern over the future of these two organizations. Mr. Leonid Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party, admitted as much when he announced publicly last month that changes are due in both.

With COMECON, the problem seems to be economic stagnation in East European countries which have been too tightly geared to the Soviet economy. For the most part these countries have already taken strong steps to break out of the Russian grip and to trade more with the non-Communist world.

In the case of the Warsaw Pact there is an interesting parallel with the difficulties being encountered in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The major questions being debated in both camps are decision-making and control of nuclear weapons. At the present time all decision on Warsaw Pact military strategy is held firmly in Russian hands, just as the United States, in effect, controls NATO decisions. With control of nuclear weapons, the situations are similar except that in the Eastern European alliance there are no countries with independent nuclear capabilities such as Britain and France in the West.

There are great advantages to the cause of world peace in this breaking down of the monolithic control exercised by the Soviet Union over Eastern Europe — and perhaps some in the loosening of the tight militaristic ties in NATO. There are also some dangers in the new situation.

No one can doubt that the gradual lowering of the artificial barrier between East and West Europe through increasing trade, cultural exchange and tourist travel will be anything but a benefit. So, too, a recognition of wide responsibility in military alliances lessens the danger of war by miscalculation.

The main element to be feared in the changes which are taking place is the possible resurgence of rampant nationalism which has been the curse of Europe for centuries. This was a feature which was held in check while there was a fear of confrontation between two solid blocs.

By MAURICE WESTERN

The Douglas Paradox on Minorities

AFTER all the fun that Mr. T. C. Douglas once had with Liberal pigeons, it is curious that he seems so determined in this campaign to establish himself as the homing pigeon of Canadian politics. Wander he may and wander he does but faithful party supporters have every assurance that sooner or later he will be back on the same, familiar themes. There does not appear, at first glance, to be one difference between the current appeal of the New Democratic leader and that of 1962-63. He is now assuring audiences that there is, for the first time, an "arithmetical possibility" of the election of a "people's" (that is to say, a New Democratic) government. For the benefit of the inattentive, Mr. Douglas arrives at this possibility by adding 125 per cent of the old NDP vote to 75 per cent of the undecided vote.

Western

This in an interesting exercise but Mr. Douglas seems none too sure that an arithmetical possibility will have the electrifying effect on voters required for political success.

Old Argument

He therefore homes in on the old argument, of which he was the outstanding, although by no means the only, exponent in 1963. In pleasant communion with Mr. Robert Thompson, he maintains that minority government is good for us.

If this is to be the theme, Mr. Douglas must reckon first of all with one or two objections and must then address himself seriously to a number of propositions which are surely implicit in his argument.

Research would probably indicate Mr. Douglas was equally persuaded on the merits of minority government when he served in the House of Commons back in the 1930s. But whatever became of the argument during the long period (almost two decades) when he served as premier of Saskatchewan? If he now believes that the province would have been better off with a minority CCF government, dependent say on the Conservatives or Social Crediters, why does he not expound what might well be a very interesting argument.

Prodding Government

Moreover, Mr. Douglas rather confused matters in a recent speech. Speaking on television, he explained that he was more interested in prodding the two old parties into action than in gaining power. He preferred to see the New Democratic strength increase gradually so that, "when we do win, we can exercise the power given to us by the electorate."

The plain implication is that a minority NDP government would lack effective power to carry out its policies, which would evidently be a bad thing. But if a government of another party is in a similar position, this is a good thing. There seems to be a flaw somewhere in Mr. Douglas' argument.

(Incidentally, what is the point of this argument if the NDP leader takes the "arithmetical possibility" as seriously as audiences, presumably, are supposed to take it?).

But these are not the basic objections. If Mr. Douglas is firmly persuaded that minority government is in the public interest, he should be ready to argue a number of subordinate propositions. He has never done so.

The first is that harried ministers, uncertain from day to day of their own survival, are likely to prove better and more efficient administrators than ministers with normal security of tenure. It would be fascinating to hear this proposition defended by Mr. Douglas, who has always been a fervent exponent of long-term planning.

Frustrating Planners

A second is that the country is better off when politics dominates whatever effective planning goes on. In a minority Parliament, all the parties are dominated by thoughts of an election which may come at any time. They can scarcely be expected to concentrate on the advice or warnings of economists when they are being pressed with even more urgent counsel by party managers and strategists thinking always of the next round.

A third is that a weak central government is well placed to deal with powerful governments in the provinces. Mr. Thompson, who shares the views of Mr. Douglas on this subject, contended recently that any provincial government could have done a better job at Ottawa than the present possessor of power.

This is an odd view from a leader who only recently was pledging continued support to the Pearson government. But what Mr. Thompson failed to note is the fact that all the provincial governments are majority governments.

It is perhaps easy for Mr. Douglas to accept these propositions, even if he is not prepared to argue them, because the whole case for minority government rests on the assumption that the minority should rule; that the tail should wag the dog.

A minority government is usually formed by the party with the largest number of supporters in the House of Commons. But since it is short of a majority it is a captive administration, dependent on one or more small groups. It can carry through its own policies only in so far as they are acceptable to these splinter parties and beyond that it must probably make concessions to the demands of these political fragments.

This is obviously attractive if one happens to be the leader of a fragment and identifies the will of that group with progress. But this is to reverse the verdict of voters; to hand effective power to a party which may command the allegiance of 10 or 12 per cent of the people. By the criteria of the NDP the people may, of course, have been wrong and misguided in their judgments but it is basic to democracy that voters have a right to be wrong if they choose.

Thompson Confusion

Mr. Thompson seems, if anything, to be even more confused on this subject than Mr. Douglas. In one of his latest contributions, he suggested that we should have minority government "so that things can't be railroaded through." This is a good Prairie expression; it implies that an organized few have their way whatever the majority may think. But Mr. Thompson reverses the concept. There is democracy if a majority is blocked by a stout-hearted splinter group but it is a case of railroading if the majority rules.

Instead of trifling with this subject, the two small party leaders should have a thorough-going try at selling these propositions to the voting public. It might prove an interesting experiment.

Rhodesian Voters

In your first editorial in Friday night's issue you infer that nearly four million black Rhodesians cannot remain as they are at present without a vote.

Your figure is too high. You must deduct those not yet of voting age.

Also deduct term workers from other parts of Africa, who do work that Rhodesian blacks won't do.

Plus some hundreds of thousands of black Rhodesians who prefer to live in reserves under tribal laws.

These three items amount to about 3,800,000. When this figure is deducted from your four million we get just about 200,000 adult urban black Rhodesians who may vote if they wish on the B roll—W. M. Sparke, 3415 Richmond.

Extending V.L.A.

Realizing that shortly we in Canada are going to have a general election, I feel this is the proper time to suggest that Veteran's Land Act benefits be allowed to all forces who have served outside Canada with the United Nations, since the Second World War ended.

As is well known thousands of our fighting forces have been in Egypt, Gaza, Cyprus (being a peace-keeping force in countries in the throes of war), they are actually on a battlefield with limited amount of shooting, in among mines, barbed wire and with snipers nearby, many have lost their lives, others have been wounded during their duty to help keep world peace. These forces are given United Nations medals for their service, but I contend that a better service can be extended to these forces by allowing them the privilege to build a home under the Veteran's Land Act in Canada. They would not be seeking something for nothing. They would only be asking for the right to get a loan under the act, build under its jurisdiction, and repay the loan by monthly payments, at a low interest rate. —Reg. Clark, 3260 Cedar Hill.

Toast to Musketeers

The three French scientists who have won the Nobel medicine prize studied in metabolism, cell genetics and microbiology, and were able, as the "Three Musketeers," to bring their knowledge together in a most splendid manner.

This is a good example of teamwork and shows a high degree of communication ability for a specific purpose amongst professionals. Often as not selfishness inhibits research and as a result many people are in a little pocket of their own and out of touch with potential "musketeers" who together might advance scientific study greatly.

So here's a toast to Professors Monod, Jacob and Lwoff, may they be an example to others and inspire the loners to communicate. — H. F. Leggett, 948 Lyall.

Gas Up on Ferries

The suggestion that the ferries linking the Island with the mainland be equipped with service stations seems to be a good one. It would relieve the west bound motorist of the necessity of stopping at the last filling station on the mainland prior to embarking, in order to take full advantage of the lower priced gasoline, and relieve the east bound motorist of the anxiety of wondering if there was still enough gas left in his tank to enable him to reach the same place.

Very little extra equipment would be needed on the boats; just a couple of overhead travelling tanks on the car deck; one containing gas, and the other oil. Both equipped with long hoses.— George Johnson, 3939 Cumberland.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Remedy for Trans-Atlantic Distrust

NO one can doubt that important changes are coming in the structure of the Western Alliance. But serious examination of the changes has not yet begun because neither in West Germany nor in this country is there a consensus about what to do. Thus, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has not yet found a way to reconcile the factions out of which he must fashion his government, and the divisive issue among these factions is West German foreign policy —toward Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union, France and the United States. In Washington, the administration is divided within itself, divided basically over how to deal with the conflicting views of the West Germans.

Lippmann

The initiative and the preponderant influence in the work of reforming and renovating the Western Alliance has fallen by default into the hands of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. For Britain is unable for the time being to play a leading role in the world, and the United States is prevented by the controversies in Bonn and at home from taking a clear stand. But this is not an impossible thing to do, and as compared with many tragic issues elsewhere in the world it is not even an exceedingly difficult thing to do.

It would be a good beginning if Washington ceased to treat the modernization and reform of NATO as an attack on the alliance and as a manifestation of Gen. de Gaulle's personal ambitions and prejudices. The NATO treaty and the military establishment constructed upon it were put together half a generation ago, and the international situation of 1965 is obviously very different from what it was in 1949. Much has happened since then. Notably, there has been the great schism in the Communist world and the Soviet-American detente which followed the nuclear confrontation of 1962.

We ought to be the first, not the reluctant last, to be arguing for the modernization of NATO, and we should be thinking about how to do this, not about how to stand off Gen. de Gaulle. A clear change of posture on our part would do much to clear the air and also to help the West Germans make up their minds.

In the next instalment of clarification must come the abandonment of the misconception that there exists a choice for Germany between defiance and reconciliation in Eastern Europe. There is a faction in Germany, which has its counterpart in Washington, which nurses the illusion that the Soviet Union can be forced behind its own frontiers and that East Germany can then be united with West Germany—all this to be done by a special German-American military combination.

Probably very few Germans, even among those who give lip service to this notion, really believe in the idea. More likely, they harbor the idea that by being joined to us in some special relationship, including some kind of nuclear relationship, the West Germans will have something to trade off when they sit down to bargain with the Soviet Union.

On our side, our German policy has become a mixture of anti-German prejudice and of appeasement. That military absurdity, the multilateral mixed-manned nuclear force of surface ships, was conceived in distrust of the Germans with the intention of fooling them. Its basic assumption is that the Germans will follow another Hitler unless the present-day Germans are given the illusion that they, too, are a first-class, that is to say, a nuclear, power.

Time for Candor

In the interests of the hygiene of German-American relations, we should give up the idea of deceiving the Germans and of appeasing them lest they do the horrible things we impute to them.

The honest and healthy basis of German-American relations is mutual candor. Such candor requires us to recognize that a nation which is partitioned must have no access to nuclear weapons. Its vital interest is reunification which must be achieved by reconciliation with its former enemies, most particularly those to the East.

Reunification cannot be achieved by any kind of German nuclear threat, either real or fictitious. It can be achieved only by the President's policy of building bridges, and, therefore, it is incumbent upon the Germans to stop complaining and wondering about every bridge we try to build.

The Germans will find, as we, too, shall find, that, as Germany and America seek the solution of the problems of security and reunification in an increased agreement with the Soviet Union, Gaullist France will not be our enemy and our inveterate opponent. We shall then all be realigned together.

Bicultured

Quebec Le Soleil

La Federation des Jeunes Chambres du Canada Francais and the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce have settled their differences. The reconciliation . . . ends a two-year split which was marked by uselessly provocative statements and deplorable sectarianism.

As the national junior chamber declared at its annual meeting in Halifax in 1963, it recognizes again, and perhaps more precisely, the equality of the two national cultures, French and English. This recognition of two ethnic groups within the junior chamber was to be translated into concrete actions. To this end, the French and English branches of the group formed a joint committee charged with developing a single group.

Among other proposals, there is the matter of an executive vice-president belonging to one of the two cultures succeeding a president of the other culture. Alternating French and English-speaking presidents at the head of the national junior chamber is an excellent step of the kind to illustrate the character of this country. If the national junior chamber really took this road . . . it would give other Canadian groups an example to imitate which would illustrate acknowledgement of the nation's bicultural nature.

Looking Back

From the Times of Oct. 20, 1905:

Within another year the biggest shingle mill in the world will be operating at Mosquito Harbor, on Mears Island, ten miles from Clayoquot. It will have a capacity of 380,000 shingles every ten hours and it will have sufficient timber resources to keep it running continuously day and night for 20 years. It is hoped the first cargoes of cedar lumber and shingles will be shipped to New York and other foreign and domestic ports before the close of next year.

British in Rhodesia Put Bright Facade On Ugly Situation

By ROY PERROTT

SALISBURY — The unpolitical tourist in Rhodesia might well wonder, looking around Salisbury, what all the drama of the London independece talks was about. Where is this deprived and repressed African majority, this crypto-fascist white domination that critics describe?

If he sticks to the tourist circuit he can take away images of contentment and harmony: Jacaranda trees in blossom, big skies, the marvel of antelope floating across the endless, lion-colored plain.

The African waiters in the hotels are anxious to please. The Africans in the shabbier back streets indeed look desperately poor and bored: but if they feel frustrated they seldom express it in violence. Over the years they have learned to know their place.

Growing Tension

This picture only shows a very British ability to put a sunny surface on a situation which is full of conflict and self-deceptions and growing areas of tension between the blacks and whites.

These have not by any means been the sole creation of Prime Minister Ian Smith's party, the Rhodesian Front. But in the few months it has been in power, the stifling of the aspirations of the African majority (4,000,000 against 220,000 white residents) has rapidly become more systematic, aggressive and unashamed.

In these repressive measures the front probably has the support of 90 per cent of the white population: and it has created an atmosphere (certainly less hypocritical than in federation days) in which, at white parties, it is fashionable to talk with open contempt of the Africans and their handful of liberal supporters.

White Insecurity

One of the odder things is the instant readiness of newly arrived white immigrants, whatever their previous politics, to adopt these attitudes quite vehemently. Insecurity and the need to think like the Joneses may have a little to do with it.

A barman in a Salisbury hotel said to me, in a thick Glasgow accent: "I hate the sight of the blacks . . . they're all so bloody stupid. The wife says they give her the creeps. Apart from them it's the greatest country in the world." The African helpmate at his elbow stared back impassively: then just went on washing glasses.

The barman has been here 10 years, but regards himself as Rhodesian and is behind "good old Smithy" against British Prime Minister Harold Wilson all the way. From various enterprises he said he earned just over $5,500 a year, pays only $550 a year in tax, has a car and swimming pool, and generally agreed that he was "all right, Jack."

There are very many broadly like him. Although the very rich tobacco farmers are most influential on front policy, at least 50 per cent of the white supremacist power to Smith's elbow comes from fairly recent immigrants who, in Britain or South Africa, would have been skilled or semi-skilled workers.

Back home a good many of them would have voted Labor, and there is a surprising number of cases in which a supposedly staunch British trade union official, once settled down beside his swimming pool here, begins to talk like a stiff-necked Afrikaaner.

As moderate people here see it, this embracing by white voters at large of the trend towards "apartheid" and "baaskap" on forthright South African lines is the really crucial thing for the future.

The African leaders have become so cynical that last week they were giving only half an eye to the supposedly critical television news. As one of them put it, "You cannot legislate for sanity."

They are very dubious, for instance, about the British government's idea of giving Africans a one-third membership of the assembly, with the power of veto on legislation. "They pay the tribal chiefs just enough to produce an unrealistic expression of African opinion. Give us a third on paper and you can bet they would find some way of making it useless."

It will be hard to remove this paralysis of black-white relationships. It is not an atmosphere where commonsense rules, let alone some abstract idea of humanity.

Diligent People

But it would be too easy to dismiss the white population on account of its narrowness. On the whole they are diligent people who create most of the country's wealth. Rhodesia, including its Africans, would be in difficulties if immigration stopped. It is true that the predominant role is played by white capital, skill and risk-taking; Rhodesia would be a backward area but for this.

But the disablilities put in the way of any African advancement are heavy and suggest an enormous white insecurity, even by people who have been here for many years.

It is chiefly in education that sanctions are placed on African advancement. This is where the Front policy is most cynical and aggressive, according to critics. This year 628,000 African pupils will be enrolled in primary schools—an increase of about 40 per cent over the last 10 years. But only a tiny percentage gets beyond the middle primary grades. And only a handful will ever get to university. "An education for waiters," was how an African leader summed it up.

Little Mixing

Personal relationships between blacks and whites are almost non-existent. Africans are allowed into two hotels in Rhodesia, both in Salisbury. There is one multi-racial club in the city, largely supported by local newspapermen. Here blacks and whites can mix on equal terms. At a government reception recently there were 1,500 whites and four Africans.

The few liberals who still insist on inviting African friends to their homes find themselves increasingly snubbed by former white acquaintances, and if they earn a reputation for this sort of catholic entertaining the security police are liable to come and look in through the windows.

New Nuclear Club Members?

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON — The once ultra-exclusive "nuclear weapons club"—a non-sociable outfit if ever there was one—has a grim potential for greatly increasing its membership. Concerned atomic observers on both sides of the Atlantic rate at least a dozen additional countries as having technological and other capabilities for eventually building atomic bombs—the only credential for joining the "club." The membership is now limited to the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France and China.

Top American and British government officials close to the atomic picture are wary of pinning down specific new membership timetables. However, unofficial estimates put a figure of two to five years for some of the nations prominently mentioned.

3 to 7 Years

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, is on record as saying the following countries could be in the weapons club within "years" —presumably meaning three to seven years, depending upon the effort expended: Japan, India, West Germany, Sweden, Italy, Canada and Israel.

And he adds that in a slightly longer time, Brazil, Switzerland, Spain, Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic could perhaps get in on the act.

Britain's Minister of Disarmament Lord Chalfont echoes Seaborg's list, though with the exclusion of Spain and Yugoslavia. However, he adds two of his own: Pakistan and Indonesia.

Without naming them, Lord Chalfont has said that at least five of the countries on his list could become nuclear powers in the next few years.

Also without naming names, Alastair Buchan of Great Britain's Institute of Strategic Studies estimates that the member nations of the club could grow from five to 15 in the next 20 years.

On the unofficial, but high-placed, side of the picture in the United States, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, says: "At least a dozen, and perhaps a score, of (additional) nations are now in a position to develop nuclear weapons within three years. Two of these nations—Israel and India—already possess weapons—grade fissionable material, and could fabricate an atomic device within a few months."

What does a nation need to produce nuclear weapons?

It needs sufficiently powerful nuclear power reactors, or very large research reactors, to produce sufficient quantities of plutonium — a bomb ingredient—as a by-product of operating a reactor.

One unofficial estimate is that a country would have to have one 70 megawatt (million watt) reactor going full blast all the time to produce enough plutonium to make about five Hiroshima-type bombs a year.

100 Tons

By this same reckoning, the country would need to have about 100 tons of uranium to fuel the reactor. Some of the potential candidates—such as Japan and Italy — already have at least one reactor exceeding that power range. Others, including India, Israel, West Germany and Sweden have big ones planned or under construction.

A candidate country would also need complex chemical-processing facilities to convert the raw, reactor-produced plutonium into weapons-grade stuff. Moneywise, the AEC's Seaborg has estimated that it would cost any country about $100 million to produce its first weapon. And why might any one of these countries want to get into the club?

John McCloy, a key official in the U.S. War Department during the Second World War, and long a close observer of defence and atomic matters, has this theory:

"Too many countries are simply trying to keep up with the Joneses. They want these weapons not only for defence, but as much for prestige."

Epic Nazi Propaganda Movie Shown Again in West Germany

Frankfurter Rundschau

The German film of the Nazi era is still surrounded with a mystic aura.

One often hears talk of a few typical propaganda films and several superb examples of traditional German cinematic art.

This idea is based on the importance of German cinema in the Twenties, an importance tacitly extended to the Third Reich.

After the war there were hardly any opportunities of making an accurate assessment. So-called unpolitical films were shown in the cinemas, with tendentious passages either touched up or the ideology skillfully covered over.

It is probably about time to face up to the myth of German films, to have a closer look and to analyze them.

The first experiment in this direction has just been undertaken by Atlas Film with Veit Harlan's epic, Kolberg, produced in 1945. Working on an idea by Hanns Eckelkamp, Erwin Leiser and the late Reimond Ruehl have provided this typical propaganda film with a documentary framework making clear the historical background of the years in which Kolberg was filmed and pointing out the very clearly expressed political motivations in the film.

Questionnaires

To test audience reaction and the opinions of the public, test showings of the film were made in Bonn, Duisburg, Cassel and Kiel before unprejudiced audiences. The questionnaires returned by the audiences were then evaluated in the Psychological Institute at the University of Cologne by Professors Undeutsch and Salber.

Kolberg was commissioned by Josef Goebbels. The film was intended to raise fighting moral and the spirit of sacrifice among the German people and repress any ideas of an "unworthy" capitulation. The heroic defence of the castle of Kolberg, against Napoleon and the French Army in 1806 was to be the example.

To increase the moral effect of the hopeless battle for Kolberg, the film falsifies the outcome of the struggle. No mention is made of the fact that the Peace of Tilsit gave victory to the French. Instead, Harlan shows the Napoleonic troops in a last, desperate attack driven to flight by the Kolberg militia, and all because two French leaders have disagreed. Courage and patriotism on the part of each individual can make possible the impossible—this is the moral of the film.

Kolberg was first shown on Jan. 30, 1945—too late to exploit its propaganda effect. It was the most expensive film ever commissioned by the Nazi regime, and one of the most interesting from a historical point of view.

Film History

The burning of Kolberg is comparable in its effect with the burning of Atlanta in Fleming's Gone With the Wind as a piece of film history. The battles between the citizens of Kolberg and French troops, the array of the militia and other mass scenes bear comparison to those produced by Cecil B. De Mille and King Vidor.

Even the rubbish in Kolberg is monumental and done with a feeling for style, and "historical authenticity" consists in the French soldiers' speaking French in the film. What a dangerously compulsive force to use to sweep a nation along under the spell of an ideology!"

What these dangers are is made clear in the documentary framework that has been so carefully built about the film. In Kolberg, the citizen army sings the same songs as did an enthusiastic audience after one of Goebbels' demogogic speeches in the Sportpalast in Berlin in 1945—"Ein Volk stert auf. Ein Sturm bricht los!" ("A people arises. A storm breaks loose!").

Same Words

The defenders of Kolberg are given the same words and gestures as the defenders of Germany in the last days of the war. The documentary part of the film shows this up and points out the effect this was intended to have.

At decisive moments in the film, parallel situations from the Second World War are cut in. The film is shown unabridged and in its present form could contribute a great deal to getting an historical perspective on the times.

And, having had the skilful propaganda techniques pointed out, audiences are now going to be in a position to see the ideological attitude behind many films of the time that have hitherto been described as unpolitical.

Social Science Pushed In New Soviet Atmosphere

By STEPHEN S. ROSENFELD in The Washington Post

MOSCOW — Psychological testing, unknown in Soviet practice, has been urged as a way to separate the wheat from the chaff of industrial managers.

Not just a technological lag and the onus of being Western have held back testing here but a habit of weighting political and bureaucratic factors in filling jobs and the Communist Party's concern to wield the key lever of personnel selection. A familiar figure in Soviet literature is the party member who is a penetrating judge of men.

The proposal to test memory, powers of observation, analytical ability and other traits was forwarded by Shakhnazarov in Literary Gazette.

In the more clinical and pragmatic atmosphere that has spread since Khrushchev fell a year ago, this paper has become perhaps the major journalistic launching pad for advanced thinking in the social sciences.

Shakhnazarov took as his text Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev's call for independent-minded managers to make the new Soviet industrial reforms work. A "technology for personnel selection" is a must, the writer said.

He harked back, as social scientists here often do, to the Soviet Union's period of intellectual adventure in the 1920s, and credited an American engineer named F. Taylor with having proposed a system of manpower management which Lenin himself approved. Wrapping controversial ideas in Lenin's blessing is a standard tactic.

The writer also suggested that personnel specialists, who would be trained in psychology, "give skilled help to party and government organs" in filling jobs.

Age and Personality Against Diefenbaker

By The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

In a pre-election survey of why more than 4 in 10 voters are dissatisfied with John Diefenbaker's leadership, the major cause is a blunt "too old" and "not the right man to be prime minister."

Three years ago, just after Mr. Diefenbaker was elected head of a minority government, no mention was made of his age. At that time "poor financial policies" headed the list of complaints.

Today it is more the personality of the man that comes in for attack—"too egotistical; no good as a leader; don't like him."

French-speaking Canadians criticize Mr. Diefenbaker because of his lack of concern for Quebec and a few find his efforts at the French language cause for complaint.

To those who expressed dissatisfaction with Mr. Diefenbaker as leader of the Opposition, a further question was asked: "Why do you say that?"

The answers:

1. Too old; not right man for prime minister; we need a change	20%
2. Too egotistical; don't like him, and don't like his policies	15
3. Has lost powers of leadership; no good as a leader; was a one-man show	11
4. Has produced no positive policies; not constructive; doesn't keep promises	11
5. Created disunity in party; too erratic	8
6. Not concerned with French Canada; not doing enough for Canadian unity; favors English Canada	8
7. Too offensive; insincere; petty	5
8. Has lost prestige; public against him; acts childish	4
9. Other reasons given	8
10. Can't say why dissatisfied	10

Increasing Abuse of Children Requires Sharper-Toothed Law

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

Every so often we read horrifying reports of children being mistreated and abused by parents or guardians.

Decent citizens shudder at the details. Service clubs talk of the need for stiffer penalties. Women's groups prepare briefs that suggest a closer look at reasons for such abuses.

In the meantime, social workers, doctors, teachers and others who come in contact with what to them appears to be ill-treatment, find their hands tied because present statutes covering this phase of child protection have very blunt teeth.

The British Columbia Protection of Children Act, Chapter 303, Section 7 (revised statutes), lists 15 reasons for apprehension of children in need of protection. It isn't until we come to the very last one that we find the child who "is ill-treated so as to be in peril in respect of life, health or mortality by continued personal injury."

Apprehension of such a child (designated as under the age of 18) is the duty of the superintendent of child welfare, police or probation officers. It is also their duty to bring such cases before a judge.

There is a penalty set out in the Act. It can be a fine not exceeding $100, or imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year, or both.

Further on, however, under "custody of the child," Section 37, Part 2, we find that "no person is liable to be convicted of an offence unless the testimony admitted by virtue of this section and given on behalf of the prosecution is corroborated by some other material evidence implicating the accused."

In other words, while a doctor or a teacher might suspect or even be aware of the truth, they would find it almost impossible to accuse if they had no proof that would hold up in court.

Social workers are in much the same position. They go into the home and they see what instinct tells them is the results of abuse. If there is no tangible evidence and if no one will tell what actually happened, they can do little or nothing.

Neighbors may hear a child screaming. They may later see livid scars. If they do not actually witness the blows, they cannot take their accusations to court.

Child abuse and neglect is not new in our society, or in any society. What is new is the increase and violence in the attacks by parents and guardians.

If these attacks are to be stopped a way must be found to bring more of the abuses into the open.

Because children who have suffered physical abuse at the hands of parents or others responsible for their care and protection are most frequently brought or come to the attention of doctors, they are in a good position to form reasonable, preliminary judgments as to how the injuries occurred.

Doctors, therefore, should be given the duty of reporting such injuries, just as they do in the case of gunshot wounds.

Reasonable judgment on the part of a responsible person that the injuries are not explainable as having happened accidentally, that they were inflicted upon the child and that they were inflicted in the family home, should be enough.

BUT PROBE CONTINUING

Ku Klux Klan Chief Clams Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton pulled a surprise Tuesday on members of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities — and they apparently pulled a surprise on the leader of the Ku Klux Klan.

They produced bank records, income tax returns, and a handwriting expert to try to prove there was some financial hanky-panky going on within the klan, with Shelton's wife using a klan account under a disguised name.

Then Chairman Edwin E. Willis, Louisiana Democrat, gave Shelton and his wife a chance to think things over before facing more questions today.

Shelton's lieutenants watched stonily as their leader took shelter under the U.S. constitution 73 times in refusing to answer questions about the klan or its money. He cited various constitutional amendments guaranteeing individual rights.

The klansmen may not have been surprised, but the committee was.

PROMISED CO-OPERATION

A source said Shelton and his lawyer walked into the committee offices on the eve of the hearing opening and promised to co-operate, "to tell about the klan and what he hopes to do with it."

If so, Shelton obviously changed his mind.

There was surprise on the face of the investigators when, almost at the first crack of the bat, Shelton refused to identify Georgia klan incorporation papers under his name. He also refused, despite a warning from Willis that he was on "thin ice," to turn over subpoenaed records.

In refusing, he started a day-long ritual of invoking the protection not only of the fifth amendment, but the first, fourth and 14th amendments.

The fifth amendment guarantees protection against self-incrimination; the first guarantees freedom of speech, the fourth guarantees persons the right against search without warrants and the 14th guarantees due process and equal protection of the law.

HAS POKER FACE

The sharp - faced 36-year-old Shelton, a diamond ring glittering on his left hand, generally was expressionless as the questions came, often in the southern drawls of Willis, Representative Joe R. Pool (Dem. Tex.) and Representative Charles L. Wiler (Dem. Ga.).

Shelton refused to tell anything about financial records, to admit he was the imperial wizard or to answer Pool's question, "Are you ashamed to be a member of the klan?"

During the morning Shelton listened to committee investigators tell about locating 381 klan klaverns, of local klan clubs, in a search constantly hampered by many southerners' fear of the klan.

"These people fear harassment, threatening letters, telephone calls, cross burnings on their property, beatings, bombings, and, yes, even death," said Chief Investigator Donald T. Appell.

But most of the Tuesday afternoon session sounded more like an income tax trial than a probe of the klan. The committee aimed most of its questions at the handling of the bank account of the Alabama Rescue Service.

CALLS IT 'FRONT'

The service in Shelton's home base of Tuscaloose, Ala., was called by Willis a "plain front" for Shelton's klan.

When Shelton wouldn't answer questions about bank account signatures, the committee called Mrs. Carol Long, ostensibly a Shelton employee in Tuscaloosa, and finally, Mrs. Shelton.

The committee got no more out of Mrs. Long, a plumpish woman, or Mrs. Shelton than it did from Shelton. Mrs. Shelton even hesitated before acknowledging that she was his wife.

Then, the committee rolled out its secret weapon — handwriting expert Philip Schmitz.

Schmitz used projected slides to allege that Mrs. Long's and Mrs. Shelton's signatures—from income tax returns and the like—were the same as those on bank records under names of others supposed to be klan officials.

Union Fears Violence

(See Page 13)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fred Geddes, B.C. president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union, said Tuesday night the strike against British American Oil Co. is fast approaching the violent stage.

Mr. Geddes, addressing the Vancouver and District Labor Council, charged that RCMP had used "storm trooper tactics" Tuesday when they pushed pickets out of the way of company trucks at the BA marketing plant in suburban Burnaby.

Negro Pupils On Rampage

WASHINGTON, Ga. (UPI) — More than 300 young Negro students went on a rampage through three Negro school buildings today, screaming "freedom" slogans, hurling bottles and storming through classrooms.

The students barged into a junior high school, pushing the doors of the building open and knocking aside a group of teachers who tried to keep them out.

They invaded the school cafeteria, turned over chairs and began heaving soft drink bottles at Negro cafeteria workers and attempted to break open a large refrigerator.

. . . DIEF

That is the distinction in the course that is to follow."

Diefenbaker said he had "looked into the face of Canada," and appealed to each individual conscience to contemplate the activities of men such as dope smuggler Lucien Rivard, the name behind the Dorion inquiry.

"Would you approve of this going on in your own city, your own localities?" he asked.

"Would you make that cruel and ruthless person—who could destroy the souls of your sons and daughters—the subject of your solicitude?"

Diefenbaker said this solicitude was extended by Prime Minister Pearson's former parliamentary assistant Guy Rouleau. Rouleau was fired by Pearson, later resigned his seat and is not running in this election.

Other executive assistants in the departments of justice and citizenship and immigration who were involved in efforts to get Rivard out on bail are no longer in the government service.

One, Raymond Denis, is now facing court charges resulting from the Dorion inquiry.

The Conservative leader told his audience that Pearson's "punishment" of cabinet ministers took the form of a code of ethics which said "I want you to be good and if you can't be good be careful."

This brought its customary laugh from the audience.

Apart from the scandal theme, Diefenbaker followed the Liberal pitch for majority government.

Time and again he told his listeners that the Tories needed only to elect their 94 members of the last parliament plus 40 more across the country to achieve a working majority.

"I believe in majorities too," he said. "And after the mess the prime minister made with his minority, the Lord help Canada if he's ever been given a majority."

Diefenbaker said there was a realization now that hopes that the Tories were divided have been dissipated.

LBJ A-OKAY, DOCTORS SAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson got word from his doctors today that he can leave hospital any time "after tonight."

The doctors gave the word after examining the president late Tuesday night and early today.

The president's electrocardiogram was "perfect" and his blood pressure better than any of the doctors in the group—even the youngest, a presidential aide said.

Johnson underwent a gall-bladder operation and removal of a kidney stone Oct. 8.

GROOS TELLS UVIC GRITS:

Commons Does Stupid Things

Canadian voters have it in their power to halt incessant political in-fighting in Parliament by electing a majority government, the University of Victoria Liberal Club was told Tuesday.

David Groos, Limeral candidate seeking re-election in Victoria, said the Nov. 8 vote was called to end the unsatisfactory situation resulting from minority government.

"There is an insecurity in running a country under those circumstances," he said.

However, he added that he thought it "remarkable they've been able to carry it this long.

"Members tend to take a political rather than a national attitude," he said, "and as a result, the House does stupid things."

Mr. Groos quoted as an example the recent 17-day discussion on the interim budget for 30 days of money supply. The talks, he said, should have taken no longer than 15-20 minutes.

CLOSE THE GAP

The Liberal candidate went on to say that Liberal policy was to try to close the gap between rich and poor and equalize the distribution of economy.

As for old-age security, Mr. Groose said that the Liberals raised the issue as part of the Canada Pension Plan.

He recalled the last Parliament had raised pensions from $65 to $75 for persons over 70 years of age and introduced a year-by-year reduction of the qualifying age to 65.

"The growth of the country," he said, "will take care of increased taxes necessary for this."

Asked if Pearson planned to send troops to Viet Nam if re-elected, Mr. Groos replied that he didn't believe Canada had been asked to lend assistance.

If the U.S. appeals to Canada for support, he said, he felt that the government would have to "bear in mind our own interests as far as the Commonwealth is concerned.

NOT ELECTION ISSUE?

"I don't think you can expect the U.S. to withdraw from Viet Nam," he said.

"And I don't believe the Viet Nam situation should be made an election issue.

"Canada's status as a mediator is pretty high internationally."

Mr. Groos said he thought Canada should get out of the nuclear arms stage but added that "we have an obligation of honor to NATO and we must live up to it until there are signs to get rid of these arms."

During the question period which followed his speech, Mr. Groos was asked what he considered his first duty as an MP.

"You must balance your duty to the country and to the constituency," he replied.

"My views changed on the flag issue. I voted more as a Canadian than as a Victorian there," he said.

"It is hard to get a real feeling of what your constituency wants."

The press, he said, "did not give a true public opinion" of the matter.

"I voted accordingly."

Gordon Head Backs Saanich Pool Plans

Support has been pledged to Saanich's capital projects budget even before full details have been disclosed.

A resolution passed at the annual meeting Monday night of the Gordon Head Community Association pledged support for the entire budget because swimming pools are part of it.

Two outdoor heated swimming pools costing $150,000 each are part of the budget. Full details are expected to be released shortly.

One of the pools will be in the Kenmore-Tyndall part of Gordon Head on land recently acquired by Saanich. The community association plans to erect a new hall beside it.

The capital projects budget will go before property owners at he December municipal election.

Approval will be sought for the borrowing of several million dollars, principally for use in buying land for recreational and road use.

Defence Claims 'No Proof'

Two defence lawyers argued Monday that evidence submitted by police did not prove that Rebecca and Robert Bowden, 1216 Oxford Street, were recording bets.

The evidence was seized by police in a raid on the Bowden home Sept. 11. It consisted mostly of some numbers found on a sheet of paper in the kitchen.

Gordon Vosburgh, counsel for Mrs. Bowden, said the police made no effort to identify either of the two accused with the writing on the paper.

He said that witnesses who said the writing indicated bets were recorded had agreed under cross-examination that this was only a subjective interpretation they had placed on the writing.

Mr. Vosburgh said the writing showed no continuity of legible characters that would, taken together, indicate a bet had been recorded.

PHONE NUMBER

Hugh McMillan, counsel for Mr. Bowden, said he could make his own telephone number—3851031—into "something sinister," using the interpretation placed by police on the writing on the pad.

He said if his telephone number were written down ". . . and say the last two numbers were illegible, that would mean the third race in California, horse five and a $10 bet."

"It would be even more incriminating if I wrote my name after it. Then we would have Hugh McMillan betting so much on a horse in California.

"So there is something that can be taken" out of the police analysis "and also a perfectly innocent explanation," he said.

Mr. McMillan said police failed to produce any evidence of persons placing a bet.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded the case until Friday for judgment.

Man, Woman Shot

FREDERICTON (CP) — The RCMP here said today bodies of a Fredericton man and woman, both dead of gunshot wounds, have been found in the Oromocto area, 11 miles from Fredericton. Police said the double fatality Tuesday night apparently resulted from one shot.

IN MIDDLE OF SEASON

Fishermen Take 'Holiday'

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. herring fishermen are taking a two-week vacation in the middle of the fishing season while their union attempts to negotiate a new contract.

The holiday was declared by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) after the former herring-price agreement expired last Friday.

Union general organizer Wally Paulik said Monday the men will return to work Nov. 1 if agreement is reached before then on union demands for vacation pay for the two-week work stoppage.

A two-week vacation in October, with pay at the rate of four per cent of the previous year's earnings, was one of the union's demands in negotiations for a new contract.

Other demands were a $6 per ton price increase for fishermen, from $14.48 to $20.48, and fringe benefits which Fisheries Association of B.C. estimates would cost another $2 per ton.

The association has agreed to negotiate a price increase, but has refused union demands for a pension plan and an additional holiday with pay, saying fishermen can buy these benefits with their extra earnings.

Association secretary Ken Campbell said no negotiating meetings are scheduled as yet, but said they likely will be held toward the end of the two-week holiday.

"This is a different twist to this thing," Campbell said.

"Usually when the contract expires before we reach agreement on a new one the union agrees to continue fishing or calls a strike. This year they just declared a holiday."

The herring season began May 1 and continues to March 10, 1966.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Copper Issues Hold Interest at Toronto

The Toronto market reflected the Rhodesian crisis today with a continuing rise in copper futures and a market advance among senior metals.

Falconbridge gained 1½ to 108½, International Nickel 1¼ to 98¼, Hudson Bay ¾ to 75 and Noranda ⅝ to 51. Denison was ahead ⅜ to 40⅜ after setting a high for the year of 41¼.

The industrial list gained over-all, although several major sections eased.

Avco Corp., maker of aircraft parts, rose 1 to 26, Oshawa A ¾ to 24½ and Aluminium ¼ to 31½ following the announcement of a dividend increase.

The New York market displayed a scrambled pattern in active trading.

AT TORONTO papers and steels remained soft, B.C. Forest down ⅜ to 23⅝ and Algoma ¼ to 65. Pipelines and oils also dipped, BA Oil off ¾ to 29.

Pine Point, a senior lead and zinc producer, was off 1 to 82 after easing to 79⅝ on profit taking.

Superior Oil advanved ½ to 19⅞ in senior western oils and Hollinger ¼ to 27⅛ in golds. Banff fell 45 cents to $7.25 in junior western oils.

AT NEW YORK Polaroid was down 2. General Motors, U.S. Steel, Woolworth, Consolidated Edison, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical were fractional losers.

Ahead around two were U.S. Smelting, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, American Sugar, South Puerto Rico Sugar and Gardner-Denver.

AT MONTREAL utilities and papers were off in a generally steady market today. Industrials advanced with Dominion Textile adding ¾ to 33¼. Utilities were off. Bell Telephone dropped ¼ to 57⅝ and Trans-Canada Pipe Line ⅛ to 35¼.

AT LONDON the market was quiet and irregular today but the over-all tone, however, was satisfactory.

Gilt edged were a firm feature especially in the short-dated section.

Dollar stocks were mixed and among leading Canadians to find favor were Abitibi, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, Imperial Oil, Noranda and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines. International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson and Brazil Traction were dull and Canadian Pacific eased in rails.

AT VANCOUVER, one mining stock touched a 1965 high and two hit 1965 lows shortly before noon today.

Orecan gained .02 to .72 while Bralorne went off .10 to $4.70 and London Pride lost .01 to .14.

In the industrials, Westcoast rose .50 to a 1965 high of $22.62 and Weldwood sank to a low of $10.75, down .25.

New Bid To Sell Uranium

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — More possible European buyers for Canadian uranium have been engaged in preliminary talks with Denison Mines of Toronto.

Stephen Roman, president of Denison Mines, confirmed today that his company had been holding initial talks with other European countries.

Mr. Roman declined to disclose what other countries were involved.

STILL BLOCKED

Meanwhile, the negotiations between France and Canada over a 25-year supply contract for 50,000 tons of uranium oxide at a cost of about $750,000,000 remain blocked over the political question of control. Prime Minister Pearson last month said he was confident that the discussions with France would be resumed.

Revelation that Denison Mines was talking with other European countries was made in Paris by M. Jean Bodson, vice-president of Denison. He announced the company's decision to set up a permanent European office in Paris.

The report from Paris said that Denison Mines was exploring the possibility of participating in the establishment of a uranium enrichment plant, in which the other partners would be European energy producers whose nuclear programs depended on enriched, rather than natural uranium. At present the U.S. is the main source for enriched uranium.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada would give consideration to the sale of nuclear reactors for peaceful purposes to Communist countries in eastern Europe, according to officials of the federal trade department.

Uses Grow For B.C. Asbestos

CASSIAR (CP) — There are 3,000 uses for asbestos mined from a mountainside pit near this northern B.C. community by Cassiar Asbestos Corp. Ltd.

The fibrous mineral is best known for its insulating ability and the fact it can be spun like yarn into cloth. Now it is gaining added value as a reinforcing agent in concrete pipe.

Canada is the leading supplier of asbestos in the free world, last year producing more than 1,200,000 tons. More than five per cent of the output came from the Cassiar mine.

The high grade of asbestos mined here brings prices of from $120 a long ton for short-fibre mineral about one eighth of an inch in length to $780 for fibres of three quarters of an inch.

Most Canadian asbestos is destined for the export market and the chief buyers of Cassiar production are the United States, England, Australia, Japan and India.

Cassiar Asbestos employs about 400 men and has an annual payroll of $3,000,000. It earned a net profit of $3,020,000 on 1964 sales of $14,400,000, up more than $500,000 from 1963.

The company has invested $24,700,000 in facilities here and the estimated life of the mine is 30 years.

'No Draining Of Water Sans Plugs'

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canada may use her excess water to bargain her way into United States markets, John Turner, parliamentary secretary to Resources Minister Laing, said Tuesday.

"If water is to be considered on a continental basis, then markets for Canadian products must also be considered on the same basis and Canada may in return expect access to United States markets," he said.

But before Canada considers any sale or export of water, "we'll have to take a complete inventory of what water we have and make a projection of Canadian needs for the foreseeable future.

"We will never allow diversion of our water without adequate control. There'll be no drains of our water without plugs," Mr. Turner said in the opening address to a conference on water uses sponsored by the technical section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Canada, as far as water supply is concerned, "is one of the richest, most fortunate nations on earth."

"As demand approaches supply, there are only two alternatives open to us. New sources of water or a more effective use and reuse of the water we already have.

"Both alternatives are still open to Canada. We are looking carefully at possible diversions south from rivers which flow unused northward to the Arctic."

WILL PRODUCE PLANE PARTS

TORONTO (CP)—An agreement announced today to rearrange production of Douglas DC-9 commercial airliner parts at the de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd., plant at nearby Malton, could create 1,100 new jobs.

De Havilland has agreed to lease to Douglas Aircraft Co. of Canada Ltd. the portion of its plant producing wings and tail pieces for the DC-9. Douglas said it would employ 2,400 de Havilland workers.

Study Set Up By B.C. Labor

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Labor Council has voted to launch a study of what it calls the misuse of injunctions in labor disputes.

Council secretary Paddy Neale said he had spoken to judges who agree the use of injunctions in B.C. is becoming a farce.

He told the council that management is using injunctions to circumvent the Trade Unions Act, and said more have been issued in B.C. in the last two years than in the rest of Canada.

He said the labor movement must make every effort to see the elimination or reduction of ex-parte injunctions.

An ex-parte injunction is granted when only one side is represented in court.

"When these injunctions are issued, they are granted so quickly that trade unions involved can find themselves very quickly in contempt," he said.

The council proposes to contribute $1,000 towards the study which would lead to a brief to be presented to the B.C. attorney-general, the B.C. bar association, and directly to the B.C. supreme court if possible.

PRICES GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds were mixed and other commodities steady in moderate trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Export interest was small.

October flax fluctuated widely but was mostly lower, reflecting fair hedging sales. Other contracts were steadier and slightly lower, reflecting U.S. competition in Europe.

Rapeseed was moderately higher.

—Oats and barley were steady in light routine trade. Rye was firm but slightly lower.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP)—A rather dull session brought little change in the prices of grain futures on the board of trade today.

There was an early round of commercial buying of soybeans which fixed high marks for the day in that commodity, but prices subsided later and distant deliveries lost some ground.

Wheat edged up again on some export buying, and corn marked time as new crop delivery volume held moderate.

DR. KEENLEYSIDE

China Offers Great Market

VANCOUVER (CP)—China represents a potential market for "a great variety" of Canadian manufactured goods, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside said Tuesday after his return from an Asian visit.

He said China needs farm machinery and tools to built up its own industry.

The co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, a former diplomat and for nine years a top United Nations official, is one of Canada's most travelled persons. He has just spent more than two weeks visiting Peking, Shanghai, Canton, Hangchow and Soochow, and talked to China's top trade promoters.

He said wheat sales to China are likely to continue, but are not at all certain to be permanent. He agreed with Chinese who told him Canada should buy more products from the Communist country.

Dr. Keenleyside said China feels Canada is being unfair in its restrictions on purchases of Chinese goods, particularly its application of "fair-cost" measures to prevent dumping of products abroad at prices lower than those charged domestically for the same goods.

The Chinese claimed in talks with him their costs are the same for local consumption as for export.

Their most likely exports to Canada would be textiles, such raw materials at tungsten, and such art products as embroideries.

Dr. Keenleyside said he doubts whether China will ever sell enough goods to Canada to balance trade with this country.

Many Other Nations Interested

He said he could not claim even to have been a quasi-official visitor, but several federal government departments and the provincial government gave him their blessing to talk trade. He was told China is "very likely" to take part in the Vancouver international trade fair here in 1967.

While his talks were in progress in Peking, at least 80 other nations had trade representatives there, including such non-Communist countries as Great Britain, France, West Germany and Turkey.

He found the Chinese disappointed that China and Canada do not exchange diplomatic representatives, and drew the impression that China believes this shows Canada to be in a satellite relationship with the United States.

Dr. Keenleyside, visiting China for the first time since before the Second World War, said China's poverty "strikes you like a blow when you come back to it again."

"Compared with conditions in pre-war China the situation is somewhat more hopeful," said Dr. Keenleyside. "Crying need is not so obvious.

"You are not assaulted by beggars when you get off a train. There is no display of physical deformities as an excuse for giving them alms. You don't find the obvious conditions of degradation of the old days, with people dying on the streets."

RITHET ESTATE PROJECT

Location of Roads Being Roughed Out

A start has been made on what could be the biggest housing development on southern Vancouver Island.

Roughing out of road locations on the old Rithet Estate is being carried on by a syndicate that recently bought the 713-acre property.

The land on both sides of Royal Oak Avenue east of Patricia Bay Highway was bought for an undisclosed amount from Rithet Consolidated by a group headed by Gordon Ralston of Victoria.

An Uplands-style development is planned that will eventually house 6,000 persons and cost more than $50 million over the next 15 years.

It is the culmination of five years of planning.

The development surrounds, but does not include, the Rithet swamp, a natural wonderland of plant life.

Mr. Ralston said about 50 acres have been "proved out" for road locations. This involves taking out bramble and stubble, retaining existing bushes and trees.

"One of the problems is to develop and leave it as a residential green area like Uplands," he said.

The land is zoned for lots of 8,400 square feet but he said the lots will average closer to 12,000 square feet.

The next step is to submit plans to Saanich indicating where the builders want to place roads.

A tentative plan for the whole area and a detailed plan for the 50 acres where preliminary work is being done will be submitted to Saanich shortly.

After these details have been worked out and approved by Saanich, "then we will be able to announce plans for the full area."

Asked when the first houses will be built, Mr. Ralston said it should be in the spring.

'Lumber Industry Bilked'

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Lumbermen's Association Tuesday said that fraudulent bankruptcies linked with the underworld have cost the lumber industry in Quebec $46,000,000 in the last three years.

The association, meeting here, commented on the situation after studying a special CLA committee report which expressed a strong conviction that "this sordid situation" has links with political campaign payments, narcotics peddling and arson swindles.

The investigating team, which studied the problem for seven months, was headed by J. Raymond LeBlanc of Montreal, a lumber dealer who claimed his own firm was bilked in the process.

His committee's report called for a royal commission to probe the fraudulent bankruptcy racket. Mr. LeBlanc said members of the association had "become the prey of organized gangs which could not operate without the help of people in position to confuse, conceal or neutralize evidence from the files, or twist the mechanics of the law."

NO REPLY RECEIVED

The committee chairman recalled that in 1958 the CLA urged Davie Fulton, justice minister in the Conservative government, to hold a royal commission, "but nothing was done." Last year the lumbermen made a similar request to Prime Minister Pearson and "we have not yet received a reply."

On the question of whether fraudulent bankruptcies were the responsibility of the federal or provincial government, a spokesman said the association is "sick and tired of having the ball passed from one to another and nothing being done."

Record Sales By Seagrams

MONTREAL (CP) — Sales of Distillers Corp.-Seagrams Ltd. reached a record figure, exceeding $1,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30, president Samuel Bronfman announced Tuesday.

Sales totalled $1,005,119,185 compared with $897,082,974 a year earlier.

Consolidated net profit was $41,058,784 or $2.34 a share, compared with $37,782,000 or $2.15 a share for the previous year. Dividend payments totalled $17,100,232, compared with $15,784,830 in 1965.

Longshoremen Press Strike

BRISTOL (CP)—A three-week strike has tied up 50 ships in the port of Bristol, England's sixth largest, and 1,500 longshoremen are off the job.

The strike is costing Britain £250,000 ($750,000) a week.

The strike began Sept. 28 when longshoremen refused to accept an interim rate negotiated by their union for unloading timber cargo.

Union officials say the strike has become a showdown between the union membership and union executive.

Affects of the strike are spreading as other shipping companies have threatened to cut Bristol off their future shipping schedules.

On Oct. 8, 10,000,000 bananas worth $360,000 were dumped into the sea when they rotted aboard a strike-bound ship.

More Gas Imports Ruled By Examiner

WASHINGTON (AP)—A power commission examiner has ruled that Montana Power Co., Butte, should be allowed to increase its natural gas imports from Canada from an average daily rate of 30,000,000 cubic feet to 50,000,000.

The decision of examiner Ewing G. Simpson will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 40 days.

CPR OFFICIAL TELLS HEARING

Passengers Unprofitable

OTTAWA (CP) — Even without the need for more diesel locomotives to move the massive Russian wheat purchase the CPR would still discontinue the cross-Canada Dominion passenger train, a railway official said Tuesday.

J. N. Fraine of Montreal, CPR vice-president for rail operations, told a hearing of the Board of Transport Commissioners the railway still needs 18 diesels for the wheat movement and discontinuance of the Dominion would free 10.

"But we would still discontinue the Dominion even if the required diesels could be obtained elsewhere."

He was replying to questions by Maurice Wright of Ottawa, counsel for the Canadian Railway Labor Executives Association.

THREE-DAY HEARING

The board began a three-day hearing Tuesday into the CPR's announced plan to drop the Dominion. The CPR announced in mid-summer the train would be discontinued Sept. 7 but complaints to the board caused it to order the train continued until hearings were completed.

Hearings have already been held at Winnipeg, Vancouver, Calgary and Regina and move to Port Arthur next week.

The CPR has argued for abandonment on grounds of financial loss in Dominion operations and its need for extra locomotives for grain movement this winter.

Mr. Fraine said 32 diesels were needed initially "and this need has been our problem ever since the Russian wheat sale was announced." He said six diesels were being acquired "tonight and four more next week" and four had been obtained earlier.

Mr. Wright suggested the CPR had not tried very hard to acquire locomotives and read Mr. Fraine several advertisements in a trade publication offering diesels for sale. Mr. Fraine said he had not seen the ads.

Then came this exchange:

Wright: "Suppose part of your operation doesn't show a profit, are you justified in doing away with it?"

Fraine: "Yes, I think we are. Most businesses follow a policy of getting rid of the dead wood."

DENIES SUGGESTION

Wright: "Isn't it the avowed intent of Canadian Pacific to get out of the passenger business and dump it all on the Canadian National—and the Canadian people?"

Fraine: "That isn't my understanding."

Wright: "Are you convinced that Canadian railway passenger service holds no hope for the future?"

Fraine: "It certainly seems that way at the moment."

Leslie R. Smith of Toronto, CPR eastern region vice-president, told the board that although some 100 employees would be affeced by discontinuance of the Dominion "none will lose their employment, although some will have to change jobs."

SHOWS PROFIT

Earlier J. G. Alley, counsel for the British Columbia government, told the hearing the CPR "has not seemed to consider" raising fares on the Dominion, particularly for the busy summer tourist season.

A brief prepared by his government purported to show that the CPR actually showed a profit on the Dominion from June 15-Sept. 15, 1964. He suggested the CPR should investigate to see whether higher fares would make the train a paying proposition.

Oil Pickets In Brush With Police

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 30 pickets, angered that a 13,173-ton tanker landed at a struck British American Oil Co. operation, brushed with police Tuesday.

RCMP officers were assailed with shouts of "scab herders," "Yankee lovers" and "finks" as they shoved and pushed pickets out of the path of two trucks at BA's marketing plant in neighboring Burnaby.

Only shortly before the Liberian tanker BA Canada, normally based at Montreal, docked at the plant with 5,000,000 gallons of refined products such as gasoline.

Pickets said the tanker contained enough to keep BA service stations in B.C. supplied for two months.

Resort Group Hints Of Public Offering

VANCOUVER (CP)—A director of Grouse Mountain Resorts Ltd. said the company will probably make a public offering of common stock or debentures within two months.

George Sherwood of Vancouver said current development on the mountain is privately financed, but additional work contemplated could involve another $500,000 to be raised publicly.

A $1,300,000 ski chalet and aerial tramway is under construction on the mountain, facing Vancouver across Burrard Inlet.

Armoury Profit Near Completion

A $136,000 engineering project at Bay Street Armoury is nearing completion after three months of work involving a 14-foot pit at the militia's doorstep.

The contract let by Defence Construction (1951) Ltd. is for installation of an automatic oil-fired, heating and ventilation system. It replaces a coal-fired unit, parts of which were 50 years old.

An 18-foot-long oil tank with 3,000-gallon capacity was sunk in an excavation underneath the front driveway.

This will feed two new smokeless, fully-automatic boilers each with a rating of 150,000 BTUs.

These will heat hot water for circulation throughout the Armoury to radiators, two new forced-air circulating heaters for the drill floor, and to a fresh water heating system for the basement swimming pool.

SELF-REGULATING

The electrical control system makes the installation self-regulating, requiring no supervision as with the former steam boiler system.

All heating system plumbing and radiators are being renewed as part of the contract.

Work is being done by the Burnaby firm of Vector Installation Services Ltd., who are expected to be finished by the end of November.

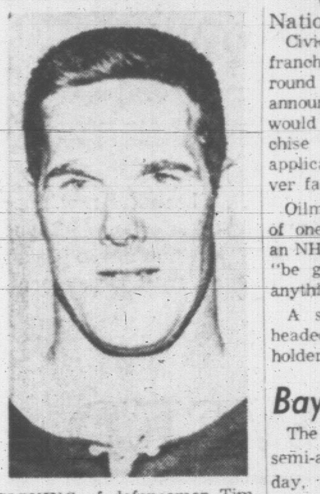
READY TO BLOW UP GALE

Defending Canadian champion Victoria Chinooks are getting ready to kick up new storm in Inter-City Junior Basketball League. Ready for season's opener are Barney Spaven, rookie Brian Bromwell and Ron Bowker. Chinooks, who play Vancouver YMCA in Central Junior High gym Saturday night, have six holdovers from last year's all-winning team.

'Vancouver 'Delighted' NHL Has Embraced It



SIGNING of defencemen Tim Horton, above, left Toronto Maple Leafs with three dissatisfied players: defenceman Bob Baun and centres Bob Pulford and Dave Keon.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver is delighted the National Hockey League has decided to open shop here.

Civic leaders and potential franchise owners gave a verbal round of applause to Tuesday's announcement that Vancouver would be granted an NHL franchise as soon as "a combined application by the two Vancouver factions" is submitted.

Oilman Frank McMahon, head of one city group that bid for an NHL franchise, said he would "be glad to move back or do anything else that's necessary."

A spokesman for a group headed by Fred Hume, present holder of the Western Hockey League franchise here, and B.C. Telephone Co. president Cyrus McLean, said the Hume-McLean group is delighted but would not comment on the merger condition.

Capt. Harry Terry, president of the Pacific National Exhibition, said Vancouver's 16,000-seat arena should be completed by May, 1967, "in plenty of time for the NHL's 1967-68 season."

He said the news is wonderful and the culmination of "everything we've been working so hard to get."

Bay Area Has Two Possible Rinks

The board of governors, at its semi-annual meeting here Tuesday, approved Vancouver and San Francisco-Oakland as communities meeting prescribed standards of the league.

Earlier this year Los Angeles and St. Louis were found satisfactory.

The selection of San Francisco-Oakland is contingent on the completion of the new Oakland Alameda arena to be completed early in 1967 with a seating capacity of 13,000 plus.

An alternate home for the U.S. west coast entry could be a modernized Cow Palace—the current home of the San Francisco Seals of the Western League.

Completion of a proposed new arena in the Pacific National Exhibition grounds at Vancouver is the league's stipulation to that city.

Baltimore, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh remain in contention for the final two positions, although Philadelphia will require a new rink and the other three need extensive modifications to existing arena facilities.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, said following Tuesday's announcement that he did not think any further applications will be received to establish further league franchises.

New Entries Need $2 Million Each

However a report carried in a Buffalo newspaper Tuesday night indicated a group of businessmen from that city intend to apply.

Campbell said that the two west coast cities selected Tuesday both have applications in from two separate groups. He said the league hopes that in both cases the applications will work together for the establishment of a single franchise.

He said that in the event the groups concerned can not reach agreement, the league will then be forced to choose one or the other in each city.

The San Francisco bidders are the Seals and a group headed by Barry Van Gerbig.

Campbell said the situation will be discussed further at a February meeting of the board of governors. He said it is hoped by that time the dual factions in each city will have reached agreement.

The NHL president confirmed that each bidder for a franchise had put up $10,000 in "good faith money" on a non-returnable basis.

In addition, a sum of $2,000,000 to cover the cost of purchase of 20 players is required from each applicant.

To provide the players needed for such an expansion program, 20 professional players will be drafted from the six existing NHL clubs, Toronto, Montreal, Chicago, Detroit, New York and Boston.

Knudson, Pals Win Best-Ball

LAS VEGAS (CP-AP)—George Knudson of Toronto and his amateur partners won the best-ball segment of the Sahara Invitational golf tournament Tuesday as a prelude to the 72-hole main event starting today.

Knudson, 28-year-old Winnipeg native, and his partners had a 36-hole score of 114. The amateurs were Robert Irvin, John Ridilla and Robert McFann.

Veteran pro Gardner Dickinson shot rounds of 68-68—136 to win the pro-am phase of the $111,111 tournament.

Brumel Offers Optimistic Note

MOSCOW (AP) — Valery Brumel, whose knee was broken in two places in a motorcycle accident Oct. 6, reports "I'll be jumping again, for sure."

Brumel, 23, world high jump record-holder and Olympic champion, will have to undergo a long recovery. His doctor has forbidden him to approach the jumping bar for at least a year.

PGA's TOURNEY BOSS TAKING CANADIAN POST

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — James Gaquin, tournament director of the Professional Golfers' Association, has resigned his post and will accept a similar position with the Canadian PGA, The Associated Press learned from reliable sources Wednesday.

The resignation, it was reported, will not be acted upon until the PGA executive committee meets in Palm Springs, Fla., Nov. 8.

Extremely popular with the nation's golf writers and sponsors, Gaquin, so it is said, has encountered continued problems from individual golfers and their private television commitments in mapping out the annual tour.

HULL, TOO!

Brewer to Play With All-Stars

MONTREAL (CP)—A Tuesday ruling by the governors of the National Hockey League, at their semi-annual meeting here, rapidly cleared the way for the appearance of several of hockey's super-stars in the 19th annual all-star game tonight against Montreal Canadiens.

Tonight's game will be telecast on the CTV network (Channel 8), starting at 5:30.

The league heads ruled that any player selected to play in the contest may take part, whether or not he has come to contract terms for the new season with his employers.

This decision returned Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' left wing star, teammate Stan Mikita and Bob Baun, Toronto Maple Leafs' defenceman, to the eligible ranks. All three have yet to come to terms with their respective clubs.

Hull said Tuesday that he did not anticipate any further difficulty over his new contract and that it was just a matter of final details to be ironed out with James Norris, Chicago owner.

Tommy Ivan, Hawks' general manager, said late Tuesday night that the club expects to have Hull in the fold "momentarily." He denied that the blond bomber had signed for a reported $40,000-$50,000.

HE'S DOUBTFUL

While Mikita gained eligibility to play, he remained a doubtful starter as he continues to nurse a groin injury picked up in an exhibition game against Montreal Canadiens Saturday night.

An NHL spokesman said it is doubtful that Baun will appear, as he failed to show for the all-star dinner on the eve of the game. If he does not arrive today he will be replaced by veteran Marcel Pronovost from the same club.

Carl Brewer, Baun's defence mate with the Leafs, will make his final appearance as a player in the NHL at the all-star game. He announced his retirement Monday but said Tuesday he had agreed to a request by Leafs President Stafford Smythe that he play.

Reay earned the right to coach the all-stars by guiding his Chicago club to the Stanley Cup finals against Montreal last spring. Canadiens won the cup series in seven games.

Toe Blake, seeking his third victory in the classic in six starts, will field almost the identical team that won him his sixth Stanley Cup. Blake has a 2-2-1 record in all-star contests going into tonight's game.

Indians Acquire Ex-Reds' Coach

Victoria Maple Leafs of the Western Hockey League have torn up their holdout list.

Defenceman Aut Erickson, the last player to agree to contract terms, was signed just before noon today. All other players had been signed before the season opened last Friday.

Erickson will play his first game Saturday night when the Leafs meet Portland Buckaroos at Memorial Arena.

OTTAWA PLAYERS . . . . . . NO THREAT ON JET

Boisterous? Kapp May Agree

OTTAWA (CP)—The transport department said Tuesday it has been assured there was no threat to flight safety in an Oct. 5 incident aboard an Air Canada DC-8 jet involving some members of the Ottawa Rough Rider Football club.

Mervyn Fleming, chief of flight regulations and standards, said the department has received a written report from the captain of the aircraft and now considers its investigation closed.

He said no physical violence was involved but passengers on the Toronto-bound night flight from Winnipeg had been "very annoyed" by loud talk, a continual ringing of service bells and a "general kicking up of heels by some boisterous players."

Previous reports said there had been some drinking by the players on a charter flight between Regina and Winnipeg before they boarded the regular jet. There was no mention of any drinking aboard the jet in any of the reports received by the department.

Mr. Fleming said the captain was angered by the refusal of some players to stop disturbing other passengers.

Beat Roughies Or Else for Lions

Ottawa Puts Pressure On B.C. With 35-14 Win

OTTAWA (CP) — Quarterback Russ Jackson abandoned his usual roll-out style to stay in the pocket and pass Ottawa Rough Riders to a 35-14 Canadian Football League interlocking victory over British Columbia Lions Tuesday night before 18,537 fans.

Jackson started the game with roll-out patterns, but was met by a good rush and failed to complete his first six passes. He started to drop straight back in the dying minutes of the first half and promptly completed two passes, one to Ronnie Stewart for 21 yards and a touchdown.

He stayed in the pocket in the third quarter to hit end Ted Watkins with a 55-yard touchdown strike and set up a three-yard scoring plunge by halfback Rick Black with a 40-yard toss to fullback Jim Dillard.

He capped his passing drive with another touchdown in the second play of the last period, hitting flanker Whit Tucker with a 10-yard toss.

The Riders' other touchdown, the first of the game, also came on a pass, but from B.C. quarterback Joe Kapp. Halfback Don Gilbert ran 78 yards for a touchdown on the first of three Ottawa interceptions.

Joe Kapp Could Have Used Help

Kapp had a rough night in other departments. Although he managed to complete 10 of 21 passes before giving way to Steve Shafer in the fourth quarter, several of his throws were dropped by teammates.

Kapp also was subjected to a sustained rush by the Ottawa line and spent most of his time running for his life while looking for an open receiver.

When they started the game, the Lions showed no ill effects from their 25-7 loss to Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday, and took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on Kapp's three-yard touchdown run that followed fumbles on two consecutive plays.

It started when Black fumbled a punt on his own three-yard-line, and the Lions recovered. On the next play, fullback Bob Swift fumbled the handoff from Kapp, and while everyone was hunting the ball in the pie-up, Kapp picked it up and scooted around left end.

Lions threatened again in the second quarter but Gilbert's touchdown changed the entire complexion of the game.

Their other touchdown came in the third quarter when Kapp gambled on third down and hit Willie Fleming for a 27-yard pass-and-run play.

Gilbert's Interception Did It

Peter Kempf converted both B.C. touchdowns, but missed on two field goal attempts, both in the first half.

Moe Racine kicked five converts for the Riders and missed three points when he hit the cross bar on a field goal attempt from 41 yards out.

"Gilbert's interception did it," B.C. coach Dave Skrien lamented after the game. "We were starting to move and could have come out with a 14-0 lead at half time. Instead we were behind 14-7."

Coach Frank Clair of the Riders also picked the interception as the turning point in the game, but he thought the Riders deserved the break.

"After all, we rushed Kapp pretty good tonight. Our offence didn't start to roll until we kept Jackson in the pocket, but then we started to move."

Riders now are two points behind Hamilton Tiger-Cats, leaders in the Eastern Conference, with two games left for each club.

Lions are tied with Saskatchewan Roughriders for the third and last playoff berth in the West and must beat them in Vancouver next Sunday to stay in contention.

Fleming, Claridge Had Good Hands

Despite the scoring, the game statistics showed little difference between the clubs.

Lions had 19 first downs to 15 for the Riders. B.C. had a total offence of 281 yards—98 rushing and 183 passing—while the Riders gained 294 yards—99 rushing and 195 passing.

Jackson was good on eight of 15 passes for 195 yards and had one intercepted. Bill Cline's only pass was intercepted.

Kapp picked up 121 yards with 10 completions and three interceptions in 21 attempts. Shafer was good on five of 11 throws for 62 yards.

Tucker was Jackson's favorite target, catching four passes for 58 yards. Willie Fleming picked up 70 yards on four passes for the Lions, and end Pat Claridge caught five for 63.

Most of the rushing yardage was picked up by the two fullbacks. Dillard carried seven times for 78 yards while Swift lugged the ball 17 times for 74.

Both teams escaped injuries in the game and Jackson joined Kapp on the sidelines in the fourth quarter when Cline piloted the Riders. Cline almost came up with a touchdown march, but a 15-yard touchdown pass to Stewart was called back by an Ottawa offside.

Lions also had a touchdown called back in the dying minutes of the game when officials ruled halfback Sonny Homer tipped a Shafer pass forward to Bill Lasseter. Lions were down to the Ottawa four when time ran out.

Fouts Replaces Lineman of Year

MONTREAL — Twenty-six players have been nominated for the three top Canadian Football awards with no real surprises apart from the fact that two of last year's winners weren't on the first ballot.

Lovell Coleman, 1964 recipient of the most outstanding player award, was again nominated But B.C. Lions' Tom Brown, lineman of the year, and Hamilton's Tommy Grant, outstanding Canadian, weren't on the list.

Replacing Brown in the Lions' voting was Dick Fouts. The Hamilton nominee, in place of Grant, is big John Barrow.

The only player to be nominated for two spots—outstanding player and Canadian player of the year—was Russ Jackson of Ottawa. Off his performance against B.C. Tuesday, Jackson rates highly for the double award he first won in 1963.

Nominations with outstanding player, outstanding Canadian and outstanding lineman named in order:

B.C. LIONS—Quarterback Joe Kapp, corner-linebacker Norm Fieldgate, defensive-end Dick Fouts.

EDMONTON ESKIMOS—End Tommy-Joe Coffey, defensive-end Ron Forwick, defensive-end E. A. Sims.

CALGARY STAMPEDERS—Fullback Lovell Coleman, defensive-halfback Larry Robinson, linebacker Wayne Harris.

WINNIPEG BLUE BOMBERS—Halfback Leo Lewis, flanker Billy Cooper, defensive-halfback Bill Miller.

HAMILTON TIGER-CATS—Defensive-halfback Garney Henley; defensive-end Zeno Karcz, tackle John Barrow.

TORONTO ARGONAUTS — Defensive-halfback Jackie Parker, tackle Ron Brewer, tackle Billy Shipp.

OTTAWA ROUGH RIDERS—Quarterback Russ Jackson, quarterback Russ Jackson, guard Ken Lehman.

MONTREAL ALOUETTES — Quarterback Bernie Faloney, defensive-halfback Terry Evanshen, tackle Bob Minihane.

TRY BLAZERS . . .

The Wrong Club Placed In Boston

By DICK DEW

BOSTON (UPI)—This is the land of the bean, the cod, and the longest slump in the history of major professional ice hockey.

It's also the land of optimism and opportunity if you can believe the executives of the Boston Bruins. That's the team which has cheerlessly borne the weight of the other five national hockey league teams on its sagging shoulders for the last five successive seasons.

The Bruins last season broke the records for futility of four successive years in the cellar set by the Chicago Black Hawks and matched by the New York Rangers.

Even so, a revamped Bruin executive force predicts, "this is the year" the club will escape the dungeon. Notice there are no predictions of a Stanley Cup or anything like it. Just, simply, "we'll do better this year."

PATRICK GONE

The Bruins, who open their NHL season against the Black Hawks at Boston garden next Sunday night, unloaded general manager Lynn Patrick during the off-season. They brought in a veteran minor league executive named Leighton (Hap) Emms as his replacement.

Patrick, reasonably successful as a Boston coach but a .150 hitter as a general manager, wound up as pilot of the Los Angeles Blades, a team that finished last in the Western Hockey League last season.

Back in Boston, the Bruins came up with a few not-so-new faces from the NHL grab bag draft and promoted another handful of youngsters from their minor league network. But as the team completed preparations for the start of another season, no less than 11 of the 18 players on its roster had been members of last season's sixth place finishers.

To complicate matters even further, there were at least two disputes going on within the Bruin family. The parent club shifted 22-year-old rookie Paul Popeil to their Oklahoma City farm team for an exhibition game.

SPECTACULAR BRAWLS

Popeil immediately engaged varsity members Ron Stewart and Reg Fleming in brief but spectacular brawls on the ice. The Bruins hastily assured everyone that Popeil still was a member of the varsity and that his "loan" to the farmhands had been a temporary affair.

Coach Milt Schmidt, a hockey Hall-of-Famer for his exploits as a Boston centre back in the days when the Bruins won more games than they lost, gave clear indication that he might not be in complete agreement with general manager Emms.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW

But only a man thoroughly indoctrinated in the Boston system could take an optimistic view of a loss to a minor league team.

Bruins have lost two exhibition games and tied one with the Blazers.

"If we have to lose to anybody, I'm glad it was Oklahoma City," the veteran Schmidt said. "After all, they belong to us, every one of them."

Which, naturally, prompted the suggestion that the Bruins be sent to Oklahoma City and the Blazers be carried as Boston's National Hockey League entry.

They can't do any worse than finish last.

FLY FISHERMEN . . . . . . LIKE TO KEEP IT QUIET

Not Even Wives Know the Deep, Dark Secret!

EUGENE, Ore. (CP)—Formation of an international club of fly fishermen—one of its aims being to spread the word among "heathen bait fishermen"—was launched here earlier this summer.

It's a switch for a group that has been described as a "singular breed of isolationists."

The start toward an international club, to be known as the Federation of Fly Fishermen, is an achievement in itself.

Some fly fishermen, the story goes, have been known never to speak; in fact not even whisper to their wives, in confidence, which fly is taking which fish.

Probably the worst things an "outsider" could do would be to ask a fly purist (a) how he tied the fly that works all the time; (b) why he doesn't try worms.

The main goal of the proposed Federation of Fly Fishermen in Canada and the United States is to promote fly fishing. Teaching the uninitiated an "easy-to-learn technique" would be the start.

Work began with the 1965 Fly Fishers Conclave, a gathering of top fly fishermen, conservationists and fisheries management authorities from nine American states and British Columbia.

They set a goal of 50,000 fishermen to be included in the new organization.

The conclave roster read like a Who's Who of fly fishing.

There was Jon Tarrantino, the world champion tournament flycaster; flymakers Polly Rosborough of Chiloquin, Ore.; Buz Buszek of Visalia, Calif., and Lee Wulff of the Wulff Special fame; and flyrod makers Tom Bradshaw of Vancouver and Jim Green of the U.S.

Gene Anderegg of Ridgewood, N.J., one of those pushing formation of a federation, said in his address the basic aim was to promote fly fishing as "the highest expression of sportsmanship in angling."

Conservation would assume an important role. Plans include a stream-side poster campaign to promote limiting of catches and the release of all but trophy fish.

The club would dispense information and films on such subjects as techniques of fly fishing, how to tie a fly, casting and the latest in fly equipment.

Anderegg says the organization hopes to start publication of its own fly fishers' journal or bulletin.

Plans include a staff marine biologist who would conduct research and education programs.

The conclave accepted preliminary plans for continuing basic groundwork toward formation of a federation. A founding convention probably will be held next year.

NOTHING'S SAFE when ardent fly fishermen are on the trail of a new fly.

IN WINTER

British Tennis Folds Its Tent

LONDON (CP)—British tennis seems to be in the same position as its Canadian counterpart—nowhere to go during the winter.

Tennis is a summer-only sport in Britain. No player in his right mind would try to play outside between October and the spring.

The trouble is that, like Canada, there are few places to play and practise during the winter and the sport suffers. Covered courts are the answer. But there are only 30 full-time indoor courts in the country. Several more are used occasionally but belong to the armed services and other organizations which use the halls for other purposes as well.

PROBLEM IS COST

This compares unfavorably with more than 300 indoor courts in France and 200 in the United States. New York alone has more than twice as many as the whole of Britain.

Dan Maskell, training manager of the Lawn Tennis Association, believes that more covered courts could change the average Briton's attitude to the game. He suggests every town should have at least one court where bright youngsters and potential champions could keep in shape out of season.

The problem is financing the construction of a new court, which can cost up to £100,000 ($300,000), and convincing the right peoples to put up the money.

MAKES MONEY

A plan at Stalybridge, Cheshire, is extremely successful. Ex-speedway driver Val Morton borrowed £60,000 in 1963 and built a three-court hangar-shaped enclosure with seating for 2,000 spectators, a first-floor bar with viewing gallery and changing facilities.

He charges $2 an hour for each court, holds professional tournaments and, perhaps most important, makes a profit.

Another court at St. John's Wood—one of 11 around London—is owned by a tennis equipment manufacturer. It charges between $3 and $5 an hour, is open 14 hours a day but only has seating for 20 to 30 people.

PLASTIC THE ANSWER

The future could lie in relatively inexpensive inflatable plastic covers. The Coolhurst Lawn Tennis Club in Finchley, North London, already has one court fitted with a £3,500 transparent envelope which the makers claim will not need maintenance for 10 years. The only cost is about $2 an hour to keep the air pumps going. Players enter through an airlock.

The Lawn Tennis Association is making an inquiry into covered courts but it isn't expected to report for some time yet.

The careers of many young players, who have to lay off for the winter or take their turn in the long waiting lists, may depend on large companies or rich tennis clubs taking the initial financial plunge to get more courts working.

A galling thought for many players is the reminder that an Englishman has not won the All England championships at Wimbledon for 29 years and Britain has not held the Davis Cup since before the war.

GREY CUP BID

Ottawa's Leaders In Favor

OTTAWA (CP)—This city will make a bid to have the 1967 Grey Cup football game played here, board of control decided Tuesday.

A special committee of elected officials, businessmen and sports personalities will be formed to make plans and approach the Canadian Football League for approval.

The city is planning construction of a new $5,200,000 civic centre, including a football stadium, which is scheduled for completion by the summer of 1967. Seating capacity of the present Lansdowne Park stadium would be increased to 28,000 from 22,000.

Mayor Don Reid of Ottawa said Tuesday officials of the national capital commission, the body which regulates federal property in the capital area, have promised to help the city in its bid for the annual sports classic.

Can Champ Tie Tiger in Knots?

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tiger is hungry and on the prowl.

This doesn't scare middleweight champion Joey Giardello. He's prepared to tie knots in the Tiger's tail Thursday night.

"This could be the last chance for me, so I must win," says Nigerian Dick Tiger. "I will win."

"That's nice," said Giardello, "but I hate to disappoint him. I'm gonna win. The thing that scares me is that I'm too confident. I can't see how I can lose."

The hard training was out of the way for both 160-pounders and now they had the long wait until they climb into the Madison Square Garden ring at 10 p.m. EDT Thursday night for their 15-round return title fight.

WINS NINE

Giardello, who took the title from Tiger at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963, has won nine straight in nearly three years. At 36, he feels he still has a couple more years to collect the big money that eluded him through most of his 18-year pro career.

"Those 8-to-5 odds favoring him are crazy," said Giardello. "I was a 3-to-1 underdog when I took the title fight from him and I can't see why I shouldn't beat him again. His style is made to order for me.

"He can't change much at this stage of his career and if he does, it figures to hurt him more than help him."

Tiger, 35, figures he doesn't have to change much of his style. All he wants, he said Tuesday, is for the referee to make Giardello work in the ring.

"I'm going to make him fight," said the grimly-determined Nigerian. "He ran and ran the first time. This time I expect to corner him enough so he'll have to fight."

FIGHT RESULTS

LONDON—Amos Johnson, 196, Medina, Ohio, outpointed Henry Cooper, 190, England, 10; Johnny Prescott, 198¼, England, stopped Chip Johnson, 183, Naples, Fla., 5; Eduardo Corletti, 188¼, Argentina, stopped Billy Walker, 191¼, England, 8.

BOWLER OF WEEK

[illegible] appearance as a Times' Bowler-of-the-Week was made by Dolly Milliken. Mother of five rolled fivepin game of 256-296-276—828 at Gibson's Recreation to pick up second rung in 27-week competition.

SOVIET VOLLEYBALLERS CONTINUE DOMINATION

CALGARY (CP)—Soviet men's and women's national volleyball teams downed the U.S. teams in exhibition matches before 2,100 fans here Tuesday.

The Soviet women's team downed the United States in three straight contests, winning 15-2, 15-3 and 15-0.

The Russian men's team took three straight as well, beating United States 15-9, 15-9 and 17-15.

Tonight the U.S. and Soviet teams meet in Regina in the third series in a two-week exhibition tour of Canada.

Canadian Rider Finishes Fourth

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Kathy Kusner of the United States set a fast pace, then survived strong challenges by Mexico and Ireland Tuesday to win her second straight blue ribbon in international jumping competition at the Pennsylvania horse show.

Miss Kusner, 25, scored a high of 24 points on That's Right in 52.5 seconds.

Fourth place went to Gail Ross, 22, of Edmonton, riding The Hood, a black gelding.

Miss Ross joined the Canadian equestrian team in 1961. Although she couldn't ride with it the first year because of a serious auto accident, she has been with it ever since.

The Hood, a former open jumper champion in the U.S., was purchased after the 1964 Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

LOST ART RETURNING TO FOOTBALL

TORONTO (CP)—Ted Scrutton, a high school football player, turned back the clock when he employed the rarely-used drop-kick to convert a touchdown.

The point gave Midland a 7-6 victory over R. H. King in a suburban high school game Monday.

The drop-kick seldom has been used in Canadian football during the last three decades. It disappeared when the shape of the ball was altered to suit the passer.

Nationals Chalk Up Another

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada's national hockey team edged Minnesota Rangers of the Central Professional League 2-1 in an exhibition game before 3,000 fans Tuesday night.

Goals by Ted Hargreaves and John Russell gave the national team its third consecutive victory and second in succession over Minnesota. The Rangers fell 4-1 Sunday.

Hargreaves' first-period tally stood up until Russell made it 2-0 in the third, four minutes before Jim Johnson scored Minnesota's lone goal.

Fine goaltending by Wayne Stephenson, who turned back 34 shots, was a key factor in the Canadian triumph.

in a FIAT!

Here is a car that just won't do if you have a family of sixteen; if you want a company limousine; if you employ a chauffeur; if you are eight feet tall; if you hate small cars.

But if you could use a second car that is ridiculously easy to drive and hopelessly inexpensive to run—or if you just want a car that goes and goes and goes, that costs so very little, that starts wherever you feel it should (winter or summer), that doesn't object to taking four adults along—then try the 750 FIAT. It's nothing more than a useful, sensible, economical, brightly coloured bug. And it's fun to drive.

While you are looking at the 750 in your dealer's showroom, it might be a good idea to examine the other FIATs as well. If you must have several hundred horsepower, FIAT cars are out. On the other hand if you can use 50,000 hp and you have an ocean liner to put them in, FIAT can help you.

THE ELECTION TRAIL

Liberal Last To File Name

Nomination papers were filed this morning by Liberal James Gorst, the last candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich to do so.

He handed in the official forms and the $200 deposit to returning officer John Davies.

He thus becomes an official candidate in the Nov. 8 federal election, along with fellow candidates George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative; Len Stephenson, New Democratic Party, and Mrs. Vera Pipes, Social Credit.

* * *

The second Victoria candidate to file his papers is J. Lloyd Brereton of the New Democratic Party.

He did so Tuesday night, joining former Liberal MP David Groos.

Three other candidates—Conservative Rev. Clifford Waite, Socred Frank Hunter and Communist W. S. E. Morrison—have yet to do so.

Deadline is next Monday.

Courts of revision will be held in both constituencies Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Any eligible person missed in the enumeration may get on the voters' list at these sessions, which also hear complaints of mistakes where enumeration has been done.

In Victoria, the court will be held in the Eagles Hall, 755 View Street.

In Esquimalt-Saanich, courts will be held in the following church halls: St. Luke's, Cedar Hill Road and Cedar Hill Cross Road; St. Peter's, St. Peter's Road at Quadra; United Church, Carey at Norwood; and St. Martin's-in-the-Field, Obed off Tillicum.

Times at all the courts are 10-11 in the morning and 7-10 in the evening.

In rural parts of Esquimalt-Saanich, enumerators will conduct their own courts of revision on Thursday only.

Mrs. Vera Pipes, Esquimalt-Saanich Social Credit candidate, said Tuesday night B.C. should be treated the same as any other province.

"But we have not had the links from coast to coast promised by confederation," she said.

"We were promised a coast-to-coast railway, for example, but we had to build our own ferries."

She also said Socal Credit is not making any election promises.

"We will provide the bloc that will force the party in power to give us a little bit better government than we have been having," she said.

Mrs. Pipes spoke to two public meetings in View Royal and Luxton.

* * *

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will lead a Social Credit rally at the Royal Theatre Wednesday Nov. 3 at 8 p.m.

The theatre will be the scene of a New Democratic Party rally Thursday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m., when national leader T. C. Douglas will speak in support of local candidates.

* * *

More public meeting dates:

David Groos, Victoria Liberal, Thursday, 8 p.m., at Jubilee Hall in Esquimalt;

James Gorst, Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal, Friday, 7:30 p.m., at the Lutheran Church hall, Cedar Hill Road and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

One of the more outspoken Progressive Conservative MPs in the last Parliament, Eldon Woolliams of Bow River, Alberta, will visit Vancouver Island Friday.

He will hold a press conference in the Empress Hotel before leaving for Nanaimo to address a Rotary Club luncheon with Walter Matthews, Conservative candidate in Nanaimo, Cowichan and the Islands.

In the evening, they will speak at a public meeting in the Discovery Inn, Campbell River.

medicare scheme on Canadians or any province," Pearson said. "We have made a proposal to the provinces which they can accept or they can reject, and we have said that we will contribute half the cost of any medical scheme they wish to put into effect."

He added: "But as this is federal money we have to assure ourselves that the money will go for the purposes for which it is intended and there should be certain principles adopted."

The prime minister said these are being worked out with the provinces and medical associations, and the provinces then can work their own details.

(The Pearson plan unveiled to the provinces this summer calls for universality in coverage, portability and direct control of the scheme by the provinces.)

MAJORITY

He said that contrary to criticism, his government had not been more concerned with eastern Canada than western Canada.

But he said it was true that the Liberal government had not had as many western representatives as it should have—the Liberals held only three seats in the three prairie Provinces and seven in B.C.

"It will be a good thing for this part of Canada to have voices speaking for it on the government side of the House," Pearson said.

"We are going to have a majority after Nov. 8," he added.

"There is no doubt about it.

"I want this to be a national majority and I want it to have a strong representation from the west," he said as the audience applauded.

Pearson spoke of his government's achievements and plans in the field of social security, health and education.

He said arrangements are being worked out whereby a child's educational opportunities are based on ability.

MUST SPEND MONEY

The prime minister said it it would cost a lot of money, but it was an expenditure that Canada could not afford not to make.

Pearson arrived in Edmonton in the afternoon by plane from Ottawa.

He went to the Jubilee Auditorium at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, where he was received by about 500 party faithful and students.

Pearson told them also that reports from across Canada were good for the Liberals, and he asked them to continue working hard.

The prime minister later visited Agriculture Minister Harry Hays in hospital. He went with Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Hays.

The agriculture minister is laid up with a form of pneumonia, but recovering.

'IMPATIENT PATIENT'

Pearson described him as "the most impatient patient."

En route to Westlock, he stopped briefly and spoke to crowds of about 300 at St. Albert and Morinville.

He flies to Calgary today for an address and then on to Saskatchewan for an evening meeting at Humboldt, Sask.

Pearson is due back in Ottawa Thursday.

'Canada Missed Boat' At Founding of UN

Canada lost her chance to take a leading role in world affairs at the 1945 founding of the United Nations in San Francisco, M. J. Coldwell, former national leader of the CCF, said Tuesday.

"If the smaller powers could have been held together then by Canadian leadership, we could have exerted much more influence on world affairs," he said.

But Canada "missed the boat because of the personality of our leader, Mackenzie King."

Mr. Coldwell, now retired, was one of five Canadian members of Parliament to attend the 1945 conference when the UN charter was forged.

FOUNDING MEMBER

Speaking Tuesday to a small group of students at a University of Victoria political science forum, Mr. Coldwell traced the history of the old CCF party, of which he was a founding member.

He also aired some views on Canada's role on the international scene, and the United States' position in Viet Nam.

Mr. Coldwell is combining speaking engagements with work as member of a non-partisan government organized committee to investigate the source and expediture of campaign funds.

In this capacity, he has met provincial political leaders, including the Social Credit government. However, he would reveal only that he had a "nice chat" with Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Here are some of Mr. Coldwell's comments:

On Canada's independence: "It took us 100 years to free ourselves from the British, but it didn't take us more than 10 years to be swallowed up wholeheartedly and completely by U.S. foreign policy."

On Viet Nam: "As a Christian I cannot condone what is happening in Viet Nam."

On Nationalist China: "Call it a Red government, a Communist government—but it is a government."

On national leaders: "Whatever is said of the inadequate leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson, this cannot be said of Tommy Douglas."

On Mackenzie King: "He wanted to be pushed, that was the story of his life."

And on the NDP's chances of forming an opposition in the next Parliament: "Very good—I can almost hope that they might form the government."

Afternoon Tea Gives Way to Pop and Hot Dogs

Mount Douglas Park concession building is condemned and should be demolished, parks committee recommended Tuesday to Victoria city council.

Council endorsement will wipe out a 20-year landmark that will not be replaced.

Aldermen accepted a recommendation from parks administrator Herbert Warren, who said alternations to the sagging wood frame building would cost far more than it is worth.

He said the need for a tea-room-cafe type of operation in the park does not exist as it once did.

"Times have changed," Mayor R. B. Wilson commented.

Gone are the "horse and buggy days" when it was fashionable to drive out to Mount Douglas for tea, he said.

The matter came up when concessionaires Mr. and Mrs. Wolfgang Guelich offered to spend their own capital on improvements, provided Victoria and Saanich contributed.

But Saanich building inspectors found so much wrong with the concession they condemned it, and for six months it has been empty.

Referring the item to Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee for endorsation, the committee recommended the agreement with the Guelichs be cancelled and that they be reimbursed $3,814 for a small new concession built nearby last summer.

This one provides only for the summer trade in hotdogs, soft drinks and confections, and has no living quarters.

TOO COSTLY

It was estimated that to make the old building habitable would cost $1,500.

Additional improvements to make the building into a first-rate restaurant as proposed by the Guelichs would have been far more.

Mr. Warren said the area seems well served by restaurants as it is.

Settlement, to be shared with Saanich, will enable a fixed rate to be set for the operation of the small concession per season.

'VALUABLE GAME ANIMAL'

Kiernan Won't Appoint Another Cougar Hunter

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN—Recreation Minister Kiernan has turned down local residents' petition for appointment of a part-time cougar hunter.

The minister has told Mrs. Harold Leader, of Shawnigan Lake. Survey and hunting statistics show that cougars are not unusually numerous in the Duncan area."

Mrs. Leader, who organized the petition, said today: "We're not very happy with the minister's reply."

She said "10 or 11 cougars have been shot in this area in the past year and not one of them by the government hunter."

MEETING

Mrs. Leader said a meeting will be called to consider what follow-up action can be taken.

In his letter the minister said, "Few people in rural areas are well informed of the furtive habits of the cougar.

"'Over the years, as might be expected, an air of misapprehension and mystery has been engendered."

He said his department has passed through the area of the bounty system.

The fish and game branch is in the invidious position of having a dual role, he said.

It is morally committed to the preservation of all wild life, while on the other hand being the sole agency responsible for the removal of offending predators.

Mr. Kiernan said: "These predators include those capable but seldom guilty of attacking humans."

A more moderate outlook between these extremes was fairly recent.

But there is a rapidly developing premise that the cougar is a valuable game animal.

Mr. Kiernan said: "Valuable not only as a trophy but also for the recreational sport derived from the specialized hunting."

CREATE ILLUSION

Mr. Kiernan remarked: "We fully realize because of the cougar's travel habits it is quite possible even two cougar families moving into an area would create the illusion of a population explosion.

"In acute situations involving stock loss the fish and game branch will continue to hunt down the offending animals.

"But the branch should not be expected to take action merely because a cougar has been seen in its rightful habitat away from an area of potential damage."

ISLAND DIGEST

'I SHOT HER THIS MORNING'

NANAIMO—Murder suspect Bert George, 22, allegedly said in a telephone conversation with a friend: "I shot her this morning."

The verbal evidence was read out in Assize Court here Tuesday by Constable Dennis McDonald.

He was giving evidence for the second day of George's trial in the .22 rifle slaying of Roseanne James July 17.

Mrs. James, 28, died from a bullet wound suffered while sitting in the front seat of Constable McDonald's patrol car on Quamichan Indian Reserve, Duncan.

WATCHING

Constable McDonald said he was watching as a man fired a gun at Mrs. James. He was unable to stop the shooting.

Afterwards he took Mrs. James to hospital and George to the police station.

There, according to the constable, George was allowed to phone a friend to arrange for the looking after of his children.

He also said, according to Constable McDonald: "I shot her this morning. I'm in the police office and I don't know how she is."

Pathologist Dr. Suri Pappu, of Victoria, said the bullet entered the left breast and ended in the right arm.

George is being tried by a jury before Mr. Justice Victor Dyer.

Suit Launched In Nanaimo Hunter's Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Nanaimo widow has started a B.C. Supreme Court action against Jack Morgan, also of Nanaimo, under the Families Compensation Act.

A statement of claim filed by Mrs. Dorothy Stolarchuk alleges her husband died in a huting accident Nov. 18, 1964, in which Mr. Morgan was negligent in the use of a firearm.

AIRSTRIP PLAN TAKING OFF

DUNCAN — Getting an aircraft off the ground isn't too difficult.

Getting an airstrip "off the ground" is tough.

Duncan Jaycees have been trying for an airstrip for two years.

But it wasn't until Tuesday the club was able to announce bulldozing will start this weekend in the Cowichan station area.

Behind the Jaycees' success in making a start is the helping hand of Victoria businessman Claude Butler, past president of Victoria.

Mr. Butler is donating the land to the flying club just 1.8 miles from downtown Duncan.

Earlier, Jaycee negotiations for Indian land broke down.

Duncan's airstrip, 200 feet above sea level, will have year-round operating conditions.

It will be turf, about 2,500 feet long, and will have parking and tie-down areas for public use. A blacktop road runs to within a stone's throw of the new airport.

The strip, will be licenced and built to department of transport requirements.

Said Jaycee Terry Kinch, project co-ordinator: "We hope to be operating in February or March. Jaycees will be the governing body for the operation and construction."

He said he knows of 15 privately-owned aircraft in the Duncan district whose owners will use the facilities.

Three local men are waiting confirmation of the building of a local strip before buying aircraft, he added.

The strip will handle single and twin light aircraft and, in an emergency, up to the size of a DC-3.

Jaycees will raise money to equip the airport.

PGE Project Aims To Improve Safety

VANCOUVER (CP) — H. H. Minshall, chief engineer of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, said today the line will spend $8,000,000 this year and in 1966 to improve safety and speed up trains.

VICTORY FOR TURGOOSE POINT RESIDENTS

Cement Plant Rejected

The Battle of Turgoose Point has been won by the people.

Central Saanich council Tuesday night rejected an Ocean Cement Ltd. application to rezone 12 acres from agriculture to a special commercial category.

The company sought to establish a mixing and distribution plant on the site, situated south of James Island Road and opposite the Turgoose Point subdivision.

Residents strongly opposed the proposal and the Capital Region Planning Board recommended against it.

Anthony Roberts, director, pointed out that 11 lots on the subdivision have been built on with a total value of $284,000 for land and buildings.

"If the remaining 16 lots are developed a total investment of $635,000 would be included in the subdivision.

"Because of the size of the present investment in residential property and the likely effects upon this development of a concrete plant, it is recommended the application for rezoning be not approved," he said.

A spokesman for the cement company said a belt of trees would be planted along James Island Road to screen the plant.

The company, he said, was prepared to construct a parallel access road to the site to reduce traffic on James Island Road.

"What about the dust from the plant," asked resident Gordon Washington. "You can't tell me an industrial or commercial site there won't create any dust."

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1965—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

We were scuttling along Cedar Hill Cross Road toward Shelbourne the other night when, against the shadowed Mount Tolmie slope, we glimpsed lights where none had shone before.

They wandered up the rise for a hundred yards or so, on either side of the winding park road. The glow through tinted lenses, positioned with casual-seeming artistry, touched shrubs, trees and fern-clad rocks, for a total effect which was nothing less than lovely.

We pulled in to the curb for a proper look. Then, mighty pleased at this newest item in a program which has been proceeding quietly on Mount Tolmie, we got on with our errand.

Later, driving home with cat chow, dogfood and looseleaf paper for our young, we paused for a second look. Those goblin orbs obviously hadn't just dropped from the sky to delight residents and next summer's tourists.

Back of this fair spectacle must be planning of a quality to match the execution.

★ ★ ★

Next morning I enquired my way to a transplanted Yorkshireman by the name of Albert Richmond, who for the past eight-and-a-half years has served Saanich as parks superintendent.

When Bert Richmond took over, the municipality claimed 16 parks, not all of which were readily identifiable as such. Now it boasts 55 developed or waiting development.

Among these parkland acres is the Mt. Tolmie tract which sprawls, with its broom and Gary oaks, on the reverse slope of the rocky, 407.5-foot nubbin.

As a young Englishman sent out by the RAF for training at Patricia Bay during the last war, Bert Richmond—in civvie life, a parkman from the Yorkshire city of Hull—sized up its possibilities.

Returned to our shores and installed as Saanich parks chief, he began in 1959 to translate his ideas into fact.

His department grant was already stretched till it twanged; but Yorkshire lads run stubborn.

Bert suggested to district Boy Scout leaders that a good turn needed doing on Mt. Tolmie. The boys went up the hill like locusts, rooting out skeleton trees and dead broom. Municipal trucks toted the debris to the summit, where on Halloween, the Scouts were rewarded with a mammoth bonfire.

★ ★ ★

Through 1960, trail-work and judicious clearing continued as time and funds would permit. But the project had roused the ire of a group which protested to the then reeve and council.

As a result, work on Mt. Tolmie was reduced to maintenance for the next three years.

In 1964 the veto was lifted, and since then, the trail-making, landscaping, rockwork and planting has gone on with scarce a break.

Last Sunday night, when the lights went on, the cost to date stood at $9,800 . . . a figure which I find low indeed for all that's been achieved.

Eventually, lights will follow the road from Cedar Hill Cross to the summit. When completed the entire park project will have cost under $12,000.

Three small capital grants figure in this sum. Since much of the work was done under the winter works program, federal funds also go into the kitty.

As one of many who have watched and approved the face-lifting which adds to rather than detracts from Mt. Tolmie's natural beauty, I suggested to Bert that he is doing very well by his mountain.

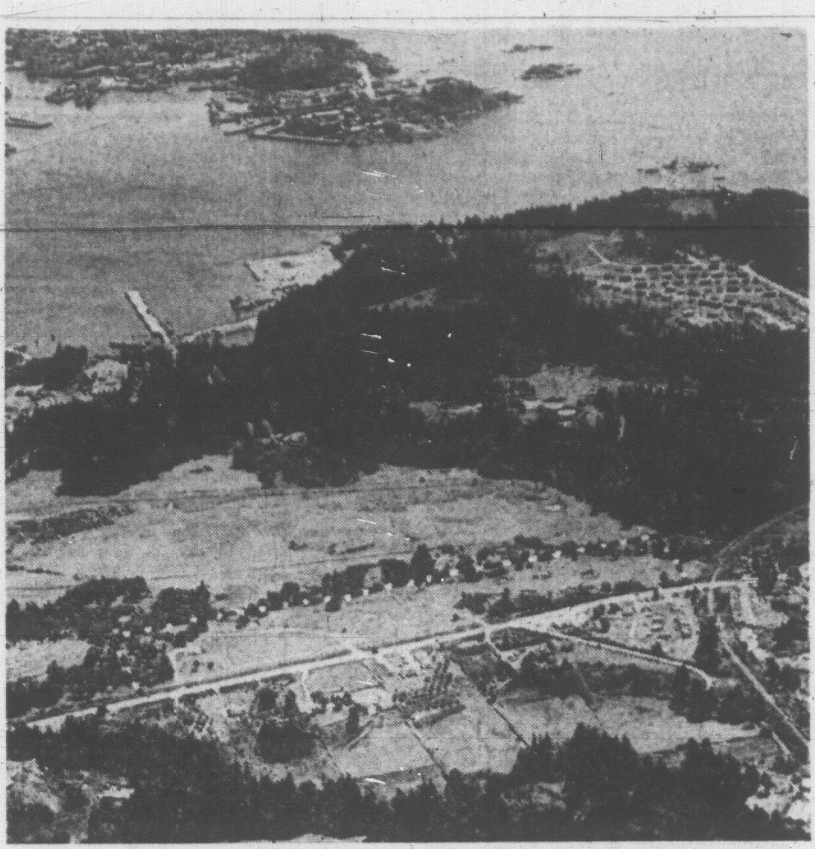
But he isn't satisfied yet. He thinks the top hummock should be flattened to make what will be a perfect viewing platform especially if telescopes are mounted upon it.

"And wait," says he, "until the shrubs and flowers are in full bloom next spring!"

$181,026 FOR APPEAL

The United Appeal total for today, still hovering just past the 40 per cent mark, is $181,026.

Two-week house-to-house canvass which started Monday is expected to push the amount further towards $439,210 goal.



FUTURE SITE of joint Metchosin district recreation complex suddenly made possible by federal and provincial co-operation covers 18 acres of old Colwood race track property. It borders old Island Highway as indicated by dotted line and is 300 feet deep. (Times aerial photo.)

Colwood Land Freed For Centennial Plan

Sports Complex Near Old Track

Personal intervention by Prime Minister Pearson has freed an 18-acre site for development of a joint Colwood-Langford-Metchosin centennial project.

Mr. Pearson, after urging by Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal candidate James Gorst and the district's weekly newspaper publisher Gordon Root, reversed an earlier decision to hold on to the land.

The defence department holds all the vacant land between the CNR right-of-way at Colwood Corner and Wilfert Road. This was the former Colwood race track property and an area once sought for fairgrounds by B.C. Fairs Association.

300 FEET DEEP

Mr. Pearson said the Colwood property as a whole must be retained for defence training purposes, but the department is prepared to release, through Crown Assets Disposal Corp., a strip bordering the Old Island Highway 300 feet in depth and covering an area of 18 acres.

Because the joint centennial committee is not empowered to hold property, the land likely will be disposed of through the B.C. recreation and conservation department.

Mr. Pearson's letter to Mr. Root indicated the federal government is willing to give the land to the province, which would hold it for the district.

$45,000 KITTY

Although no firm arrangements have been made, there is the possibility that some payment may have to be made. Centennial funds which will be available in the Metchosin, Langford, Colwood, Happy Valley and Glen Lake districts are expected to total $45,000 including local assessments.

To levy a local assessment, the area must organize into an improvement district, or other incorporation.

Centennial committee spokesman Stan Hiscock said the next step would be to decide on what the first stage of development in the recreation complex will be.

Then "we must start the wheels moving on a local improvement district."

He favors construction of a swimming pool as the first development. It could be completed within the stipulated period to qualify as a centennial project.

It is hoped the complex eventually will include skating, curling, bowling and gymnasium facilities and outdoor playing surfaces such as tennis and field sports, to be added as funds become available.

A campaign for the land began early in the year with approaches to the defence department and local members of parliament, which resulted in rejection of the bid.

Another effort consumed three summer months before it misfired, then in September Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan appealed to the defence minister, followed by a letter to the prime minister.

LOOKED HOPELESS

Mr. Gorst wrote to the government and Mr. Pearson replied at the weekend.

"It looked pretty hopeless until this happened," Mr. Hiscock commented.

The committee had been thinking in terms of putting a pool project on the grounds of Belmont High School, although negotiations with the school board had not been completed.

POOL, GREEN GOES TO VOTE

A referendum on Central Saanich's proposed centennial project—a swimming pool and bowling green—will be submitted to the electorate in December.

The project is expected to cost at least $32,000.

If the project is turned down, council decided it would investigate possibility of participating in the proposed Greater Victoria joint centennial project — a 3,000 seat stadium at the University of Victoria.

FATHER CHARGED

Tot 'Covered In Bruises' Says Sitter

A baby-sitter told in city court today how she found a three-year-old boy "covered in bruises" when the child was left with her by his father.

Mrs. Carol Estlin, 3710 Saanich Road, was giving evidence at the trial of the father, Edward Fullaway, 640 Belton, who is charged with assault causing bodily harm on his son, Robert, 3.

Mrs. Estlin said that after she noticed the marks on Robert's body his father telephoned her from the hospital where he had gone to visit his wife who was having another baby.

She said she asked Fullaway "What happened to Robert?"

Fullaway said the child had fallen. Mrs. Estlin said she told him that "he couldn't get all those bruises from falling."

'HIT WITH STICK'

She said Fullaway then told her, "I hit him with a stick."

Mrs. Estlin said that when she asked him why, he answered "Robert is the one who causes all the trouble. He's always wetting and dirtying."

Mrs. Estlin said Fullaway told her "I'm sorry now I did it."

Mrs. Estlin said she called police and took the child to hospital for examination.

Dr. E. L. McNiven, who examined Robert shortly afterwards in hospital, said the boy had bruises on his head, back, and thigh and his hands were swollen.

Dr. McNiven said the marks resulted from injuries that must have variously occurred in a period between 24 hours and two weeks before.

The Fullaway family doctor, Dr. John Le Huoquet, said Robert wore special shoes and one of his legs was shorter than the other. He said that when he examined the boy he found him covered in bruises.

The trial was continuing at press time.

DR. JOHN DEWEY

Professor Off to U.S. Blast Talks

A University of Victoria physics professor is going to the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., next week for talks on his defence research projects.

Dr. John Dewey, an expert in blast wave theories, will be taking part in a two-day conference of scientists from Britain, the United States and Canada.

The scientists have been called together under an agreement between free nations in which scientists discuss scientific patterns in the defence field.

This particular group has been called together to discuss blast wave formations and effects.

The conference will be held next Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. Dewey was the former head of the aerophysics and shock tube section of the Suffield Experimental Station in Alberta.

You're All Invited

Victorians are invited to take part in a ceremony at 2:30 p.m., Nov. 7, at the Peace Arch at Blaine.

The affair will mark the 150th anniversary of Anglo-American amity.

International Peace Arch Program Association has invited Canadian, American, British and Japanese representatives, including officials from the states of Washington, Oregon and California, to attend the rededication of a 50-year-old bronze plaque.

●

A prime mover of the original ceremony, July 4, 1915, was Thomas Plimley of Victoria, and the Union Jack used at that time was presented for the city of Victoria by ex-mayor A. E. Todd.

The plaque denoted the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, Dec. 24, 1814, ending the War of 1812.

●

Victoria city council has been asked to send an official representative to the ceremony, prompted by rediscovery of the bronze plaque recently.

Horace Plimley, son of Thomas, has seen to the restoration and mounting of the plaque in a granite base on the original site.

Senior Governments Should Pay Says Lee

Costs of draining the nematode-infested McHugh Valley on the Saanich peninsula should be shared equally by federal and provincial governments, Central Saanich Reeve R. Gordon Lee said today.

"The outbreak of golden nematode in Saanich should be treated as a disaster as it involves both the provincial and national agricultural industry," he said. "We shouldn't be asked to contribute."

BOGGED DOWN

A start on the project has bogged down because of a dispute on sharing costs between two municipalities and the two senior governments.

The federal government has agreed to pay half the cost of draining the land, the remainder to be shared by Central Saanich and Saanich or the provincial government.

The B.C. government feels costs should be borne entirely by Ottawa and the two municipalities are opposed to any financial commitments.

The project involves clearing and deepening a three-mile ditch running through the two municipalities. Cost would be about $12,500.

Drainage of the land flooded by water during the winter months is necessary for controlling golden nematode, a serious potato pest.

"The B.C. government has some responsibility in this matter," said the reeve. "Agriculture is a natural resource of the province."

Study Ordered On Trade Board

A committee was named Tuesday night to survey the possibility of establishing a board of trade in Esquimalt.

The committee was formed at a meeting in Esquimalt municipal hall attended by 20 businessmen and the council.

COMET TOSS-UP MAY SHOW TAILS

You may see the tail of the comet tonight—but you won't see the head

And you may see nothing at all.

That is the latest word from the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Saanich Mountain.

The observatory said the comet Ikeya-Seki is now circling the sun at an enormous speed. At sunset this evening, the head will be below the horizon but the 4,000,000-mile tail may be visible in the western sky, near the horizon, if there is a break in the cloud.

The tail is composed of rarified gases and is yellowish in color.

"The comet and tail complete their journey round the sun in something between four and five hours," an astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Laboratory said.

"So far we haven't had glimpse of either the comet or the tail, even through a telescope. The weather has been most unfavorable."

The sun sets tonight at 5:15. Weatherman Bill Mackie expects the weather will continue cloudy. But there is just the chance of a break in the cloud which will enable Victoria observers to see the comet's tail.

Dairyman Expects Two-Cent Boost In Milk Prices

An impeding increase in retail price of milk here is expected to total two cents and may take effect Nov. 1, a dairy spokesman said today.

However, neither the amount nor the date has been finally decided, he said.

Current price is 25 cents a quart, two cents below the provincial average. Greater Victoria is the sole area in the province that has not seen price increases so far this year.

MAYNE QUEEN, the new ferry for the Gulf Islands service is getting finishing touches at Victoria Machinery Depot. Premier Bennett will receive her from the builders in a ceremony at Black Ball wharf Nov. 2 at 2 p.m. The ship will be opened to public viewing briefly then goes immediately into service out of Swartz Bay. Pender Queen will go on stand-by. Sister ship to Mayne Queen, Bowen Queen, will be launched Nov. 2 enlarging B.C. fleet to 23 vessels. Mayne Queen has high centre lane for trucks.

WILL ROGERS JR.
. . . "great to be back"

'NO EXPERT' INSISTS WILL JR.

By JIM HUME

In 1934 a young member of the Stanford University debating team paid his first visit to Victoria.

He and other members of the team earned the trip after engaging a University of British Columbia debating team on the topic "International Control of Arms and Munitions."

Tuesday afternoon Will Rogers Jr. came back to the Island for the first time in 31 years, this time at the invitation of University of Victoria officials, to speak on international affairs.

He recalls his first trip with fond memories — so fond that instead of flying back to Los Angeles via Seattle as originally planned he is returning via government ferry to Vancouver and thence to L.A.

"I want my son, Clem, to see the islands and Vancouver before we go back," he said this morning sipping coffee in the Imperial Inn.

NO EXPERT

A pleasant man with the unmistakable features of his famous father, Mr. Rogers does not profess to be an expert on international affairs.

But he does have some definite ideas on the Viet Nam problem and the way it is being handled by the United States.

"We must stay in there.

"But we must institute as soon as possible a program of land and social reform to complement our military effort.

"I think this idea is growing since the many university teach-ins have forced the U.S. military authorities to recognize that more is needed in Viet Nam than military force."

A resident of Tubac, Ariz. (pop. 80), 25 miles from Tuscon, Mr. Rogers is a strong advocate of equal rights for negroes.

"I am strongly against racial prejudice," he said quietly. "But I am also against the violence shown by the colored people in the recent Watts (Los Angeles), riots.

SURPRISED

"They came as a complete surprise to me because I think Los Angeles, while far from being perfect, was making more progress than many other cities. Violence in many other cities would not have surprised me, but in Watts it did."

Mr. Rogers said one of the keys to the solution of the racial problem was adequate housing for colored families.

"We must break down the housing problem," he said. "The tendency now is for white families to start moving out when the Negro population in an area reaches 40 per cent. As a result, another attempt at integration fails and instead of having a mixed community we have a solid Negro community.

"I don't know what the solution is, but we must find it by providing better housing to eliminate what can only be termed as the ghettos of today."

GETS RESULTS

While deploring the violence in Los Angeles, Mr. Rogers said he felt that in the long run it would bring more rapid action by the authorities.

After his noon address Mr. Rogers left for Vancouver with his 24-year-old University of Arizona student son Clem and a day of sight-seeing.

Topics of the Day

An inquest will be held at McCall's Funeral Chapel Thursday night into the death of a 25-year-old Nanaimo man who died from injuries suffered in a car accident Oct. 9 south of Duncan.

Barry John Morrison, 455 Nicol Street, Nanaimo, died without regaining consciousness.

The inquest will open at 7:30 and will be quickly adjourned for continuation later when witnesses in the inquiry are released from hospital.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Helpful Hint!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: U.S. servicemen are now on what is called the "honor system." They no longer make out allotments for their families. They are issued full pay, and put on their "honor" to see that their families are taken care of. Well, I am very sorry to say that some of our servicemen don't have much honor. Mine included.

Abby, it took me seven months before I was able to get money out of my husband to feed my family. I finally found out how to go about it, and I hope you'll publish my letter because there are a lot of other wives with the same problem.

Write to the Adjutant General, T.A.G., U.S. Army (or whatever branch of service your husband is in), Washington, D.C. Tell him what your problem is, give him your husband's full name, rank and serial number. Make four copies of that letter. Keep one yourself, send one to your husband and one to your husband's commanding officer. They will remind the serviceman that his family back home must eat. I got results!

SKIP MY NAME

DEAR SKIP: Thank you for your willingness to share some valuable information with other wives who might need it. If you'd have written to your congressman, you could have accomplished the same results. And possibly sooner.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl with a problem—my father. He's really a doll, and I don't have any of the problems my girl-friends seem to have with their fathers about make-up, hair styles, curfews and the kind of boys they date. But the one thing that bothers me is my father's staying up and waiting for me to come home from a date. If he'd only sit in the dark somewhere in the house, I wouldn't mind so much. But the minute the car pulls up, the front door pops open, and there's Daddy. Of course this kills my chances for a good night kiss. How can I let my father know I'm not a baby any more?

NO KISSES

DEAR NO: He knows. That's why he's waiting up for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning to marry a man who has been married before. We are both Unitarian. He has four children by his first wife. Abby, I have never been married before, and I've always dreamed of announcing my engagement in the paper, having a large church wedding and wearing a beautiful white gown and veil. But someone told me that I will have to forego that dream because the man I am going to marry has already been through all that. Is that so?

BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR BRIDE: No. It doesn't matter how many times your fiance has been married or how many children he has. If this is your first trip to the altar, you may realize your dream.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LILY, WHO'S DEPRESSED: If a man is forever looking behind doors, it's a good bet that he has stood behind a few himself.

Orchid on White Prayer Book Carried for Jones-Darling Vows

A white orchid on a white prayer book was carried by Trudy-Jeanne Darling when she became the bride of Christopher Richard Jones in First United Church recently. Her floor-length gown of white ribbed taffeta, styled along empire lines, featured an A-line skirt. Embroidered dew drops highlighted the waist, being repeated on the cuffs of the three-quarter-length sleeves. Her veil misted from a headpiece of white roses and net leaves.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris heard vows exchanged between the daughter of Mr. M. D. Darling, 1133 Heald Avenue, and Mrs. Mary Darling, 1512 Fairfield Road, and the son of Mrs. Joyce Jones, 164 Little Eldon Place, and the late Mr. J. R. Jones. Mr. Darling gave his daughter in marriage. Mrs. W. H. Gregory was organist.

Matron of honor Mrs. Charles Forscutt and bridesmaid Miss Susan Darling, sister of the bride, wore dresses of gold peau de soie styled along empire lines, featuring A-line skirts. They wore headpieces of gold peau de soie flowers and tulle. Flowergirl Lauri Bennett was in a similar floor-length frock, which was highlighted with gold lace around the waist and sleeves. They carried bouquets and baskets of chrysanthemums in bronze tones respectively.

Stan Richardson was best man, and ushers were Martin Jones and Jack Darling, brothers of the principals. Alex Lasell proposed the toast to his niece at the reception in the Tally-Ho Travelodge.

For travelling on honeymoon to Seattle, the new Mrs. Jones chose a two-piece turquoise suit with matching hat made by the groom's mother.

The couple will live at 1117A Bay Street.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Vic Hay and Rusty of Vancouver.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here's Help In Keeping Hands Soft and Lovely

Lowman

Our hands are so constantly in evidence that their appearance has a great impact on those who observe us. They can make us seem older or younger, well groomed or careless, tense or relaxed.

Many women use their hands constantly when talking. They emphasize practically every word with a gesture. An occasional gesture is attractive but too many make others nervous and make us seem tense or insecure.

The way our hands look depends to a great extent on the care we give them. There are a few defects which we cannot correct. Large veins are an example. These are inherited. However it helps if you keep your hands out of hot water as much as possible.

We can keep our hands soft if we wear gloves when outdoors and use a hand lotion every time they are in water. For heavy housework it is wise to wear cotton gloves so that the dirt or grime doesn't get into the skin and roughen it.

Many women are burdened with brittle or splitting nails. These will not kill you but they are embarrassing and make a good manicure ineffective. Nobody seems to know for sure just what causes the nails to be brittle or to split. Contact with detergents, and cleansers and such items is the best guess. There have been some studies which seem to indicate that the regular ingestion of plain gelatin is helpful. However, so far as I know, the evidence has not been conclusive.

There are many products on the market for this condition but I really do not know how much they help. There are nail hardeners and creams for the nails. Perhaps preventive measures are worth concentrating on. Always wear rubber gloves with a cotton lining when you are going to indulge in any wet household work. When you use your hand cream be sure to massage some of it into the skin around your nails.

Many women dislike the longitudinal grooving which sometimes occurs on the nails. The tendency is for the nails to become more brittle with the years. The grooves are also more prevalent in later years. However these grooves may result from injury or inflammation in the skin at the base of the nail.

Regular nail polish gives support to nails which split and peel, but the nails should be given a rest from polish once in a while. I suppose also that good health and fine nutrition have their effect on the nails just as on the hair and eyes and entire physical being.

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands to increase the flexibility and beauty of yours, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Weep No More, Lady With Onion Chopper!

By Penny Saver

When my neighbor came running into my kitchen the other day with tears streaming from her eyes, it looked like the end of the world. The tears kept on coming and I was really beginning to wonder what was wrong when she finally managed to gasp out "Onions!" I understood immediately. When the flow stopped and she finished telling me her story, I gave her some sympathy and a hint I had picked up on how to avoid the weeping that raw onions usually induce.

An onion chopper which sells for 69 cents at a local store is one of the simplest and the most valuable of all the gadgets in my kitchen. It's simply a jar with a metal, screw-on lid. Through the lid there's a handle which you press up and down and the sharp chopper blades cut up the onion inside. At the bottom there's a round wooden chopping board; the chopping blades and handle are of stainless steel to prevent rusting.

Besides onions you can use the chopper for nuts, parsley, celery, eggs and baby food — a real boon to busy kitchen workers.

Another gadget for "nutty" people, or rather for people who like nuts, is the nut-meat chopper, a similar device which anyone who bakes a lot with nuts will find very useful. It comes in two sizes, selling for 65 and 89 cents. A little metal device on top of the lid receives the nut, you turn the handle — and presto! chopped nuts.

When you detach the lid, the nuts can be ground up and scattered directly over cake or pudding where you're using them as topping.

A final device which no kitchen should be without is this handy little knife sharpener, priced at 79 cents. It's almost unbelievably easy — you just put the knife between the eight steel sharpening discs, then pull it through — it sharpens automatically.

Keep all your knives sharp and hubby will have no excuse when he has trouble carving the roast.

Parties Precede Ball

A round of parties has been planned by guests attending the third annual University of Victoria Alumni Ball, prior to the affair on Friday evening. Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Forward will host 16 guests at the cocktail hour in their Woodburn Avenue home. The Princess Louise Room of the Empress Hotel will be the setting for another cocktail party when Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fairclough entertain. There will be 20 guests. Prof. and Mrs. Wilfrid Johns will entertain at a small party in their Mt. Joy Avenue home prior to the ball. Guests attending will be Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman, Dean and Mrs. H. C. Gilliland and Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns.

Quiet Ceremony

Rev. E. W. McQuarrie officiated at the quiet ceremony in Ganges United Church on Salt Spring Island when Miss Jean Galbraith became the bride of Mr. Lyle Brown. Given in marriage by her employer, Mr. L. G. Ramsey, the bride wore a navy blue suit, complemented with pink hat and pink carnation corsage. The attendants were the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Galbraith and the groom's father, Mr. A. M. Brown. A small reception for relatives and close friends followed in the Rainbow Road home of the groom's parents. Mr. G. S. Humphreys proposed the toast to the bride's happiness. After a honeymoon on Vancouver Island, the newlyweds will make their home at Ganges.

From California

Travelling from their Gardena, Calif., home to hear recent vows exchanged between Miss Marlene Mabel Christie and Mr. Douglas Murray Bennett in First United Church were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Christie. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. N. Christie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cummings, Miss Frances Boston, and Mr. Ron Christie, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Christie, Mr. a Mrs. R. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor, and Mrs. L. Allen of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. K. Christie of Courtenay, Mr. and Mrs. T. Wortman of Westholme, British Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carter of Duncan, and Mr. and Mrs. George Blair of Ladysmith.

Travel Overseas

Victorians, who are vacationing overseas, continue to sign the visitor's book in British Columbia House while visiting in London, England. Among recent signatures are those of Mr. and Mrs. John F. P. Manning, Mr. J. M. Porter, Mr. Don Cavers, Miss Wendy Pite, Mr. Michael E. Farquhar, Miss Diane Price, Mrs. Susan N. Belton, Mrs. J. D. Kinneard, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mee, the Misses Deanne Taylor and Prudence M. Cox. Other Vancouver Island residents who have registered are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sadd of Chemainus, and Mrs. G. Jack, Sidney.

Coffee Party

Floral arrangements in autumn tones decorated the guests' tables and rooms when the Esquimalt Chapter IODE held a coffee party Wednesday afternoon in Admiral's House, HMC Dockyard. The hostess, Mrs. Michael G. Stirling and regent, Mrs. C. A. Dodimead welcomed the guests to the affair which realized the sum of $170.

Presiding at the refreshment tables were Mrs. C. A. Kelly, Mrs. Hugh Creelman, Mrs. Don Smith, and Mrs. E. J. Davies, wives of Esquimalt school principals; Mrs. E. Lowthian, regent Municipal Chapter IODE, and Mrs. V. H. V. Shepperd, vice-president, Provincial Chapter IODE. Mrs. A. Warren Smith was convener.

Co-Hostesses

Gifts in a decorated laundry basket were presented to bride-elect Miss Lois Neufeld at a shower given by Mrs. W. G. Noonan and Miss Sally Noonan. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. J. Neufeld, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. V. Reed. Guests included Mrs. Marie Palfrey, Mrs. Grant Barker, Mrs. D. A. Fowler, Mrs. P. D. Noonan, the Misses Bonnie McMurchie, Sara Mattick, Rosie Neufeld, Gail Garnish, Daphne Grieves, Blondine Scriver and Heather McDonald.

Exquisite Gown of Lace Complemented With Roses

A heart-shaped bouquet of red roses and ivy was carried by Sandra Arlene Brown when she became the bride of Terrence Timms. Her floor-length gown of white lace was styled along empire lines. From a coronet of seed pearls, her veil misted to shoulder-length.

Rev. J. A. Roberts heard vows exchanged between the daughter of Capt. S. A. Brown and Mrs. Brown of Vancouver, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Timms, also of Vancouver, at the double-ring ceremony in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church.

Matron of honor Mrs. Paul Curtiss and bridesmaids, the Misses Sharon Timms and Joan Snell wore dresses of sapphire blue peau de soie. Mrs. Curtiss carried a bouquet of pink carnations and roses, and the bridesmaids carried cascades of pink carnations.

Paul Curtiss was best man. Guests were ushered to their pews by Ronald Foster and Ernie Moore.

Harry Hornby proposed the toast to the bride at the reception in the Olde England Inn. The head table featured the wedding cake, centred between silver candlelabra and the bouquets of the bride and her attendants.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose a green knit suit with matching hat and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

The couple is now living at 918 Green Street.

Princess Margaret at White House On Johnsons' Wedding Anniversary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson will have a double celebration Nov. 17 when they honor Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon at a White House dinner dance. It's also the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary.

The plans for the dinner are still in the making and the White House is skimpy on details. But it will be an elegant black tie affair with Washington women wearing their most glamorous gowns.

Although the president still will be recuperating from his gall bladder surgery, he is still expected to be the host at the dinner, but his usual desire to dance may be curtailed.

In that department, his youngest daughter, Luci, 18, will be the "go-go" swinger with the latest dances to match Princess Margaret's inclination toward the jet-set steps like the frug and the swim.

The president and Mrs. Johnson met Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon in Aug. 1962, when Johnson was vice-president and Princess Margaret represented the crown during a three-day celebration of Jamaican independence.

During the Jamaican celebration the Johnsons and the British couple were present at several celebrations and dances and the dramatic night-time ceremony when the Union Jack was pulled down and the Jamaican flag raised.

This is Princess Margaret's first visit to the United States. She arrives in San Francisco Nov. 4.

It's unofficial by protocol standards and is considered a private visit. But the schedule for her stay in Washington from Nov. 15 until the afternoon of Nov. 18 reads like the calendar of a head of state.

She will be on the go constantly with several social engagements, a reception given jointly by the Women's National Press Club and the National Press Club, and a wreath-laying on President John F. Kennedy's grave at Arlington Cemetery. There will be a tea at Mrs. Edward Kennedy's, wife of the Massachusetts senator, to meet the wives of the other senators, and even some Lady Byrd Johnson touches, such as a visit to welfare projects, and a tree-planting ceremony at the British Embassy.

Bazaar and Tea

Edward Longman, deputy supreme watchman of shepherds, will open the bazaar and tea to be held Saturday by the White Shrine of Jerusalem, Nazarene Shrine No. 1.

The affair, to be held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the K of P Hall, is being convened by Mrs. A. A. Waterworth and will feature stalls of aprons, fancywork, novelties and home cooking. Worthy high priestess, Mrs. F. A. Webb will receive the guests and Mrs. J. Hadden will be in charge of tea.

LIFE BEGINS AT 99

HALIFAX (CP) — After 15 years of total blindness, Bessie Saunders has chosen her 99th year to begin the long, slow process of learning braille.

Deaf since childhood and confined to a wheelchair since an accident 15 years ago, Miss Saunders recently celebrated her 99th birthday with "high hopes" of reaching her 100th.

She is able to speak herself, but can receive communications from others only by means of messages tapped out on her hands.

She finds that braille, knitting and singing Gilbert and Sullivan keep her "feeling better than I thought I would."

She still spends as much time as possible outdoors, and says her long life can be attributed to getting up early every morning and "never staying in a minute more than I had to."

Born in Halifax, she is a descendant of Sir Charles Saunders, Wolfe's admiral at the capture of Quebec in 1759.

Wife Offers Premier Advice at Opening

By ELSIE WORTHINGTON

Red-coated Mounties and women in autumn-toned ensembles vied for color with golden-leaved trees and bright green of clipped lawns of Ganges' new courthouse, set against the backdrop of beautiful Ganges Harbor.

The occasion was the official opening by Premier W. A. C. Bennett of the $250,000 provincial building in Ganges. Numerous government dignitaries were in attendance, as well as a large crowd of Salt Spring and other Gulf Islanders.

In the foyer a beautiful arrangement of exotic flowers brought exclamations of delight from visitors. Blooms of bird of paradise, hibiscus, orchids and other tropical flowers were brought from the greenhouses at Government House in Victoria for the occasion, as well as a large number of gorgeous potted chrysanthemums. Bunting and flags were everywhere, adding to the festive air.

Mrs. Bennett was there too, smartly attired in forest green knit suit, matching feather hat, white accessories and white corsage. Noted for her propensity for keeping in the background, she nevertheless had a finger in the opening pie.

"This is just a chat with neighbors," said the Premier in the opening ceremony. After extolling the virtues of Salt Spring Island, where he and Mrs. Bennett have a "hideaway home," he concluded his remarks: "My wife reminded me that I would be speaking to friends and should not talk too long."

Premier and Mrs. Bennett moved freely among the large throng of guests in the lower part of the building, improvised as a tearoom.

Ceremonies began at 2:30 p.m. By 4 p.m. all the pots of flowers, bunting and flags had been removed, and government agent A. M. (Buzz) Brown and his secretary, Mrs. Win Cartwright, were back to work again in their spacious new premises.

Autumn Theme Of Annual Bazaar

Arrangements of autumn leaves in Henderson Hall, Oak Bay, gave a harvest theme recently, when the Oak Bay Chapter, No. 42, Order of the Eastern Star, held their annual fall bazaar.

Mrs. R. Owens, Grand Chapter officer, opened the affair, convened by Mrs. Mary T. Hunter, which featured stalls of everything from home-cooking to fancy needlework.

Presiding at the refreshment tables were Mrs. T. Randall, Mrs. M. Buxton, Mrs. M. Fawcus, Mrs. Doris Danes, Mrs. Elsie Goddard and Mrs. D. Rodgers. Climax of the affair was a smorgasbord dinner, followed by films and a card party.

Still Attend Same Church

COUPLE WED 62 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Schroeder, 211 Government Street, will mark their 62 wedding anniversary on Thursday. They were married in James Bay Methodist Church in 1903 and still attend services there.

Mrs. Schroeder, the former Violet Emery, came from Sherbrook, P.Q., in March 1891 while her husband, formerly of Chestley, Ont., arrived here in March 1901.

The couple will celebrate their anniversary with a family dinner at the Princess Mary Restaurant. A special guest will be Mrs. Helen Ball, Vancouver, who was a bridesmaid at their wedding.

Also present will be the couple's four children, 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Their children are Mr. Frank E. Schroeder, Mr. Wilfred L. Schroeder and Mrs. Leslie H. Smith, all of Victoria, and Mrs. W. L. Kenyon, Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schroeder—married 62 years on Thursday.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Guest Speaker—An outline of the book, "The Municipal Act," was given by Mrs. H. I. McKenzie when she addressed the Sidney Business and Professional Women's Club at a recent meeting in the Dencross Terrace home of Mrs. W. Beswick. The book gives information about municipal laws and government, and it was announced that the Sidney BPW would study it during the year. Five delegates attended the Business Women's Week breakfast in the Empress Hotel Sunday and the following church service.

Bride Wears Gown of White Organza

Arrangements of chrysanthemums in rust and white tones decorated St. Peter's Anglican Church when Rev. Kenneth King heard vows uniting Darlene Gail Matte and John Warren Ingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matte, 467 Lampson Street, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Ingham, 150 Kamloops Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza. The bodice featured lily point sleeves with pearls accenting the neckline. Her scalloped veil misted to waist length from a jeweled headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. A rhinestone necklace and earrings, her only jewelry, was a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants, matron of honor Mrs. R. Bradley, bridesmatron Mrs. D. Swain, and bridesmaid Miss Yvonne Day wore sheath dresses of organza, styled with overskirts. They carried bouquets of carnations and roses in pink and white tones. Flowergirl Carrie Burke was in a dress of pink lace. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Walter Allison was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Rickey Matte and Allan Day.

Thomas Day proposed the toast to the bride at the reception in the Carlton Club, where the bride and groom cut a three-tier wedding cake that was decorated with white and yellow roses.

The couple will live at 4152 North Road following a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore.

For travelling, the bride wore a turquoise knit suit with beige accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

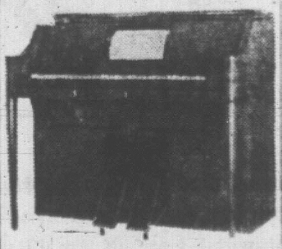
Hold Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunter and W. G. Ellis were special guests when the Dogwood Social Credit Women's Auxiliary held a luncheon in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. Guests were greeted by president Mrs. G. W. Cousens. Co-conveners were Mrs. E. Barker and Mrs. E. Godkin. The Capital City Women's Auxiliary were in charge of a home baking stall.

BE SMART—

Coco Chanel (some smart cooky!) advocates the dinner suit in lovely fabrics, and favors the color white. Which looks very "dressed-up," indeed. But it's not just for dinner. It's for the theatre, for a discotheque (maybe sans jacket?), for elegant nighttime visiting. Not necessarily Chanel, either. But an idea!

PIANOLA SPINET PLAYER PIANO



The new Pianola is the most revolutionary piano in a generation, the piano that every one can play.

You may pump the foot pedals, or turn on the switch and listen to all your favorite songs, or you may play the Pianola by hand.

The all-new Pianola is a triumph of modern engineering and design. You place your piano roll in position, turn on the switch, sit back and listen to the most beautiful music. At the end of the roll, it will rewind and shut off the switch automatically.

We can demonstrate a large selection of rolls to choose from, or just play it yourself.

Pianola comes with matching bench, 10 music rolls, 2 beginners' music books, 8 lessons for total cost $1,185, according to model.

'Loyalists' Gird For Strong Fight

A group of View Royal "loyalists" will step up its fight against union with Esquimalt.

Dr. R. W. Morgan, 2946 Tillicum, said today "after studying the Bracewell report we feel even more strongly that it is imperative to organize as a town and avoid amalgamation with Esquimalt."

Retired deputy minister of municipal affairs, B. C. Bracewell, was hired in August by Esquimalt and View Royal, to study amalgamation. He presented his report Monday recommending the union.

Dr. Morgan feels his group has the support of "an impressive number of View Royal residents including many from the so-called Panhandle area which originally supported the idea of of amalgamation."

He said the group agrees the question should be considered from more than just a financial standpoint.

"We agree that View Royal needs more planning and control. But we don't agree when he (Bracewell) says that forming a town would be uneconomic."

If Mr. Bracewell's terms of reference had included the study of View Royal as a town, he would not have made that statement, Dr. Morgan said.

"We wonder how he could make the statement since he didn't study the eventuality.

"He says we can't afford to incorporate as a town but our tentative budget shows that we can."

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Dr. Morgan questioned the "heavy program of capital expenditures" which Mr. Bracewell forecast.

"At any rate, amalgamate or not, the View Royal taxpayer will have to pay for the work under local improvements.

"And this tax will be additional to the 100 per cent increase in basic tax rate if we join."

Dr. Morgan said the town could pay for sewers, sidewalks, street paving and lighting out of general revenue surplus, and if necessary local improvement taxes, but without having to pay the increased basic mill rate.

Meanwhile, Gar Bulmer, chairman of the View Royal Ratepayers Association, said his group is studying the Bracewell report.

NOVEMBER MEETING

"When we're familiar with the facts we'll meet with Esquimalt, then we'll consult with the ratepayers in early November."

"I can tell you my major concern is that the area should organize one way or another—I don't particularly care how—but it is imperative it should organize," he said.

"If not, this place is going to be unlivable in another five years because it will be so far behind."

SFU Gets Grants

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Simon Fraser University has received its first set of grants from the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation. The foundation, established by retired lumber magnate Dr. Leon Koerner in 1955, announced the grants totalling $2,000 Tuesday.

NOTORIOUS gangland leader, Edward J. "Punchy" McLaughlin, 47, was shot and killed today, the 24th victim in a gangland war that has hit Greater Boston in the last 19 months. McLaughlin, wounded twice previously, is one of three brothers active in the underworld.

Burma Speeds Socialism

RANGOON (AP) — Burma's military government proclaimed a sweeping new law Monday to speed up socialism.

The law empowers the state to nationalize any private business, to take over any business temporarily, and to supervise trade and the transfer and movement of private businesses.

It also gives the government power to determine wholesale and retail prices of all commodities and the production cost of raw materials and finished products.

The government also will determine all wages.

City Losing Individuality?

Destroying historic buildings in Victoria can only be done at the cost of the city's individuality, Dr. Hugh Borsman, president of the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Foundation, said Tuesday.

"We are not only talking about single buildings, but a composite," he told the association's annual meeting.

"There are buildings of little significance, but even these, if destroyed and replaced by some of our so-called modern 20th century glass and chrome goldfish bowls, can permanently mar the whole area."

Dr. Borsman said the foundation must provide the leadership and also bolster support for orderly and systematic preservation of major portions of the downtown area.

"Apart from continuous vigilance this will possibly mean seeking legislation to protect these areas."

Dr. Borsman said buildings in Victoria are as significant to Canada's history as are the ancient buildings of Europe to its history.

He also outlined to the members the various projects which the foundation has been engaged in during the past year.

This included preparation of a booklet called Victorian Victoria, a professional study of historic buildings in the area prepared by architect Peter Cotton and illustrated by Arthur Whittingham.

Operators In Squeeze

KAMLOOPS (CP)—The Kamloops branch of the Automotive Retailers' Association says the oil strike is putting the squeeze on service station operators who are not involved in the strike. An ARA statement said the union has badgered the stations, despite owners' attempts to remain neutral.

20-Storey Residence

TORONTO (CP)—A 20-storey University of Toronto residence which would house 1,000 persons is to be built and operated by a student co-operative organization. It will cost $4,400,000.

PILL HARD ON DRINKER

LONDON (Reuters)—A birth control pill for men has been developed in the U.S., a Seattle research scientist, Dr. Carl Heller, said Tuesday night.

But, he told a meeting of 300 of Britain's leading birth control researchers, there is a snag. A man is likely to experience vomiting, anxiety and other side effects if he takes an alcoholic drink after taking the pill.

Heller, head of the division of reproductive physiology at the Pacific Northwest Research Foundation, said apart from the effect on drinkers, the pill is a splendid drug—cheap, efficient and non-poisonous.

IN SHOOTING DEATH

Inquest Waits New Witnesses

An inquest into a shooting death was adjourned Tuesday to enable six more witnesses to be heard.

The coroner's jury is hearing evidence concerning the death last Saturday of Arthur Davies, 50, of 5395 West Saanich Road. The adjournment is to 7:30 p.m. Monday in Saanich courtroom said Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre.

Dr. M. J. W. Penn Tuesday said he had been called to the Davies home and Mrs. Davies met him in the garden. She said she had been unable to wake her husband. He was sprawled on his bed.

The doctor said there was a wound on Mr. Davies' left temple. Mr. Davies was taken to hospital by ambulance where he died shortly before noon.

Dr. Penn said he had seen a .22 rifle propped up against a wall in the Davies bedroom. He said Mr. Davies, if sitting up in bed would have been unable to reach it.

Dr. K. R. Thornton, who had conducted an autopsy, said the visible wound had been caused by a .22 calibre bullet which entered the head. He called it a "contact wound."

Dr. Thornton said the bullet wound would normally result in immediate unconsciousness but it would be possible for a person so injured to retain consciousness and mobility for a short time.

He said the wound was characterisic of a self-inflicted wound.

Saanich Constable A. H. Clarke gave evidence that he tested the rifle but found no fingerprints on it. He said this is "normal" on a gun with an oiled stock and a blued barrel.

Sergeant Les Ledson, who arrived on the scene shortly after Dr. Penn, said he saw Mr. Davies lying on the bed and blood stains on the floor nearby.

Det.-Sgt. Robin Stewart asked Sgt. Ledson about some bloodstains found on the floor near the foot of the bed.

Sgt. Ledson said that he could not "see," from the position in which he saw Mr. Davies' body on the bed, how the bloodstains got on the floor where they were found.

Before the inquest got under way Tuesday night, lawyer Dermod Owen-Flood, who has been retained by the widow of Mr. Davies, tried to have it held "in camera" (closed to press and public.)

Mr. St. Jorre said the law encourages publicity in such matters "to let the public know the matter is being investigated." He refused the application.

History Group Names Officers

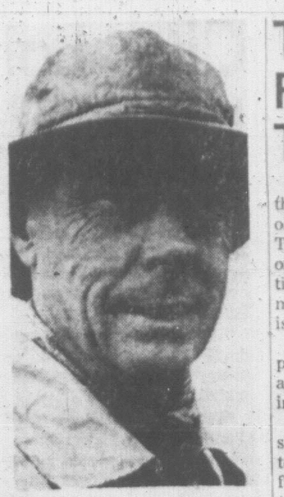
New officers for the Greater Victoria Historic Building Foundation were elected Tuesday.

New executive council members are Lt.-Cmdr. Geoffrey Hilliard, W. Graham, Mrs. J. Andrews and I. Gerard.

Re-eelcted to the foundation's board of trustees were Mayor R. B. Wilson, Maj. H. Cuthbert Holmes, Hugh R. Stephen, James R. Genge, Harold B. Elworthy, Douglas R. Abbott, Mrs. Massy Goolden, Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton, Willard E. Ireland, Ian Ross, Mrs. Sheila Anderson and Gerald Wellburn.

42 Workers to Arrive

VANCOUVER (CP) — A vanguard of 42 skilled workers will be greeted by Immigration Minister Nicholson when they arrive here Thursday from the United Kingdom. The workmen are the first in a stepped-up federal program to bring skilled emigrants from other countries.



IN HOSPITAL with another eye eye ailment today is the Duke of Windsor, 71. He was admitted to Institute of Opthalmology at New York's Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Centre. Surgery speculation is unconfirmed. His third eye operation took place last March.

Pedestrian Barricades Recommended

Pedestrian barricades should be installed on Douglas at the entrance to Centennial Square, Victoria ciy council traffic committee recommended Tuesday.

Metal-crafted rails previously discussed for erection at the end of Cormorant Street would be designed to discourage use of pedestrian crossings over Douglas Street, where traffic flow is heavy.

The move, if endorsed by city council, would reject a petition by 23 businessmen in the area who wish the formerly marked crossings to be replaced.

IMPLIED

Provincial statute declares that any street intersection implies a pedestrian crossing, whether or not it is marked by painted lines.

Council, through the Union of B.C. Municipalities, is trying to have legislation amended to enable aldermen to cancel a crosswalk.

Meanwhile, the barriers are proposed to try to keep people from stepping off the curb at this point.

"It is a shame there is no (marked) crosswalk there," Ald. A. W. Toone said, asking that it be made clear that council reasoning is based strictly on traffic.

"The reasons should be clearly pointed out" to the petitioners, he said.

Ticket Fixer Tagged

TORONTO (CP)—A clerk in the magistrate's office at the old city hall here was sentenced Tuesday to six months in jail on a charge of obstructing justice by destroying traffic summonses he was supposed to reissue.

George Miller, 27, who pleaded guilty to the charge, also received six months indefinite.

Miller and two other men, one still awaiting trial, are alleged to have collected about $8,000 from motorists who had their tickets "fixed."

Douglas George Henderson was sentenced to a year last Sept. 16 for his part in the three-man racket.

Sydney Winick, an insurance agent, faces a similar charge Nov. 25.

Crown evidence said Miller got about $40 a week from the racket.

1 Killed; 43 Injured

Medics Prescribe Halt To Student Brain-Drain

By MICHAEL GILLAN

OTTAWA (CP)—An improvement in doctorate and post-doctorate facilities might reduce the brain drain to the United States of Canadians qualified to teach basic medical sciences, according to a study conducted by the Association of Canadian Medical Colleges.

The preliminary study, prepared by D. G. Fish and Mrs. Charlotte de Hesse of the association's research staff, found a "very apparent relationship between geographic mobility during training and migration loss" after.

Based on answers to questionnaires returned by three-quarters of 1,352 recipients of masters or doctorate degrees under supervision of a medical school between 1946 and 1963, the study says a previous report for the Hall royal commission on health services underestimates the problem of supplying enough teachers.

Describing the effect of Canadians studying in the United States, the study said that 47 per cent of Canadians questioned who received further training in the U.S. now are living below the border. This contrasts with the 15 per cent of those trained entirely in Canada who now are in the U.S.

NEED OPPORTUNITIES

This relationship indicates that "if we can provide more attractive opportunities for doctorate and post doctorate studies the probability of keeping these people after graduation may be much higher."

It said even allowing for those still training who might return, an estimated minimum brain loss in these fields is 34 per cent.

About 70 per cent of the degree holders still reside in Canada, while 23 per cent are in the United States, two per cent in Britain and five per cent in other foreign countries. Migration rates for doctorate holders was four per cent higher than for those with only masters degrees.

Canada's net migration loss is reduced by an increasing number of foreign students who study here and remain to work afterwards. During the period Canada lost 76 basic science Ph.D's and gained 59, leaving a net loss of 17.

Of the Ph.d's questioned, only 34 per cent were in teaching positions in Canada, a finding the study says rejects a common assumption that most persons holding a doctorate enter the academic community.

Further study is needed to learn whether this is caused by factors such as money, intellectual freedom, research opportunities or prestige.

PROMINENT CHURCHMAN and civic leader of Ogden, Utah, Elder William J. Critchlow, will lead a membership conference session for the six member branches of the Church of Latter Day Saints on Vancouver Island at 7 p.m., Friday, in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints' Chapel, 2990 Quadra Street. Assistant to the Council of Twelve Apostles since 1958, Mr. Critchlow, described as a "general authority" on the church, will give an "inspirational" message at the conference. The conference will be open to non-members of the Church of Latter Day Saints as well as members.

Erie Flows Into Michigan

Ogden Point traffic flow will be improved by the realignment of the St. Lawrence and Michigan intersection.

The project was approved Tuesday by Victoria city council's traffic committee.

The Michigan St. work will line it up with Erie where it crosses St. Lawrence.

Michigan is being developed as the major east-west route through James Bay, following the over-all plan of a capital region traffic survey.

At this point it would have a gentle curve, replacing two T intersections caused by Erie and Michigan entering St. Lawrence about half a block apart.

Michigan will swing southward to meet Erie provided Erie is moved northward by cutting off a corner of city-owned land at Fisherman's Wharf.

Erie would then become a continuation of Michigan extending to Dallas Road near Victoria Machinery Depot.

Red Newsman Says Police Robbed Train

LONDON (AP)—A Moscow radio commentator says the British secret service staged Britain's great train robbery to finance its spending.

Commentator Boris Belitsky says this is the only logical explanation. He derides the idea that so complicated a crime could have been planned by common criminals.

The great train robbery, Britain's most spectacular crime of the century, was staged in August, 1963. With military precision, a gang ambushed a London-bound train and escaped with more than £2,500,000 ($7,500,000) in currency.

Barely a tenth of the cash has been recovered. Twelve men were sent to prison, but two since have escaped. Other members of the gang still are at large.

Belitsky, a frequent visitor to London and who is well known on British television here, says his explanation is based on disclosures by a British government official. This is the commentator's version.

The secret service foresaw that the Labor party would win the 1964 general election.

"Apprehensive lest the Labor government should impose some checks on secret service spending, the service planned and directed this £2,500,000 robbery to pay for its cloak-and-dagger activities."

Ukrainian Exile Dies In U.S.

NEW YORK (CP) — Dr. Stephen Wytwytsky, 81, since 1954 president of the Ukranian National Republic in exile, died Monday in hospital.

The government in exile, which seeks to free and make independent the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic, part of the Soviet Union, has its headquarters in Munich. Wytwytsky, who lived in New York, frequently went to Munich and other countries as head of the republic in exile.

Boy, 11, Charged

VANCOUVER (CP)—An 11-year-old boy was charged with reckless driving and careless driving following a wild seven-block chase in Vancouver during the weekend. Police said Monday the boy, driving his father's car, went through three stop signs and sideswiped a parked car. He reached speeds of 50 miles an hour.

AS BASE FOR NATIONAL MEDICARE

Doctor-Sponsored Plans 'Answer'

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. R. O. Jones of Halifax, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said Tuesday any national medical care program must ensure the continued freedom of patient and doctor and allow for improved quality of care before it will be accepted by the medical profession.

Dr. Jones, addressing the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Medical Association, pledge the support of the profession towards the establishment of an acceptable plan.

"The right of any patient or doctor in Canada to receive or give medical care outside the plan, without loss of any benefits that the patient has paid for—an arrangement pertaining to most physician - sponsored plans—cannot be over emphasized," Dr. Jones said.

He said this right is essential if the plan is to receive the cooperation of Canadian doctors.

Dr. Jones said the national medical care plan proposed by Prime Minister Pearson will increase the work load of the practising doctor to such an extent that it will be impossible for him to do his best for the patient.

Dr. A. F. Peart, deputy general secretary of the CMA, told the annual meeting that only low-income families should be included in the federal medical care program.

The money necessary to implement a compulsory, universal scheme as proposed by the government could be better used for medical education and research, he said.

Saskatchewan doctors in 1962 objected to provisions that would have forced them to work under the provincial medical care scheme and to the compulsory nature of the scheme. In a compulsory scheme, all citizens must register as beneficiaries and contribute to tax support of the scheme.

Dr. Jones said doctors hold strong views about how medical care programs should be set up "not because we wish to extra-bill patients,"

INTEGRATION OF SERVICES

Other Countries Watch

MONTREAL (CP) — Defence Minister Paul Hellyer said Monday that if Canada's new integrated armed forces system works, other countries will follow suit.

Mr. Hellyer was speaking in suburban Longueuil at an inauguration ceremony of Canada's first mobile command.

He said the amalgamation of Canada's forces is getting a thorough inspection from military men around the world.

"This is a first for Canada. No other nation's tried it. Consequently, every one of them is keenly interested in seeing if we can make it work. I'd say most of the countries are pulling for us, but some of them are scared as rabbits; they know that if it works they'll have to integrate their own forces."

The integration of Canada's forces began two years ago. Today Ottawa headquarters is fully integrated and mobile command is within a few months of being in full swing.

"There's no truth to the rumor that this is a 10-year plan. We're moving and moving fast.

"All six commands will be fully integrated by this time next year, and all should be functioning efficiently as part of a tri-service force within two years."

Nun to Wed Abductor

PALERMO, Sicily (Reuters) —A 24-year-old Roman Catholic nun kidnapped from a convent in Palermo Sunday night said Monday she plans to marry her abductor. Sister Paolina said a "bond of sympathy" had arisen between herself and Rosario Vaglica, 24, a plasterer, when he came to do repairs at her convent four months ago and she agreed when he proposed to stage a kidnapping.

BAY RUM LINKED TO DEATHS

VANCOUVER (CU) — Two men were found dead Tuesday, each with seven empty bay rum bottles in his room.

Donald Tomlinson, 55, was found dead in his room in a skid road hotel. An autopsy established he died of degeneration of the liver, and a lung condition.

William Jackson, 65, was found in his room at a rooming house. An autopsy was to be held.

Sales of bay rum on Vancouver's skid road have been criticized by city councillors.

'I Didn't Mean to' Says Murder Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roger Fulton, accused of the murder of trust company manager Jan Kelderman, testified Tuesday he did not intend to kill the man.

Fulton, 24, testified at his Assize Court trial his intention was only to rob the trust company office.

"I didn't think anyone would try to take the gun from me, or refuse to give me the money when they saw the gun," Fulton said.

"I never at any time intended to kill anyone."

Kelderman, died May 19, in an abortive holdup of a Commonwealth Trust Co., office.

Mrs. Joan McLeod, a receptionist, at the office, testified that a gun went off when Kelderman and the accused man scuffled near Kelderman's desk.

"After that the gunman backed away from Mr. Kelderman, took aim and fired," she said.

The trial is expected to conclude today.

Volcano Erupts

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Pacaya volcano erupted Tuesday night, showering towns near this capital with rocks and ashes. Guatemala is a tiny Central American republic. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Teachers Reject Salary Boost; Want Double

A salary raise offered by the Greater Victoria School Board was rejected Tuesday night as too low by a three-man delegation of teachers from the district.

The teachers claimed the board's offer is less than half of the requested increase.

At a meeting last week with the board and B.C. School Trustees Association negotiator Joe Miyazawa, they demanded a salary increase of 10 per cent for 1966 and increases to supervisors' pay.

The board's counter-proposal featured increases of slightly less than half of those requested by the teachers, and with lower yearly increments.

Teachers' spokesman Gerald Guest expressed "shock, indignation and concern" at the board's proposal.

MORE TAXES?

Board's calculations showed supervisors' increases would go as high as 48 per cent in some cases according to the teachers' demands. They would also add over $700,000 to the district's salary budget, and an estimated three mills on property taxes.

Teachers, however, claimed last night the board's counter-proposal went as low as two and three per cent for salary increases.

Negotiations will continue between teachers and the board at a later date.

'Good Homes' Producing Delinquents

Most juvenile delinquents here come from good homes in which only one parent is working, Detective Lyle Somers said Tuesday night.

In an Oaklands PTA panel discussion the Victoria detective said most young law-breakers do not, as is often thought, come from broken homes and homes with working mothers.

He said "juvenile delinquency" is a catch-all phrase becoming harder to define in a world of rapid social change.

"Perhaps we could best say," he told the crowded auditorium, "that a juvenile delinquent is a young person in need of counsel and guidance."

NO SINGLE CAUSE

Clyde Pope, University of Victoria sociology professor, said there is no single cause of juvenile delinquency. Its solution though, is up to everyone.

"There are many perspectives to the problem," said Mr. Pope, "though all are useful to its study."

Mr. Pope was sure of one thing.

"The serious interest of parents in a child is the important factor in his emotional and social health."

Other panelists, principal Clive Kelly, Rev. Albert King and Mrs. Albert Calder spoke about the causes, prevention and correction of juvenile delinquency.

Teacher Excused Bible Reading

A teacher at S. J. Willis Junior Secondary School has been excused from reading Bible scripture to his students because he feels they are meaningless without explanation.

Jonathan Woods, 4589 Scarborough, said he believes his students don't understand the readings because many of the words are archaic.

The Public Schools Act requires the opening of all schools by a scripture reading "without explanation or comment," but a teacher or a student may be excused from the readings for conscientious objections.

The school board granted the teacher's request without comment Monday night, but the question arose today as to who would read the scripture if the teacher has been excused.

S. J. Willis principal H. R. Dawson said today he did not know if the scripture was being read to Mr. Wood's class and he would not make any moves until he receives some direction from the school board.

"There is nothing in the Public Schools Act to cover a situation like this," he said.

District superintendent John Gough said it is up to the principal of the school to appoint another member of the staff to take over the scripture reading when a teacher has been excused.

"The students are not deprived of anything," he said. "The only one who is out of it is the teacher."

Found In Cabin

KASLO, B.C. (CP)—The body of Alexander "Sandy" Masson, 64, of Poplar, B.C., in the Lardeau area, was found by RCMP in an abandoned cabin with a gunshot wound in the head, Tuesday. Mr. Masson had been missing from his home since Saturday. A gun was found lying near the body.

'JUST STAGGERING'

Water Export Plan Too Wild For Williston

By JOHN MIKA

B.C. Water Resources Minister Ray Williston today said the current election debate on water export is a mirage.

This province would have to veto the proposed continental water diversion scheme or else consent to drown almost one-fifth of its area including scores of cities, towns and villages, whole highway systems, railway lines, half a dozen pulp mills and most of the forests supplying them.

"It's just staggering and I don't think that many people have taken a map and even tried to visualize what would happen to B.C.," Mr. Williston said.

"Everything that has been said so far is so nebulous and so preliminary that you can't get your teeth into it or even begin to understand what it is they are talking about," he said in an interview.

MAIN PROJECT

He said there were some aspects of the American-sponsored continental water diversion scheme that could be taken seriously but the main project it advocates is "simply ludicrous and one I can't even talk about seriously."

And if Mr. Williston can't talk about it seriously, nobody can because the main project of the scheme depends on his agreement.

This would use the Peace and associated rivers to flood the entire Rocky Mountain Trench, back up the upper Fraser River and divert the resultant 78-million-acre-feet of storage water down through the Columbia River and eventually to the west and southwest regions of the U.S.

FLOOR CITIES

Mr. Williston said he was staggered by the off-hand way in which the planners have merely looked at topographical maps in outlining the project without taking into account the B.C. communities — from the city of Prince George to the village-sized Windermere—that would be flooded.

"It would flood Quesnel. Prince George, McBride and all those places up there, at least three pulp mills in that area alone, all the railway lines from the Alberta boundary to Prince George and all the roads as well.

"It would back up the upper Fraser and flood a great deal of land there, and forever damage the salmon spawning grounds — something we have never allowed our own people to do—yet it would be done for Americans.

"It also would create a tremendous lake that would wipe out everything in the East Kootenay, cut the CPR transcontinental line at Golden, flood Golden, Windermere and all the communities along there."

ENTIRE FLOW

Mr. Williston said the United States has subsatntial water resources of its own on the Snake and Columbia River systems at higher elevations which it could tap for consumption by California instead of using the entire flow for power generation as it does now.

"I think it is incumbent upon the U.S. to make full use of its own water before trying to make a storage area out of someone else," he said.

However, he said the lesser projects proposed in the continental scheme would divert McKenzie River water through the Saskatchewan River-Lake Winnipeg system to the Great Lakes and also divert into the St. Lawrence, Ontario and Quebec streams now flowing to James Bay.

This aspect could be considered seriously and may be what Prime Minister Pearson was referring to in his suggestion that talks may be undertaken with the U.S.

HANDS EMPTY

"However, Mr. Pearson has not said what exactly he is referring to and I, as minister in charge of water resources for this province, have not been contacted about any of this," said Mr. Williston.

"There is nothing in my hands to which I could make intelligent reply."

$80,000 Suit In Car Death

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The death here of a 21-year-old Vancouver, B.C. bride on a honeymoon was resulted in an $80,000 lawsuit being filed against two Olympia women.

Melvin F. Fuol, administrator of the estate of Carole Ann Birch, and the dead woman's husband, Robert, both of Vancouver, filed the suit against Marjorie Suzanne Hyatt and her mother, Marjorie Hyatt.

The suit charges negligence on the part of Marjorie Hyatt, who was driving a car that was involved in a collision last Sept. 7, with the Birch's automobile at an Olympia intersection.

Robert Birch, driver of the small car in which his bride was killed, was treated at hospital here the day of the accident, then released.

Deep Cove Girl Wins 4-H Award

A 14-year-old Deep Cove girl won the Saanich 4-H Home Arts Club achievement award for winning the most points in year-round club work.

Heather Lord was presented with the Lakehill Women's Institute trophy at an awards day tea held at St. Stephen's Church hall Sunday.

Corinne Jack, 12, received the junior achievement trophy awarded by the Royal Oak Women's Institute.

Other honors were won by Selina Kelly, club home design award; June Simmonds, Karen Cronk judging trophy; Heather Lord, Sidney Kinette dress review trophy.

The Jean Adams trophy for the best record book was won by Karen Marshall.

Senior proficiency certificates were presented to: Sylvia Fox, Heather Lord, June Simmonds, Dorothy Kennedy, Betty Ann Saville, Pauline Marshall.

Demonstration certificates: June Simmonds and Selina Kelly.

Junior demonstration badges: Corinne Jack and Betty Jeffrey.

Members presented the three club leaders — Mrs. Douglas Jack, Mrs. Stan Lord and Mrs. K. Cronk—each with lapel pins and corsages.

Comedy Scheduled For Nov. 9-13

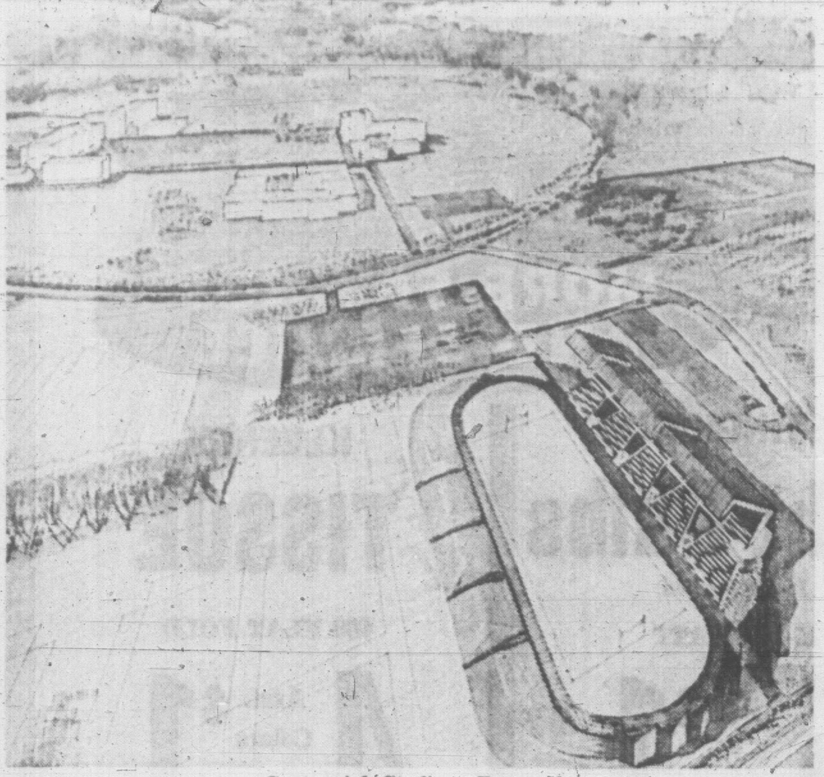
The play is one of two shows presented each year by the group.

Members of the cast will include Helen Phillips, Marilyn Norman, Gladys Higgins, Doris Exton, Stanley Bowles, Ted Gaskell, Robert Kimber, James Dulmage, Frank Allen, Gerry Norman and Warren George.

The director is Bill Howard.



Centennial Stadium Proposal

FOUR COUNCILS ENTHUSED

Uvic Stadium Plan Meets Approval

University of Victoria Tuesday struck a sympathetic chord with municipal representatives in offering a home for a centennial stadium.

Spokesman for four councils were enthused with the plan and Uvic president Malcolm Taylor hoped detailed planning will begin Thursday.

A project development committee consisting of about five local and four university delegates will be set up immediately.

Councils meanwhile will be asked to endorse formally the proposal for a joint stadium project, for which some $430,000 in government centennial grants plus municipal contributions could be available.

Greater Victoria councils were invited to the university to hear a proposal for building a stadium in the northwest corner of Gordon Head campus.

LARGE MEETING

About 36 persons representing Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt councils attended. Interest on behalf of Central Saanich was expressed although due to a regular council meeting no delegate attended the Uvic meeting.

The proposed stadium, which would be the gift of Greater Victoria to the university, would lie in the Saanich portion of Gordon Head campus, which straddles the Saanich-Oak Bay boundary.

It was agreed by delegates the stadium would meet community and university needs for years to come, covering both athletic and non-sporting events. Among the first of these might be the RCMP musical ride, coming here next Sept. 9 and 10 for the B.C. union centenary, and the 1967 Canadian military tatoo.

A stadium site has been in university planning since 1961, but priorities to other development would postpone development for years without the chance to use centennial funds.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox, Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis and Esquimalt Coun. Gerald Horne, together with president Taylor, discussed the plan after its formal presenation behind closed doors.

The mayor and reeves or their delegates will form the municipay section of the development committee, including the centennial committee secretary.

"HAPPY COMPROMISE"

Reeve Curtis called the proposal "a very happy compromise." (Saanich previously proposed its own concept of a Greater Victoria centennial stadium at Burnside and Trans-Canada Highway. Victoria also suggested a stadium, at Topaz Park.)

"I think council was most enthused," Mayor Wilson remarked, "both with the location and plan offered. It will serve not only the community but the university."

Coun. Horne said the proposed Uvic facility will "reach into the community."

Asked if he thought the money available would be sufficient, Dr. Taylor said:

"It looks as if a 3,000-seat stadium can be built for this amount of money."

A concept prepared by Uvic consulting architect R. W. Siddall Associates proposes use of earth fill from other campus development as a means of creating a stadium enclosure on which seating could be arranged. The plan also includes a section of covered grandstand.

Its location would be near Gordon Head Road adjacent to parking areas for 1,000 cars that would fill university needs during class hours.

Plane Misses Highway

DRYDEN, Ont. (CP) — Three American fishermen escaped injury Tuesday night when their light aircraft crashed into a swamp while attempting to land on Trans-Canada Highway 14 miles east of here.

64 SCHOLARSHIPS

Young Painters Rewarded

Young artists in the Victoria area have been rewarded for a summer of work in the Painting in the Parks program.

Local youngsters, aged six through 16, were among recipients of 64 scholarships and awards, announced in Vancouver.

Award winners receive scholarships to next summer's Painting in the Parks classes, which had a total enrolment of over 1,000 children throughout B.C.

Winners' pictures are on display in the Children's Gallery of the Vancouver Art Gallery until Nov. 6.

The program is sponsored by the Federation of Canadian Artists.

Local winners are: Jan Harper, 6, 2100 Allenby; Gillian McCulloch, 7, 196 HMC Dockyard; Frances Piper, 7, 4451 Narvaez Crescent; Nicholas Vale, 7, 546 Linden; Annette den Hoed, 7, 591 Baker; Darlene Norris, 8, 174 Bushby; Carla Wilson, 3391 Veteran; Paul Wainwright, 9, 2800 Somass; Michael Belknap, 12, 360 Douglas; Judy Thomson, 12, 7049 W. Bloodless Bond Seen In Russian 007 Book

SOFIA (Reuters) — James Bond 007 emerges "unscathed" from his encounter with Soviet spy hero Avakoum Zakhov in a new thriller by Andrei Gulyashki, the Soviet author told the Bulgarian news agency BTA Tuesday.

Gulyashki told the Soviet newspaper Literary Gazette earlier this month the book, pitting Bond against Zakhov, should serve as a "guide for socialist ideas and to help educate young people." It will be released next year.

"James Bond will act in accordance with the logic of his nature in an absolutely new environment. Both heroes will stay unscathed," Gulyashki said.

Speaking of Bond's personality, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda last month described him as a sadistic rapist and a successor to Nazi war criminals.

The Soviet author intends his new book as "an antidote" to the James Bond novels of the late Ian Fleming, BTA said.

ILLNESS HITS THREE LEADING SHOW PEOPLE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three show business personalities—Ed Sullivan, Desi Arnaz and William Holden—were in the same hospital Monday for tests and observation.

A Cedars of Lebanon hospital spokesman gave this account:

Sullivan, television master of ceremonies, entered the hospital Sunday with gastroenteritis—stomach inflammation.

Band leader-actor Arnaz was admitted Monday with cholecystitis, or inflammation of the gall bladder. Surgery is a possibility, the spokesman said.

Actor Holden entered Monday with a fever of still-undetermined origin.

Koreans Using City-Donated Dental Equipment

Dental and eye-testing equipment from Victoria is now operating in Korea.

The equipment was collected by the Rotary Club of Victoria in response to an appeal by Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova of the Unitarian Service Committee. It was shipped to the east aboard HMCS Mackenzie earlier this year.

The equipment was obtained in the city with the help of Dr. W. W. McLuhan and opthalmologist Dr. J. T. Cruise.

The Seoul Rotary Club reports the equipment has been distributed to a dental school and an eye oellege.

BRIDGE LESSON

By JACOBY and SON

Jacoby Sr. starts off today's discussion:

Oswald: "The American team deserves a lot of credit for holding Italy for the first two days of the match but it looks as if they really collapsed on the last day."

Opening lead—♠ 2

Jim: "Yes. They also had some tough luck in that close decisions seemed to go against them. Look at our North-South bidding of today's hand as shown in the box."

Oswald: "South actually gave East and West the full treatment. He shut them out of their winning three no-trump contract and jockeyed them into five clubs which would have been set one trick. Unfortunately North went to five diamonds which was doubled. Then the Italians defended perfectly. The opening club was won by East's ace. He returned a heart and South had to lose a heart ruff in addition to the king of hearts and three aces."

Jim: "It is mighty easy to sit here and criticize, but I really doubt if North would have bid that five diamonds the first day of the match."

Oswald: "At the other table our East player really must have had buck fever. His partner made a vulnerable spade overcall, whereupon he found the courage to bid two clubs."

Jim: "South jumped to three diamonds. West and North passed, whereupon East studied a while and passed also. Off hand, I would say that he was about as cautious as the man who checked to find that there was no train due for six hours before he dared cross the tracks."

EQUITY
CAN MEAN
CASH IN YOUR HAND

That investment you have in your home is an asset in more ways than one. You qualify for the Associates' Home Owner's Loan Plan. Under this plan, you may borrow from $2,000 to $20,000 on the equity you've built up. The interest rate is reasonable. There are no hidden charges or obscure clauses. You completely repay the loan in equal monthly instalments over a period of up to 10 years. There are no "balance" or "balloon" payments. Interest is computed monthly on the unpaid balance. This means that each payment you make reduces the amount of interest you pay.

There are 101 reasons why you might need cash — financing a university education, buying a second car, remodelling your home. Keep the Associates' Home Owner's Plan in mind.

The Associates is one of Canada's largest financing firms with branch offices in principal cities across the country.

141 MORTGAGE LOANS AND INSURANCE

DRIVE BY AND SEE FOR YOURSELF THE SECURITY REPRESENTED IN THE VARIOUS PROPERTIES LISTED BELOW (PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB THE OCCUPANTS). Should you be interested in the mortgage investment offered, call Mr. Jones: EV 5-2226 or EV 4-5112 and he will give further particulars to you or your solicitor and/or arrange for an inspection of he interiors. Those immediately following are 1st mortgages.

326 Ker Ave., nr. Gorge Rd. and Tillicum. $7,500 req'd at $75 per month inc. 7½%. Home sold for $10,950. 4 bedrooms, basement.

41 Oswego St., James Bay, present owner paid $12,000 for this property 8 years ago. $8,000 now req'd at $80 per month inc. 7½% interest.

3240 Richmond, (nr. Hillside), an excellent district, little home would sell for about $7,500 in this area. $5,000 req'd at $50 per month including 7½%.

We also require a short term (1 year) 1st mortgage in the amount of $12,500 on a number of vacant lots, mostly NHA, located all over Greater Victoria. The cost of these properties represents a total of slightly over $17,000, (our cost) and would constitute an excellent security for an investor not wishing to tie up his money for a longer period. We will pay 8% on this security.

We also have second mortgages as follows, with discounts.

$1,700 cash buys $2,100, payable at $25 per month inc. 7½% interest on little 4-room house near Town & Country Shopping Centre.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The tale of four cities will be an integral part of a special Canadian School Telecasts series beginning Thursday, Oct. 28 at 10 a.m. on the CBC-TV network.

Cities and their Challenge is the overall series title as the program examines geographical reasons for the development of Vancouver, Montreal, Edmonton and Toronto.

Stephen

The first program, subtitled What Is a City, deals with the geographical, economic, political, human and chance circumstances that cause a city to be born, grow and thrive.

The second program, Vancouver: West Coast City, on Nov. 4, shows how the city is blessed with geographical factors no other Canadian city enjoys.

It has the warmest climate; is nestled close to the mountains; is built partly on a river delta close to a rich alluvial plain, and is part of a prosperous province.

The Nov. 18 program, Montreal: Gateway to Canada, traces its French origin and its relationship to the mineral and natural resources riches of the Canadian Shield which have helped it become Canada's largest city, and its most cosmopolitan.

Edmonton: Gateway to the North is the subject of the Nov. 25 program. It shows why it is one of the fastest growing cities in the country, despite its cold because of rich soil and, above all, oil, coal and natural gas resources.

The final program, Toronto: Hub of Industry, will be seen Dec. 2.

The program will discuss the reasons for Toronto becoming the industrial centre of Ontario.

* * *

One of the big reasons for the success of the new one-hour long series "I Spy" will have to be the tremendous dramatic performances of guest stars.

The first program offered a Negro guest star, Ivan Dixon, who gave a memorable performance as a celebrated Olympic athlete who defects to the Red Chinese.

Another early-season episode used Philip Ahn as an elderly Chinese merchant who wants the two stars, Robert Culp and Bill Cosby, to deliver a million dollars in back taxes to the U.S. so he can die in honorable poverty on Formosa.

On Monday, songstress Eartha Kitt gave a surprisingly strong performance as a drug addict complicating the machinations of the shows two heroes. She was simply great.

Add to these merits the on-location shooting in Hong Kong and future episodes planned for Japan and Mexico and it adds up to a strong contender for season honors.

"WE TRADE HOMES"

EXECUTIVE HOME $5,000 DOWN

I have been asked to sell this lovely 3-bedroom home. Designed for the growing family, the living room is a beauty with fireplace. Separate entertainment-size dining room. Delightful kitchen with loads of cabinets plus eating area. Bedrooms are twin size. The rumpus room in the full basement is a real beauty. Perfect seclusion in the large backyard. Quality throughout. $24,500. To view, call JEAN SOUTHWELL, 385-6741.

HAPPINESS IS An Automatic Dishwasher

WHAT IS HAPPINESS TO YOU? Maybe walking on a wall-to-wall carpet in your bare feet — maybe a warm open fireplace — an electric garage door — air conditioning or a spectacular view from the sundeck. Here you have all these things in this fine, near new, three-bedroom home. Also has a beautifully finished rumpus room with raised hearth fireplace and bar. Plumbed for washer, dryer, and two bathrms. Asking price $23,900. Phone M. SMITH, EV 5-6741.

SIDE BY SIDE DUPLEX

Just 3 years old, this stucco duplex has a living room, dining room, electric kitchen and 4-pce bath. Full basement, extra bedroom down. O-matic. Close in. Open to offers. Always rented. Full price $23,900. Call DORIS ADAMS, EV 5-6741 anytime.

THREE-YEAR-OLD 2-BEDROOM, SIDE-BY-SIDE DELUXE DUPLEX. CLOSE IN. BARGAIN AT $22,500 WITH $5,000 DOWN. CALL RUTH McIVER OR H. PLEWES AT EV 5-6741 ANYTIME.

POSSIBLE V.L.A. VIEW ROYAL

Situated on 1.5 acres, a 3-bedroom home with oil-o-matic heat. Large living room with fireplace and as an extra bonus a cottage which can be rented. Asking $17,000. View by appointment only. For further information call JESSIE McGRATH or JOAN O'CONNOR, EV 5-6741 or Eves. 479-3982.

OAK BAY 5 Bedrooms, 2 Bathrooms

A charming, well-kept family home. Large, bright living room with fireplace. L-shape dining room. Lovely cabinet kitchen, full basement with 2 bedrooms and 3-pce bath. Situated on a large lot close to schools and shops. $15,750. Call JEAN SOUTHWELL, EV 5-6741.

SACRIFICE GORGE WATERFRONT

Vendor says must sell so price has been slashed to $14,000. An attractive home with lovely view and a complete suite in the basement. This would be ideal for anyone wishing to keep a boat as there is a good sheltered mooring. A real steal and should not last long at this price. To view please call JOAN O'CONNOR or JESSIE McGRATH, EV 5-6741.

OAK BAY 3 BEDROOMS

Location doesn't mean everything—but it certainly helps and this older, 3-bedroom, basement bungalow is ideally located on a quiet street in Oak Bay. The owner has purchased and is open to cash offers or terms.

Asking $10,900

For full particulars and appointments to view, call JOHN NEFF, EV 5-6741.

A LIVING AND LIVABILITY

A ready made thriving up-to-date fish and chip shop in a highly rated business district earning about $125 per week net. Present owner must leave the business against his wishes because of illness and is prepared to consider all offers for his business and home which is only 5 minutes walk from the shop. The home is a 2-bedroom bungalow in an excellent location, nicely landscaped and just a stones throw from the shop. It too is spick and span and right up to the minute in all aspects. The business at present only operates 5 days a week, but could be increased with better hours. This is a real opportunity and should be investigated immediately. With $5,000 cash you could operate your own business and acquire a really comfortable home as well. Don't forget — trades, mortgages or even all cash will be considered or each may be sold separately. Price for everything as described

RETIRE HERE

I spent most of the week before last showing an Ontario client some 2-bedroom, no basement retirement homes in varied price ranges. After they found the one they wanted I received some more calls to my "wanted" ad that had been running in the paper. This is one.
It's an older home, but exceptionally clean and well kept. Nice and warm, easily and economically heated, without cold drafts. Yes, 2 nice bedrooms, cozy living room, all immaculate floors, up to date kitchen, bright dining area off. Range and fridge included. Good, large, new workshop attached at rear of the home. Set back from the street on an easy-to-maintain 60x120 lot in lawns with just enough flowers, etc. Located ½ block from the bus on a quiet, pleasant street close to the Jubilee Hospital. As I said, it's an older place, so please don't expect to see anything ultra-modern. However, it is very clean and very comfortable, and up to date. $11,600. Mr. Poole for appointments.

152 WATERFRONT PROPERTIES

IMMACULATE HOME

Undoubtedly this is one of the nicest waterfront settings you can find. The two-bedroom home with a spare bed-sitting room and its fireplace in the spotless basement is most suitable for retirement. The lot is beautifully landscaped and faces over an interesting waterway to the adjacent islands and Mt. Baker beyond. The beach is clean and most accessible with fishing at your door. The two lots give you 100' on the water, which is selling as high as $120 a foot in this area. The six-year-old home is most easy to maintain with its stucco finish and enclosed carport. This type of listing is a rarity so phone now. F. WILLS, 388-4271, J. H. Whittome & Co. Ltd.

RESERVOIR SHIP

Duck Call, Compass On Duty

CALGARY (CP)—It took a sense of humor to keep the Moyie afloat.

The 180-passenger sternwheeler almost foundered in red tape before she could sail the waters of Glenmore reservoir as a feature attraction of Heritage Historical Park in Calgary.

In a recent speech park manager David Turner told of the federal inspector who boarded the Moyie on her first "sea" trials on the narrow-width reservoir,

"The first thing he (the inspector) ordered was to have the Moyie run at flank speed of 12 knots in a straight line for 10 minutes," Mr. Turner said.

"After I told him that would place us in the middle of the Sarcee Indian Reserve, he agreed that we could cruise in circles to test the speed.

"On inspection of the wheelhouse, he wanted to know where our ship's compass was. We didn't have a compass for sailing on the reservoir.

"He pulled out his manual and pointed out the section that ordered a compass for a vessel of 100 tons or more.

"So I went down to the museum and got a compass of 1896 vintage and put it in the wheelhouse.

"Then he wanted to hear our foghorn . . . I asked would a duck call do. He agreed that under the circumstances it would.

"I went home and got my duck call. The compass and duck call are still on duty today as the Moyie's navigation aids in case of bad weather on the reservoir . . ."

CAMERON:

'Not Ashamed Of Word Socialism'

DUNCAN — Colin Cameron, NDP, said here Tuesday he would advocate an excess profits tax and capital gains tax if he thought they were necessary.

Mr. Cameron, seeking re-election in Cowichan-Newcastle-The Islands, said: "I'm not ashamed of the word socialism."

He said a lot of nonsense was talked about Canada depending on foreign investment.

Canada had one of the most striking expansion records on the basis of its own resources.

During the Second World War Canada's industrial capacity multiplied five times. And it was all done with the nation's own resources. The United States considered Canada a bad risk in those days.

NOT ENOUGH

It took a great measure of planning and control — to his mind not enough.

Mr. Cameron advocated public ownership of banking and public development of new technical resources.

He criticized Liberal intentions to turn the present public enterprise of Polymer synthetic rubber plant in Ontario over to private interests.

Polymer, built as a public concern, was the premier plant of its type in the world.

Mr. Cameron said some of Finance Minister Walter Gordon's efforts toward a more nationalistic economy were praiseworthy but ill-advised.

HOME GARDEN

Cheaper Peat Opens New Horizons

By JACK BEASTALL

The removal of peat from the old bogs of the lower Fraser Valley has been a real boon to gardeners in southwestern B.C.

Jack

Years ago all peat moss was imported and the price was far beyond the means of the home gardener.

Today the story is different. With peat products manufactured almost on our doorstep we can give serious consideration to growing many plants our parents and grandparents found impossible in their day.

These plants are in the group known as acid-soil plants, and by using peat moss and acid fertilizers it is possible to succeed with them in an otherwise ordinary garden soil.

GROUP THEM

While a pocket of soil suitable for growing an acid-loving plant can be made anywhere in the garden, it is easier to make one bed acid and put all the acid-lovers in a group together.

It is almost certain that success with one plant from this group will create the desire for more, therefore it is wise to prepare sufficient space in advance.

The acid reaction of peat moss in the soil has made it possible to grow all the summer flowering heathers, camellias, rhododendrons both big and small, mahonia, magnolias, kalmias, andromedas, aucubas, pieris, blueberries and other plants at one time considered unsuited to the home garden.

Even this short list can be extended into sufficient plants to fill a garden when the many varieties of each are included. At fall planting time it is worth considering, especially by the gardener looking for something completely different to the plants he has previously grown.

THIS TIME IT WAS A HEADACHE

DALLAS (UPI)—Allen Johnson, 39, was fined $100 and given a suspended 60-day sentence in federal court Tuesday on a charge of possessing moonshine whisky.

But his lawyer, A. J. Piranio, told Judge T. Whitfield Davidson his client kept the half-gallon of corn whisky "for his own use only" because he did not like the taste of bottled-in-bond alcohol.

"It doesn't give me a headache like store-bought whisky does," Johnson said of his moonshine.

ROBERT
education, religion

Montreal Chief Named to Head Quebec Police

QUEBEC (CP) — J. Adrien Robert, the man who brought religion and education to the Montreal police force, has been named director of the Quebec Provincial Police.

Mr. Robert, 59, who once served for seven years as a constable in the provincial force, was police chief in Hull, Que., for 24 years before taking over the Montreal department in 1961.

The announcement of his appointment was made Tuesday by Justice Minister Claude Wagner, who said Montreal authorities had co-operated in the bid for Mr. Robert's services at the provincial level. Mr. Robert's contract with Montreal does not expire until 1971.

The vacancy was created when the resignation of QPP head Josaphat Brunet was accepted last week by the provincial cabinet. Mr. Robert will take over from Mr. Brunet Nov. 1.

Mr. Brunet said he resigned over differences with Mr. Wagner centred around a list of promotions that were not approved.

CONFIRMS MOVE

In Montreal, Lucien Saulnier, the city's executive committee chairman, confirmed the departure of Mr. Robert. A special meeting of city council called for Friday will be asked to accept Mr. Robert's appointment and approve the appointment of Deputy Director Jean-Paul Gilbert as his successor.

Mr. Robert, a devout Roman Catholic, was determined to renew respect for the force which had fallen considerably during the years in the public eye, and to make it a more efficient crime fighting organization.

With this in mind he established a scholarship system for those in the 3,000-member force who were interested in advancing their education. As a result, hundreds have improved their formal education, many of them graduating with degrees such as MAs in psychology and sociology. His emphasis was on a police force that would be positive rather than negative.

He was much concerned with the moral conduct of his officers. On one occasion while touring police department officers he was appalled by the amount of swearing he heard.

ORDERS MEDALS

He immediately ordered that an aluminum medal, slightly larger than the size of a quarter, be minted. On one side of the medal was the image of "Le Sacre Coeur" (The Sacred Heart — otherwise known as Jesus Christ) on the other side, the words "Ne me blasphemez pas" (Do not swear at me.) The coins were distributed to every employee of the department.

Every year more than 1,000 members of the force attend special masses and retreats. This began with a handful of men in 1962 and the number participating in these religious experiences continues to grow.

Mr. Robert established a special committee—upon which sit representatives of all ranks—to deal with day-to-day and long-range problems related to the force. He has also been responsible for raising salaries in all ranks on the principle "that if you want to get good men, you have to pay more money."

ALICE MAUD WYATT, otherwise known as ALICE MAUDE WYATT, formerly of 4826 West Saanich Road, R.R.3, Victoria, B.C., DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that creditors and others having claims against the estate of the above deceased are hereby required to send them to the undersigned executor at P.O. Box 1174, Victoria, B.C., before the 12th day of November, 1965, after which date the executor will distribute the said estate among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which it then has notice.

LUNG COLLAPSED

Explorer 'Lucky To Be Alive'

A Victoria cave explorer, who suffered a collapsed lung on an expedition Sunday to the West Kootenays, is lucky to be alive, according to his companion Leagh Hamber.

Clarence Hronek, 32, of 1653 Pembroke, is reported doing well in Nelson Hospital.

Mr. Hamber, of 1384 Vista Heights, said doctors told him his friend started off to explore Cody's Cave with a collapsed lung, but he did not know it until after the expedition.

Doctors attributed the collapse to physical exhaustion caused by a bad cold and the drive to the Kootenays on Saturday.

'SHORT OF BREATH'

"We spent more than eight hours climbing to a 4,200-foot level and exploring a cave with 3,000 feet of passages," he said. "I noticed when we were climbing that Clarence was always short of breath."

"When we were exploring, I knew that Clarence was not himself," he added. "He didn't seem to be aware of some of the hazards in the cave."

Mr. Hronek collapsed when he returned to his truck at the foot of the steep slope.

"It would have been a serious matter if he had collapsed in the cave or on the slope," said Mr. Hamber. "It was a big job in itself trying to get him to hospital."

SOLUTION FRIDAY

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

NEW YORK — Marie McDonald's recent operation was far more serious than most of her friends know . . . The most impressive documentation of all on the late President Kennedy is due soon on Columbia Records Legacy Series in a book-and-record combination. The stunning set, produced by Goddard Lieberson with the close co-operation of the Kennedy family, includes many personal letters, documents and poignant observations never before published. It has been in production for two years.

Irritated motorists stuck for hours during the morning rush in the area of 52nd St. and 1st Ave. would really flip if they knew the cause of the tie-up. It wasn't a fire, a gang shooting, or even good old Con Edison tearing up the streets. Police had the area blocked off to accommodate a photographer with his lenses focused on a spanking new car (at one point, the cameraman was lying on the street shooting up at the automobile). The end result will be a TV commercial showing the vehicle zooming away on delightfully uncluttered Manhattan streets. As a happy but interested New York taxpayer, I would love to hear the authorities explain how that kind of deal works. Even press photographers with police credentials don't expect the men in blue to shut off avenues so they can lie on their stomachs taking interesting shots — they get their pictures on the wing, or they don't get them.

* * *

Paramount officials had mixed emotions about the enthusiastic reception accorded the sneak preview of "Boeing Boeing," starring Tony Curtis and Jerry Lewis. They feel it undoubtedly is Jerry's best picture, and will be his biggest grosser. Unfortunately, it's also his last film for Paramount . . . Jack Carter must have read Alan King's Broadway notices in "The Impossible Years" with considerable trepidation, because Jack will be the next of the big-time comedians to brave the drama critics when his new show, "Come Live With Me," opens on the Main Stem. Alan's was murdered, but it has a large advance and he has a tremendous following, so probably he's laughing off the pans.

Somebody's playing games. I have in hand—or, to be absolutely accurate, at hand — an engraved invitation from famed hostess Perle Mesta to a Washington party on Nov. 1. What makes it look like a gag is the peculiar wording of the invitation. It "requests the honor of your company" at a wedding, and Perle, an old hand at protocol, must know that you request "The honor of your presence" at a solemn ceremony, such as a marriage, and "The pleasure of your company" at a dance, such as a debut, and there just ain't no way of mixing them up. Enclosed is a card indicating a reply to "Miss Jeanne MacDaniels, Social Secretary," with the address to which you are supposed to accept or regret.

I hope this isn't a prank someone is playing on Perle, who is a darling, but it certainly looks that way. A hostess may have a dozen social secretaries, if she needs them, but they don't get billing, and well-bred guests reply to the hostess, not to the social secretary, who is there for purposes of sorting and listing, if you will, but should remain anonymous.

Golly, no wonder there's trouble in Viet Nam! If Perle Mesta is goofing on her invitations, what next?

STATE CAR WILL COST $36,000

LONDON (AP) — Rolls-Royce is coming out soon with the Phantom V State Landaulette, perhaps the world's most expensive automobile.

It will be sold only to royalty and heads of state.

No price has been announced. Each car is made to order only and the price is decided by negotiations. It will vary according to the specifications wanted by the buyer. It is unlikely however, that it will cost less than £12,000 ($36,000).

The Laundaulette will be nearly 20 feet long and six feet high. It is based on the present Phantom V, the largest car made by Rolls-Royce and selling for £9,500.

The Laundaulette's body is hand-built. Each car will take six months to build.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to John Beardsworth, age 10, of Sandy Hook, Conn., for his question:

How is sleet different from hail?

Many experts in this age of science claim that we are paying far too little attention to the weather. Most of us agree that the science of meteorology deserves a wealth of attention in funds and trained experts, for we are not yet certain of how many common weather events are caused.

The Weather Bureau has been receiving global pictures of the clouds from 400 to 700 miles above the earth since 1959. The orbiting Tiros satellites have relayed back hundreds of thousands of weather photographs. In the past, our weather surveys relied on ground instruments, balloons and other equipment sent aloft from the ground. The pictures from Tiros are a great help, but we still need far more research on the weather.

Meteorologists are skilled and hard-working experts, but their forecasts are not 100% certain because they are not 100% certain of the causes of many weather events. They suspect, for example, how rain is formed from the misty clouds, but some favor one theory and some another. Most of them agree how hail and sleet are formed, but no true scientist claims that these theories have been proved.

Ordinary folk speak of hail and sleet in the same breath as though they were the same weather event. To the expert they are different forms of precipitation caused by different weather conditions. Hail and sleet seldom fall at the same time.

Heavier Than One Pound

Sleet is often called ice pellets. In wintry weather it often falls instead of snow. Most experts think it begins as ice crystals mixed with the dewy moisture of a chilly cloud. Ice fragments join ice fragments and the crystals grow. Some form lacy patterns and fall as snowflakes. Sometimes a flock of falling flakes is whisked aloft by warm air before it reaches the ground. It melts, freezes again and finally falls as icy pellets of sleet.

Hail is born in a thunderhead and tends to strike us in sultry summer weather. It most likely begins as ice crystals and forms six to 10 miles aloft. As they grow, the icy fragments are tossed from warm to cold regions in the turbulent cloud. They freeze and partly melt again and again, adding jackets of harder and softer ice. Finally the heavy hailstones come pelting down to the ground.

As a rule sleet is a winter weather event, and its pellets resemble small grains of hard, white snow. Hail is usually a summer weather event. It comes with thunderstorms and often with tornados. Its pellets wear onionskin jackets of ice, and they may be very big. The largest hail stones recorded were 17 inches across and weighed 1½ pounds.

Kiwanian Urges Driver-Training

LAKE COWICHAN — Driver training for teen-agers has been suggested as a project for Lake Cowichan Kiwanis Club.

Harold Cooper, secretary of Cowichan District Kiwanis, said Monday Kiwanis International has a film, Handling the Unexpected, which could be used in conjunction with the course.

Fierce Battles Fought

Cong Loss Heavy In Two Attacks

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—The Viet Cong launched two big attacks on government troops in South Viet Nam's central highlands during the night and suffered heavy casualties.

A U.S. Army helicopter was shot down during one of the battles, and the four Americans aboard were killed. An estimated 150-200 guerrillas were killed in the two actions.

Supported by heavy air attacks, a force of 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 American advisers held off hundreds of guerrillas laying siege to a special forces camp at Plei Me, about 17 miles from the Cambodian border.

The Viet Cong lost an estimated 60 to 100 men but kept up their attack throughout the day. Casualties among the defenders were reported light.

U.S. advisers said government troops beat off attacks by two Viet Cong battalions in a fierce battle in the Ba Long valley, about 400 miles north of Saigon near the North Viet Nam border.

COUNT 94 BODIES

The advisers reported 94 Viet Cong bodies had been counted and "they're still counting." South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

Government forces also took one wounded captive, a regular North Vietnamese soldier who told intelligence officers that he was with the 800th Viet Cong Battalion which rendezvoused two days ago west of Hue. He said he came from North Viet Nam six months ago with other Hanoi regulars to fill out the battalion.

A large store of Viet Cong weapons was seized, including seven Chinese anti-tank weapons, four machine-guns and one rocket launcher.

The intensified Viet Cong activity Tuesday night and this morning followed one of the biggest strafing and bombing campaigns carried out by U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft in the Viet Nam war.

A fleet of 124 U.S. naval and air force jets pounded targets north of the border Tuesday—all were reported to have returned to base safely.

U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft flew more than 300 sorties against Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam.

REHEARSAL GOES SMOOTHLY FOR FIRST SPACE HOOK-UP

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford ran through a smooth rehearsal today for Monday's Gemini 6 space flight.

There was no trouble, in contrast to Tuesday when the exercise was postponed because of a stray electrical signal that scrambled the memory bank in the spacecraft computer.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration called it an excellent test and reported the computer was in good working order.

Schirra and Stafford are to make man's first attempt to hook up with a satellite and will determine whether any problems exist. The technique must be perfected for man-to-the-moon flights.

Rhodesian Decision Reached

11th Hour Appeal Made to Britain

'Consequences Depend on You'

(Times News Services)

SALISBURY—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith today made an 11th-hour appeal to Britain to "do the statesmanlike thing" and grant independence to Rhodesia.

IAN SMITH
. . . 'put us on trust'

Smith said earlier today his cabinet has made a decision in principle on whether to declare independence from Britain unilaterally.

Smith's letter to British Prime Minister Wilson said: "We have made our decision on what our next step should be. Its implementation and the consequences which flow from it now depend entirely on your response to this appeal I now make to you at this 11th hour."

Wilson called an urgent cabinet meeting at noon today to decide what, if any, action to take on Rhodesia's decision in principle on a declaration of independence.

ILLEGAL MOVE

Informed sources said Wilson decided to summon the cabinet after receiving legal advice that any statement by the Rhodesian government that it intended at some future date to declare independence would, in itself, be illegal.

The sources said that the cabinet would now decide whether to go ahead with plans for punitive action against a Rhodesian government which had declared its intention to take independence.

Smith said in the letter he again offered as proof of his good faith "a solemn treaty to guarantee our undertaking" to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution of Rhodesia, a self-governing central African colony ruled by a white-minority government.

COUNTRY CONDEMNED

"Rhodesia is being condemned not for what we have done but for what others say we might do in the future."

"Therefore, at this grave hour I repeat to you the suggestion I made to you at the London talks that the statesmanlike thing for you to do is to grant us our independence and to put us on trust to observe and to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution.

"Should there occur a breach of such a solemn undertaking, that would be the appropriate time for the British government to take whatever steps thought fit.

"I believe it is my duty to impress upon you that no hardship and misery will flow from any action taken by the Rhodesian government. If the unfortunate situation which you predict should occur it could only stem directly from actions taken by the British government and those whom you have induced to support you."

WILSON TALKS WITH PEARSON

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson, searching for some last-minute solution to the grave Rhodesian crisis, conferred with Prime Minister Pearson in an eight-minute trans-Atlantic telephone call Tuesday. An aide at 10 Downing Street said later Wilson was encouraged by Pearson's "advice and wisdom."

'THREE WEEKS? NONSENSE'

Beer Back Next Week If Strikers Vote Yes

Beer will re-appear in liquor stores and beer parlors next week if striking brewery workers vote tonight to return to work.

Sources who preferred to remain anonymous discounted as "nonsense" one report that it will be three weeks before beer reappears.

One source said if the 450 brewery workers agree to return and the agreement is signed before the weekend, beer will be flowing early next week.

He said warehouses already have stocks of bottled beer on hand. Draft beer will take a few days longer to prepare.

The break in the two-month strike over wages and automation came Tuesday after the first face-to-face meeting of the five breweries and the United Brewery Workers of America.

Involved in tonight's vote are 62 employees of the Lucky Lager brewery on Government Street.

A joint statement by both sides said the new offer, which was not made public, covers all points at issue.

The union struck Aug. 23 after the breweries rejected its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase in one year and a guaranteed annual wage to protect employees against the inroads of automation.

The breweries rejected the guaranteed annual wage plan, similar to that enjoyed by longshoremen, and offered an 11 per cent wage increase over two years and other benefits, which were turned down by the union.

The strike reduced the supply of beer to practically nothing, but cider sales enjoyed a tremendous boost.

Nearly 2,000 beer parlor waiters, including more than 100 in Victoria, were laid off when supplies ran out.

The strikebound breweries are Lucky Lager, Carling's Molson's and O'Keefe's.

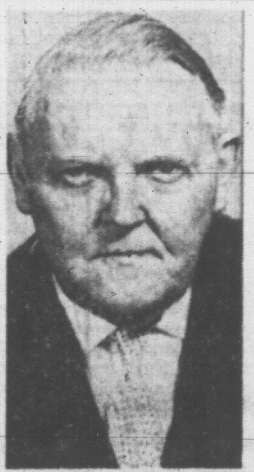
If It Moves, Shoot; Colorado Code?

CRAIG, Colo. (UPI) — To make sure they returned from their hunting trip Tuesday, Don Mallison, a firearms safety instructor from Hutchinson, Minn., and his brother, John, wore bright jackets and fluorescent hats.

To make doubly sure, they drove a bright red truck and planned to paint their horses yellow. But no sooner had they parked and unloaded the animals than a shot rang out. One horse fell dead. Then more shots and the second horse fell.

The brothers ran for cover. Minutes later a dozen hunters came out of the trees in Colorado's White River forest ready to argue for the kill.

But when they saw what they had killed, none would admit firing his rifle, Mallinson said.



RE-ELECTED today as West German chancellor was Ludwig Erhard by a vote of 272 to 200 in the Bundestag lower house at Bonn. He still faces difficulty in forming his government. A coalition agreement with the minority Free Democrats still must be accepted by his own Christian Democratic party.

'Personal Freedom Not Lost'

By IAN MacDONALD
Times Ottawa Bureau

WESTLOCK, Alta. — Prime Minister Lester Pearson said Tuesday night there is no stripping away of personal or provincial freedom in the Liberal medicare proposal.

Pearson made a strong defence of his government's plan as he flew into Alberta voicing election confidence and appealing for more Western Canada Liberals in Ottawa.

The prime minister drew a jam-packed audience of more than 1,000 in this small town about 50 miles north of Edmonton.

People unable to get seats stood at the back of the hall and sat in another room listening to him over loundspeakers.

The prime minister also made a strong appeal for national unity in a 30-minute speech.

He described it as Canada's most important problem next to that of peace.

OUTSPOKEN OPPONENT

Pearson carried his medicare stand into country where Alberta Social Credit Premier Ernest Manning is the most outspoken opponent of the Liberal proposal.

The prime minister's meeting was in Athabasca riding, where the Liberals are hopeful that they can take the seat from Tory Jack Bigg.

Pearson ran into his only heckler when he said there has been a great deal of interest in Alberta and other provinces concerning medicare.

"Socialist," shouted a man.

Pearson said the primary responsibility for medicare is provincial.

"But we believe there should be medical services available to every Canadian irrespective of ability or inability to pay," he stated.

He added Ottawa believes its job is to work with the provinces, help them finance a medical scheme, but leave the details to the provinces.

"We have not imposed any

Dief Reaches New Peak In 'Clean Up Mess' Plea

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Tomes Ottawa Bureau

PEMBROKE, Ont. — Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has again appealed to the conscience of Canadians to decide whether they will give the Liberals "carte blanche" to allow international crime to probe government circles.

With an almost inevitable momentum the Tory leader reached an emotional peak with the theme of "clean up the mess."

It is a theme which he has now carried more than 7,000 miles in this election campaign.

He has reached thousands of Canadians at 25 major meetings and countless whistle stops in every province but Prince Edward Island.

This time it was pounded out to an overflow crowd of some 1,100 in this Ottawa Valley community.

The stage was set with a mammoth blue and white banner which greeted the leader with "Welcome Honest John."

Hundreds crowded the railway platform as Diefenbaker swung off his special campaign train which had carried him from Sudbury.

He was obviously tired, having managed only about three hours sleep the night before when his itinerary was set back by fog.

His lengthy speech was received with few outbursts of applause but a quiet attention, particularly when he intoned his now standard campaign phrase: "The tentacles of international crime have reached into the highest levels of government."

"We Conservatives never had to apologize for our honesty," he said with eyes blazing across the rostrum.

"We will clean up the mess. They will cover up the mess.

IN ALABAMA

Court Won't Disqualify Jurors

MONTGOMERY (AP) — The Alabama Supreme Court refused today to disqualify 11 prospective jurors in a Ku Klux Klansman's murder trial because they had said they regarded white civil rights workers as inferior.

The unanimous decision cleared the way for resumption of the trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, at nearby Hayneville and for the selection of a jury.

State Attorney-General Richmond Flowers, prosecuting the first-degree murder case, told reporters: "I'm going back to my office now. I'll have a statement later."

Before the ruling was handed down, Flowers had said he would be ready to go back to Hayneville to resume the trial if the court rejected his claim that the prospective jurors by their statements had indicated prejudice.

The attorney-general based his appeal on the fact that Wilkins is charged with killing a white civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

MANIAC RECORDED DYING SCREAMS

Search Pressed for Child Victims

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—The maniac killer in Britain's weird mass murder hunt tortured his victims and tape recorded their dying screams, detectives reported today.

But although they hold recordings of the murders, and even photographs of the mutilated victims, police have found only one of the bodies.

They believe up to eight and perhaps 11 others are buried on the wild northern moorlands where the dismembered body of 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey was found last weekend.

Police seized tape and photographs in a raid on a house in Cheshire near the Pennine Hills where the hunt for the bodies continues.

More tape was found in a suitcase left in a Manchester railway station cloakroom. From tapes and photographs, detectives have built up a casebook of a sadist who enticed young children, got them drunk on wine and then murdered them if they refused to join perversions.

Police said they know the killer and are awaiting only to establish an iron-clad case before charging him. Their main difficulty is in finding the bodies.

Attempt to Crack Canadian Market

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifteen members of the Birmingham, England, Chamber of Commerce are in Montreal attempting to crack what they call the "tough" Canadian market.

The British businessmen seek new outlets for their products and established agents to handle a variety of manufactured goods.

IN MIDDLE OF SEASON

Fishermen Take 'Holiday'

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. herring fishermen are taking a two-week vacation in the middle of the fishing season while their union attempts to negotiate a new contract.

The holiday was declared by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) after the former herring-price agreement expired last Friday.

Union general organizer Wally Paulik said Monday the men will return to work Nov. 1 if agreement is reached before then on union demands for vacation pay for the two-week work stoppage.

A two-week vacation in October, with pay at the rate of four per cent of the previous year's earnings, was one of the union's demands in negotiations for a new contract.

Other demands were a $6 per ton price increase for fishermen from $14.48 to $20.48, and fringe benefits which Fisheries Association of B.C. estimates would cost another $2 per ton.

The association has agreed to negotiate a price increase, but has refused union demands for a pension plan and an additional holiday with pay, saying fishermen can buy these benefits with their extra earnings.

Association secretary Ken Campbell said no negotiating meetings are scheduled as yet, but said they likely will be held toward the end of the two-week holiday.

"This is a different twist to this thing," Campbell said

"Usually when the contract expires before we reach agreement on a new one the union agrees to continue fishing or calls a strike. This year they just declared a holiday."

The herring season began May 1 and continues to March 10, 1966.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Copper Issues Hold Interest at Toronto

The Toronto market reflected the Rhodesian crisis today with a continuing rise in copper futures and a market advance among senior metals.

Falconbridge gained 1½ to 108½, International Nickel 1¼ to 98¼, Hudson Bay ¾ to 75 and Noranda ⅝ to 51. Denison was ahead ⅜ to 40⅜ after setting a high for the year of 41¼.

The industrial list gained over-all, although several major sections eased.

Avco Corp., maker of aircraft parts, rose 1 to 26, Oshawa A ¾ to 24½ and Aluminium ¼ to 31½ following the announcement of a dividend increase.

The New York market displayed a scrambled pattern in active trading.

AT TORONTO papers and steels remained soft, B.C. Forest down ⅜ to 23⅝ and Algoma ¼ to 65. Pipelines and oils also dipped, BA Oil off ¾ to 29.

Pine Point, a senior lead and zinc producer, was off 1 to 82 after easing to 79⅝ on profit taking.

Superior Oil advanved ½ to 19⅞ in senior western oils and Hollinger ¼ to 27⅛ in golds. Banff fell 45 cents to $7.25 in junior western oils.

AT NEW YORK Polaroid was down 2. General Motors, U.S. Steel, Woolworth, Consolidated Edison, Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical were fractional losers.

Ahead around two were U.S. Smelting, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, American Sugar, South Puerto Rico Sugar and Gardner-Denver.

AT MONTREAL utilities and papers were off in a generally steady market today. Industrials advanced with Dominion Textile adding ¾ to 33¼. Utilities were off. Bell Telephone dropped ¼ to 57⅝ and Trans-Canada Pipe Line ⅛ to 35¼.

AT LONDON the market was quiet and irregular today but the over-all tone, however, was satisfactory.

Gilt edged were a firm feature especially in the short-dated section.

Dollar stocks were mixed and among leading Canadians to find favor were Abitibi, Consolidated Mining, Hollinger, Imperial Oil, Noranda and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines. International Nickel, Massey-Ferguson and Brazil Traction were dull and Canadian Pacific eased in rails.

AT VANCOUVER, one mining stock touched a 1965 high and two hit 1965 lows shortly before noon today.

Orecan gained .02 to .72 while Bralorne went off .10 to $4.70 and London Pride lost .01 to .14.

In the industrials, Westcoast rose .50 to a 1965 high of $22.62 and Weldwood sank to a low of $10.75, down .25.

New Bid To Sell Uranium

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — More possible European buyers for Canadian uranium have been engaged in preliminary talks with Denison Mines of Toronto.

Stephen Roman, president of Denison Mines, confirmed today that his company had been holding initial talks with other European countries.

Mr. Roman declined to disclose what other countries were involved.

STILL BLOCKED

Meanwhile, the negotiations between France and Canada over a 25-year supply contract for 50,000 tons of uranium oxide at a cost of about $750,000,000 remain blocked over the political question of control. Prime Minister Pearson last month said he was confident that the discussions with France would be resumed.

Revelation that Denison Mines was talking with other European countries was made in Paris by M. Jean Bodson, vice-president of Denison. He announced the company's decision to set up a permanent European office in Paris.

The report from Paris said that Denison Mines was exploring the possibility of participating in the establishment of a uranium enrichment plant, in which the other partners would be European energy producers whose nuclear programs depended on enriched, rather than natural uranium. At present the U.S. is the main source for enriched uranium.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada would give consideration to the sale of nuclear reactors for peaceful purposes to Communist countries in eastern Europe, according to officials of the federal trade department.

WILL PRODUCE PLANE PARTS

TORONTO (CP)—An agreement announced today to rearrange production of Douglas DC-9 commercial airliner parts at the de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd., plant at nearby Malton, could create 1,100 new jobs.

De Havilland has agreed to lease to Douglas Aircraft Co. of Canada Ltd. the portion of its plant producing wings and tail pieces for the DC-9. Douglas said it would employ 2,400 de Havilland workers.

Study Set Up By B.C. Labor

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Labor Council has voted to launch a study of what it calls the misuse of injunctions in labor disputes.

Council secretary Paddy Neale said he had spoken to judges who agree the use of injunctions in B.C. is becoming a farce.

He told the council that management is using injunctions to circumvent the Trade Unions Act, and said more have been issued in B.C. in the last two years than in the rest of Canada.

He said the labor movement must make every effort to see the elimination or reduction of ex-parte injunctions.

An ex-parte injunction is granted when only one side is represented in court.

"When these injunctions are issued, they are granted so quickly that trade unions involved can find themselves very quickly in contempt," he said.

The council proposes to contribute $1,000 towards the study which would lead to a brief to be presented to the B.C. attorney-general, the B.C. bar association, and directly to the B.C. supreme court if possible.

'No Draining Of Water Sans Plugs'

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canada may use her excess water to bargain her way into United States markets, John Turner, parliamentary secretary to Resources Minister Laing, said Tuesday.

"If water is to be considered on a continental basis, then markets for Canadian products must also be considered on the same basis and Canada may in return expect access to United States markets," he said.

But before Canada considers any sale or export of water, "we'll have to take a complete inventory of what water we have and make a projection of Canadian needs for the foreseeable future.

"We will never allow diversion of our water without adequate control. There'll be no drains of our water without plugs," Mr. Turner said in the opening address to a conference on water uses sponsored by the technical section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Canada, as far as water supply is concerned, "is one of the richest, most fortunate nations on earth."

"As demand approaches supply, there are only two alternatives open to us. New sources of water or a more effective use and reuse of the water we already have.

"Both alternatives are still open to Canada. We are looking carefully at possible diversions south from rivers which flow unused northward to the Arctic."

PRICES GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Oilseeds were mixed and other commodities steady in moderate trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Export interest was small.

October flax fluctuated widely but was mostly lower, reflecting fair hedging sales. Other contracts were steadier and slightly lower, reflecting U.S. competition in Europe.

Rapeseed was moderately higher.

Oats and barley were steady in light routine trade. Rye was firm but slightly lower.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP)—A rather dull session brought little change in the prices of grain futures on the board of trade today.

There was an early round of commercial buying of soybeans which fixed high marks for the day in that commodity, but prices subsided later and distant deliveries lost some ground.

Wheat edged up again on some export buying, and corn marked time as new crop delivery volume held moderate.

DR. KEENLEYSIDE

China Offers Great Market

VANCOUVER (CP)—China represents a potential market for "a great variety" of Canadian manufactured goods, Dr. H. L. Keenleyside said Tuesday after his return from an Asian visit.

He said China needs farm machinery and tools to built up its own industry.

The co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, a former diplomat and for nine years a top United Nations official, is one of Canada's most travelled persons. He has just spent more than two weeks visiting Peking, Shanghai, Canton, Hangchow and Soochow, and talked to China's top trade promoters.

He said wheat sales to China are likely to continue, but are not at all certain to be permanent. He agreed with Chinese who told him Canada should buy more products from the Communist country.

Dr. Keenleyside said China feels Canada is being unfair in its restrictions on purchases of Chinese goods, particularly its application of "fair-cost" measures to prevent dumping of products abroad at prices lower than those charged domestically for the same goods.

The Chinese claimed in talks with him their costs are the same for local consumption as for export.

Their most likely exports to Canada would be textiles, such raw materials at tungsten, and such art products as embroideries.

Dr. Keenleyside said he doubts whether China will ever sell enough goods to Canada to balance trade with this country.

Many Other Nations Interested

He said he could not claim even to have been a quasi-official visitor, but several federal government departments and the provincial government gave him their blessing to talk trade. He was told China is "very likely" to take part in the Vancouver international trade fair here in 1967.

While his talks were in progress in Peking, at least 80 other nations had trade representatives there, including such non-Communist countries as Great Britain, France, West Germany and Turkey.

He found the Chinese disappointed that China and Canada do not exchange diplomatic representatives, and drew the impression that China believes this shows Canada to be in a satellite relationship with the United States.

Dr. Keenleyside, visiting China for the first time since before the Second World War, said China's poverty "strikes you like a blow when you come back to it again."

"Compared with conditions in pre-war China the situation is somewhat more hopeful," said Dr. Keenleyside. "Crying need is not so obvious.

"You are not assaulted by beggars when you get off a train. There is no display of physical deformities as an excuse for giving them alms. You don't find the obvious conditions of degradation of the old days, with people dying on the streets."

RITHET ESTATE PROJECT

Location of Roads Being Roughed Out

A start has been made on what could be the biggest housing development on southern Vancouver Island.

Roughing out of road locations on the old Rithet Estate is being carried on by a syndicate that recently bought the 713-acre property.

The land on both sides of Royal Oak Avenue east of Patricia Bay Highway was bought for an undisclosed amount from Rithet Consolidated by a group headed by Gordon Ralston of Victoria.

An Uplands-style development is planned that will eventually house 6,000 persons and cost more than $50 million over the next 15 years.

It is the culmination of five years of planning.

The development surrounds, but does not include, the Rithet swamp, a natural wonderland of plant life.

Mr. Ralston said about 50 acres have been "proved out" for road locations. This involves taking out bramble and stubble, retaining existing bushes and trees.

"One of the problems is to develop and leave it as a residential green area like Uplands," he said.

The land is zoned for lots of 8,400 square feet but he said the lots will average closer to 12,000 square feet.

The next step is to submit plans to Saanich indicating where the builders want to place roads.

A tentative plan for the whole area and a detailed plan for the 50 acres where preliminary work is being done will be submitted to Saanich shortly.

After these details have been worked out and approved by Saanich, "then we will be able to announce plans for the full area."

Asked when the first houses will be built, Mr. Ralston said it should be in the spring.

'Lumber Industry Bilked'

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Lumbermen's Association Tuesday said that fraudulent bankruptcies linked with the underworld have cost the lumber industry in Quebec $46,000,000 in the last three years.

The association, meeting here, commented on the situation after studying a special CLA committee report which expressed a strong conviction that "this sordid situation" has links with political campaign payments, narcotics peddling and arson swindles.

The investigating team, which studied the problem for seven months, was headed by J. Raymond LeBlanc of Montreal, a lumber dealer who claimed his own firm was bilked in the process.

His committee's report called for a royal commission to probe the fraudulent bankruptcy racket. Mr. LeBlanc said members of the association had "become the prey of organized gangs which could not operate without the help of people in position to confuse, conceal or neutralize evidence from the files, or twist the mechanics of the law."

NO REPLY RECEIVED

The committee chairman recalled that in 1958 the CLA urged Davie Fulton, justice minister in the Conservative government, to hold a royal commission, "but nothing was done." Last year the lumbermen made a similar request to Prime Minister Pearson and "we have not yet received a reply."

On the question of whether fraudulent bankruptcies were the responsibility of the federal or provincial government, a spokesman said the association is "sick and tired of having the ball passed from one to another and nothing being done."

Longshoremen Press Strike

BRISTOL (CP)—A three-week strike has tied up 50 ships in the port of Bristol, England's sixth largest, and 1,500 longshoremen are off the job.

The strike is costing Britain £250,000 ($750,000) a week.

The strike began Sept. 28 when longshoremen refused to accept an interim rate negotiated by their union for unloading timber cargo.

Union officials say the strike has become a showdown between the union membership and union executive.

Affects of the strike are spreading as other shipping companies have threatened to cut Bristol off their future shipping schedules.

On Oct. 8, 10,000,000 bananas worth $360,000 were dumped into the sea when they rotted aboard a strike-bound ship.

Record Sales By Seagrams

MONTREAL (CP) — Sales of Distillers Corp. - Seagrams Ltd. reached a record figure, exceeding $1,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30, president Samuel Bronfman announced Tuesday.

Sales totalled $1,005,119,185 compared with $897,082,974 a year earlier.

Consolidated net profit was $41,058,784 or $2.34 a share, compared with $37,782,000 or $2.15 a share for the previous year. Dividend payments totalled $17,100,232, compared with $15,784,830 in 1965.

More Gas Imports Ruled By Examiner

WASHINGTON (AP)—A power commission examiner has ruled that Montana Power Co., Butte, should be allowed to increase its natural gas imports from Canada from an average daily rate of 30,000,000 cubic feet to 50,000,000.

The decision of examiner Ewing G. Simpson will become a final commission order if no review is initiated within 40 days.

CPR OFFICIAL TELLS HEARING

Passengers Unprofitable

OTTAWA (CP) — Even without the need for more diesel locomotives to move the massive Russian wheat purchase the CPR would still discontinue the cross-Canada Dominion passenger train, a railway official said Tuesday.

J. N. Fraine of Montreal, CPR vice-president for rail operations, told a hearing of the Board of Transport Commissioners the railway still needs 18 diesels for the wheat movement and discontinuance of the Dominion would free 10.

"But we would still discontinue the Dominion even if the required diesels could be obtained elsewhere."

He was replying to questions by Maurice Wright of Ottawa, counsel for the Canadian Railway Labor Executives Association.

THREE-DAY HEARING

The board began a three-day hearing Tuesday into the CPR's announced plan to drop the Dominion. The CPR announced in mid-summer the train would be discontinued Sept. 7 but complaints to the board caused it to order the train continued until hearings were completed.

Hearings have already been held at Winnipeg, Vancouver, Calgary and Regina and move to Port Arthur next week.

The CPR has argued for abandonment on grounds of financial loss in Dominion operations and its need for extra locomotives for grain movement this winter.

Mr. Fraine said 32 diesels were needed initially "and this need has been our problem ever since the Russian wheat sale was announced." He said six diesels were being acquired "tonight and four more next week" and four had been obtained earlier.

Mr. Wright suggested the CPR had not tried very hard to acquire locomotives and read Mr. Fraine several advertisements in a trade publication offering diesels for sale. Mr. Fraine said he had not seen the ads.

Then came this exchange:

Wright: "Suppose part of your operation doesn't show a profit, are you justified in doing away with it?"

Fraine: "Yes, I think we are. Most businesses follow a policy of getting rid of the dead wood."

DENIES SUGGESTION

Wright: "Isn't it the avowed intent of Canadian Pacific to get out of the passenger business and dump it all on the Canadian National—and the Canadian people?"

Fraine: "That isn't my understanding."

Wright: "Are you convinced that Canadian railway passenger service holds no hope for the future?"

Fraine: "It certainly seems that way at the moment."

Leslie R. Smith of Toronto, CPR eastern region vice-president, told the board that although some 100 employees would be affeced by discontinuance of the Dominion "none will lose their employment, although some will have to change jobs."

SHOWS PROFIT

Earlier J. G. Alley, counsel for the British Columbia government, told the hearing the CPR "has not seemed to consider" raising fares on the Dominion, particularly for the busy summer tourist season.

A brief prepared by his government purported to show that the CPR actually showed a profit on the Dominion from June 15-Sept. 15, 1964. He suggested the CPR should investigate to see whether higher fares would make the train a paying proposition.

Oil Pickets In Brush With Police

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 30 pickets, angered that a 13,173-ton tanker landed at a struck British American Oil Co. operation, brushed with police Tuesday.

RCMP officers were assailed with shouts of "scab herders," "Yankee lovers" and "finks" as they shoved and pushed pickets out of the path of two trucks at BA's marketing plant in neighboring Burnaby.

Only shortly before the Liberian tanker BA Canada, normally based at Montreal, docked at the plant with 5,000,000 gallons of refined products such as gasoline.

Pickets said the tanker contained enough to keep BA service stations in B.C. supplied for two months.

Resort Group Hints Of Public Offering

VANCOUVER (CP)—A director of Grouse Mountain Resorts Ltd. said the company will probably make a public offering of common stock or debentures within two months.

George Sherwood of Vancouver said current development on the mountain is privately financed, but additional work contemplated could involve another $500,000 to be raised publicly.

A $1,300,000 ski chalet and aerial tramway is under construction on the mountain, facing Vancouver across Burrard Inlet.

Armoury Project Nears Finish

A $136,000 engineering project at Bay Street Armoury is nearing completion after three months of work involving a 14-foot pit at the militia's doorstep.

The contract let by Defence Construction (1951) Ltd. is for installation of an automatic oil-fired heating and ventilation system. It replaces a coal-fired unit, parts of which were 50 years old.

An 18-foot-long oil tank with 3,000-gallon capacity was sunk in an excavation underneath the front driveway.

This will feed two new smokeless, fully-automatic boilers each with a rating of 150,000 BTUs.

These will heat hot water for circulation throughout the Armoury to radiators, two new forced-air circulating heaters for the drill floor, and to a fresh water heating system for the basement swimming pool.

SELF-REGULATING

The electrical control system makes the installation self-regulating, requiring no supervision as with the former steam boiler system.

All heating system plumbing and radiators are being renewed as part of the contract.

Work is being done by the Burnaby firm of Vector Installation Services Ltd., who are expected to be finished by the end of November.

COUPLE WED 62 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Schroeder, 211 Government Street, will mark their 62 wedding anniversary on Thursday. They were married in James Bay Methodist Church in 1903 and still attend services there.

Mrs. Schroeder, the former Violet Emery, came from Sherbrook, P.Q., in March 1891 while her husband, formerly of Chestley, Ont., arrived here in March 1901.

The couple will celebrate their anniversary with a family dinner at the Princess Mary Restaurant. A special guest will be Mrs. Helen Ball, Vancouver, who was a bridesmaid at their wedding.

Also present will be the couple's four children, 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Their children are Mr. Frank E. Schroeder, Mr. Wilfred L. Schroeder and Mrs. Leslie H. Smith, all of Victoria, and Mrs. W. L. Kenyon, Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schroeder—married 62 years on Thursday.

Bride Wears Gown of White Organza

Arrangements of chrysanthemums in rust and white tones decorated St. Peter's Anglican Church when Rev. Kenneth King heard vows uniting Darlene Gail Matte and John Warren Ingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matte, 467 Lampson Street, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Ingham, 150 Kamloops Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza. The bodice featured lily point sleeves with pearls accenting the neckline. Her scalloped veil misted to waist length from a jeweled headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. A rhinestone necklace and earrings, her only jewelry, was a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants, matron of honor Mrs. R. Bradley, bridesmatron Mrs. D. Swain, and bridesmaid Miss Yvonne Day wore sheath dresses of organza, styled with overskirts. They carried bouquets of carnations and roses in pink and white tones. Flowergirl Carrie Burke was in a dress of pink lace. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Walter Allison was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Rickey Matte and Allan Day.

Thomas Day proposed the toast to the bride at the reception in the Carlton Club, where the bride and groom cut a three-tier wedding cake that was decorated with white and yellow roses.

The couple will live at 4152 North Road following a honeymoon trip to Portland, Ore.

For travelling, the bride wore a turquoise knit suit with beige accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

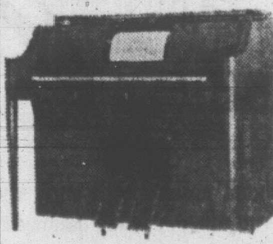
Hold Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunter and W. G. Ellis were special guests when the Dogwood Social Credit Women's Auxiliary held a luncheon in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. Guests were greeted by president Mrs. G. W. Cousens. Co-conveners were Mrs. E. Barker and Mrs. E. Godkin. The Capital City Women's Auxiliary were in charge of a home baking stall.

BE SMART—

Coco Chanel (some smart cooky!) advocates the dinner suit in lovely fabrics, and favors the color white. Which looks very "dressed-up," indeed. But it's not just for dinner. It's for the theatre, for a discotheque (maybe sans jacket?), for elegant nighttime visiting. Not necessarily Chanel, either. But an idea!

PIANOLA SPINET
PLAYER PIANO



The new Pianola is the most revolutionary piano in a generation, the piano that every one can play.

You may pump the foot pedals, or turn on the switch and listen to all your favorite songs, or you may play the Pianola by hand.

The all-new Pianola is a triumph of modern engineering and design. You place your piano roll in position, turn on the switch, sit back and listen to the most beautiful music. At the end of the roll, it will rewind and shut off the switch automatically.

We can demonstrate a large selection of rolls to choose from, or just play it yourself.

Pianola comes with matching bench, 10 music rolls, 2 beginners' music books, 8 lessons for total cost $1,185, according to model.

Dennis to Play In Final 2 Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions said today they are bringing tackle Lonnie Dennis out of retirement to reinforce their offensive line for the rest of the Western Football Conference season.

Dennis, who quit to further his career as a police officer in a Los Angeles suburb, will play in the final two league games. He will stay for the playoffs if Lions defeat Saskatchewan Roughriders here Sunday in a game expected to decide the last playoff berth.

Dennis, a key man in Lions' drive to the Grey Cup last year, has been badly missed in the club's drop to third place this year.

Car Plunges Off Bridge; 8 Killed

RADIUM JUNCTION, B.C. (CP)—Eight Indians, including four tiny children, died today when their car plunged off a forestry bridge into the Columbia River in southeastern British Columbia.

Breedlove Escapes Injury

SALT FLATS (AP)—Craig Breedlove narrowly escaped death today when he lost control of his jet-powered car at close to 600 miles an hour on these western Utah salt flats.

His car, Spirit of America, Sonic 1, veered to the right on the southbound run after it crossed the first timing marker of the measured mile. He was not injured.

The front wheels were off the ground and the braking parachute was torn off as he tried to gain control of the racer.

Logger Killed Near Vernon

VERNON (CP)—A 21-year-old man was killed Tuesday in a logging accident at Lumby, 20 miles east of here.

Garry Michael Hubic of Vernon was struck by a falling tree when he backed a logging truck from a road to allow another vehicle to pass. The man who felled the tree said he didn't see Hubic's truck.

DYING SCREAMS RECORDED

Search Pressed For Child Victims

KLAN leader Robert Shelton today was dismissed as a witness before the U.S. Un-American Activities Committee but not before he was warned contempt charges will likely be laid. The Imperial Wizard of the United Klans of America again refused to answer questions concerning funds received and monies spent. (See also Page 6.)

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—The maniac killer in Britain's weird mass murder hunt tortured his victims and tape recorded their dying screams, detectives reported today.

But although they hold recordings of the murders, and even photographs of the mutilated victims, police have found only one of the bodies.

They believe up to eight and perhaps 11 others are buried on the wild northern moorlands where the dismembered body of 10-year-old Lesley Ann Downey was found last weekend.

Police seized tape and photographs in a raid on a house in Cheshire near the Pennine Hills where the hunt for the bodies continues.

More tape was found in a suitcase left in a Manchester railway station cloakroom. From tapes and photographs, detectives have built up a casebook of a sadist who enticed young children, got them drunk on wine and then murdered them if they refused to join perversions.

Police said they know the killer and are awaiting only to establish an iron-clad case before charging him. Their main difficulty is in finding the bodies.

If It Moves, Shoot; Colorado Code?

CRAIG, Colo. (UPI) — To make sure they returned from their hunting trip Tuesday, Don Mallison, a firearms safety instructor from Hutchinson, Minn., and his brother, John, wore bright jackets and fluorescent hats.

To make doubly sure, they drove a bright red truck and planned to paint their horses yellow. But no sooner had they parked and unloaded the animals than a shot rang out. One horse fell dead. Then more shots and the second horse fell.

The brothers ran for cover. Minutes later a dozen hunters came out of the trees in Colorado's White River forest ready to argue for the kill.

But when they saw what they had killed, none would admit firing his rifle, Mallinson said.

Dief Reaches New Peak In 'Clean Up Mess' Plea

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Tomes Ottawa Bureau

PEMBROKE, Ont. — Conservative leader John Diefenbaker has again appealed to the conscience of Canadians to decide whether they will give the Liberals "carte blanche" to allow international crime to probe government circles.

With an almost inevitable momentum the Tory leader reached an emotional peak with the theme of "clean up the mess."

It is a theme which he has now carried more than 7,000 miles in this election campaign.

He has reached thousands of Canadians at 25 major meetings and countless whistle stops in every province but Prince Edward Island.

This time it was pounded out to an overflow crowd of some 1,100 in this Ottawa Valley community.

The stage was set with a mammoth blue and white banner which greeted the leader with "Welcome Honest John."

Hundreds crowded the railway platform as Diefenbaker swung off his special campaign train which had carried him from Sudbury.

He was obviously tired, having managed only about three hours sleep the night before when his itinerary was set back by fog.

His lengthy speech was received with few outbursts of applause but a quiet attention, particularly when he intoned his now standard campaign phrase: "The tentacles of international crime have reached into the highest levels of government."

"We Conservatives never had to apologize for our honesty," he said with eyes blazing across the rostrum.

"We will clean up the mess. They will cover up the mess.

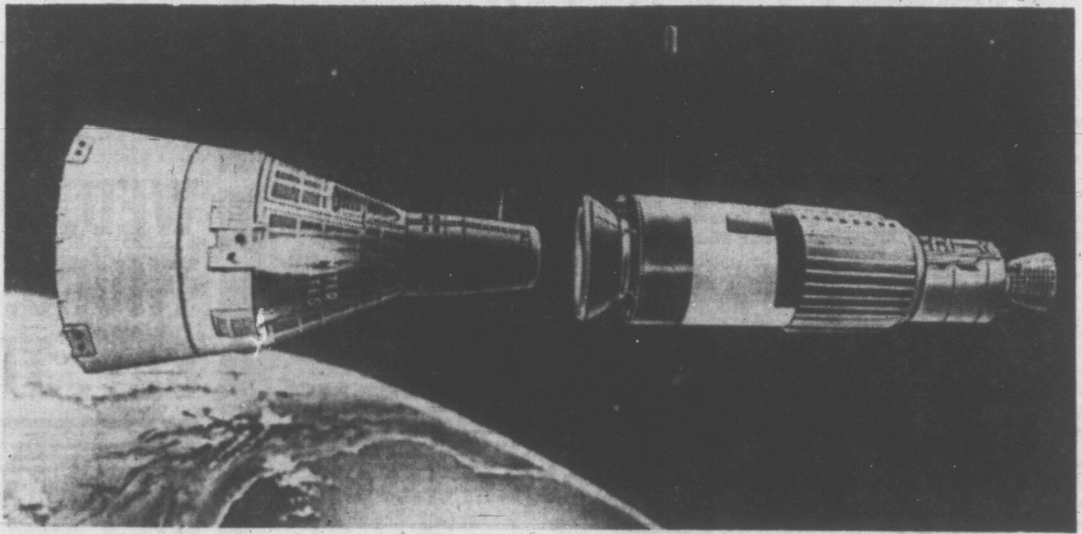
RCAF STILL SEARCHING FOR PLANE

CALGARY (CP)—RCAF aircraft are re-chekcing some areas in a two-week-old search for two American flyers.

"We feel we have to re-check some areas before we can ask for suspension of the search," Flt. Lt. Wally Kostiuk, assistant search master, said today.

"We hope to cover the Cranbrook-Kimberley area for the third time today," he said.

The search began Oct. 7 when a light single-engined aircraft disappeared on a flight from Bellevue, Wash., to Calgary. Aboard the aircraft were George Moore, 43, and Harvey Ring, 42, both of Bellevue.



RENDEZVOUS IN SPACE is shown in this drawing by Russell Arasmith of the Los Angeles Times. Gemini 6 is scheduled for launching Monday from Cape Kennedy and will rendezvous with the Agena rocket 185 miles above the earth while travelling at 17,500 miles an hour. Astronaut Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford will practise four such docking manoeuvres after the original union. Small side rockets push the capsule away from the rocket. (AP Wirephoto.)

REHEARSAL GOES SMOOTHLY FOR FIRST SPACE HOOK-UP

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford ran through a smooth rehearsal today for Monday's Gemini 6 space flight.

There was no trouble, in contrast to Tuesday when the exercise was postponed because of a stray electrical signal that scrambled the memory bank in the spacecraft computer.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration called it an excellent test and reported the computer was in good working order.

Schirra and Stafford are to make man's first attempt to hook up with a satellite and will determine whether any problems exist. The technique must be perfected for man-to-the-moon flights.

'THREE WEEKS? NONSENSE'

Beer Back Next Week If Strikers Vote Yes

Beer will re-appear in liquor stores and beer parlors next week if striking brewery workers vote tonight to return to work.

Sources who preferred to remain anonymous discounted as "nonsense" one report that it will be three weeks before beer reappears.

One source said if the 450 brewery workers agree to return and the agreement is signed before the weekend, beer will be flowing early next week.

He said warehouses already have stocks of bottled beer on hand. Draft beer will take a few days longer to prepare.

The break in the two-month strike over wages and automation came Tuesday after the first face-to-face meeting of the five breweries and the United Brewery Workers of America.

Involved in tonight's vote are 62 employees of the Lucky Lager brewery on Government Street.

A joint statement by both sides said the new offer, which was not made public, covers all points at issue.

The union struck Aug. 23 after the breweries rejected its demands for a 10 per cent wage increase in one year and a guaranteed annual wage to protect employees against the inroads of automation.

The breweries rejected the guaranteed annual wage plan, similar to that enjoyed by longshoremen, and offered an 11 per cent wage increase over two years and other benefits, which were turned down by the union.

The strike reduced the supply of beer to practically nothing, but cider sales enjoyed a tremendous boost.

Nearly 2,000 beer parlor waiters, including more than 100 in Victoria, were laid off when supplies ran out.

The strikebound breweries are Lucky Lager, Carling's Molson's and O'Keefe's.

IN ALABAMA

Court Won't Disqualify Jurors

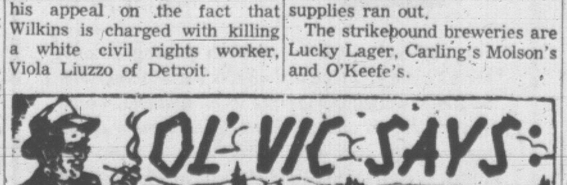
MONTGOMERY (AP) — The Alabama Supreme Court refused today to disqualify 11 prospective jurors in a Ku Klux Klansman's murder trial because they had said they regarded white civil rights workers as inferior.

The unanimous decision cleared the way for resumption of the trial of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, at nearby Hayneville and for the selection of a jury.

State Attorney-General Richmond Flowers, prosecuting the first-degree murder case, told reporters: "I'm going back to my office now. I'll have a statement later."

Before the ruling was handed down, Flowers had said he would be ready to go back to Hayneville to resume the trial if the court rejected his claim that the prospective jurors by their statements had indicated prejudice.

The attorney-general based his appeal on the fact that Wilkins is charged with killing a white civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.



There ain't any doubt about th' pubs bein' closed on pollin' day when they vote on a beer strike.

WILSON TALKS WITH PEARSON

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson, searching for some last-minute solution to the grave Rhodesian crisis, conferred with Prime Minister Pearson in an eight-minute trans-Atlantic telephone call Tuesday. An aide at 10 Downing Street said later Wilson was encouraged by Pearson's "advice and wisdom."

'Personal Freedom Not Lost'

By IAN MacDONALD
Times Ottawa Bureau

WESTLOCK, Alta. — Prime Minister Lester Pearson said Tuesday night there is no stripping away of personal or provincial freedom in the Liberal medicare proposal.

Pearson made a strong defence of his government's plan as he flew into Alberta voicing election confidence and appealing for more Western Canada Liberals in Ottawa.

The prime minister drew a jam-packed audience of more than 1,000 in this small town about 50 miles north of Edmonton.

People unable to get seats stood at the back of the hall and sat in another room listening to him over loudspeakers.

He described it as Canada's most important problem next to that of peace.

Pearson carried his medicare stand into country where Alberta Social Credit Premier Ernest Manning is the most outspoken opponent of the Liberal proposal.

The prime minister's meeting was in Athabasca riding, where the Liberals are hopeful that they can take the seat from Tory Jack Bigg.

Pearson ran into his only heckler when he said there has been a great deal of interest in Alberta and other provinces concerning medicare.

"Socialist," shouted a man.

Pearson said the primary responsibility for medicare is provincial.

"But we believe there should be medical services available to every Canadian irrespective of ability or inability to pay," he stated.

He added Ottawa believes its job is to work with the provinces, help them finance a medical scheme, but leave the details to the provinces.

Queen, Wilson Hold Meeting

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth agreed to receive Prime Minister Harold Wilson at his urgent request tonight as the Rhodesian independence crisis approached a final rupture.

(Times News Services)

SALISBURY—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith today made an 11th-hour appeal to Britain to "do the statesmanlike thing" and grant independence to Rhodesia.

IAN SMITH
. . . 'put us on trust'

Smith said earlier today his cabinet has made a decision in principle on whether to declare independence from Britain unilaterally.

Smith's letter to British Prime Minister Wilson said: "We have made our decision on what our next step should be. Its implementation and the consequences which flow from it now depend entirely on your response to this appeal I now make to you at this 11th hour."

Wilson called an urgent cabinet meeting at noon today to decide what, if any, action to take on Rhodesia's decision in principle on a declaration of independence.

ILLEGAL MOVE

Informed sources said Wilson decided to summon the cabinet after receiving legal advice that any statement by the Rhodesian government that it intended at some future date to declare independence would, in itself, be illegal.

The sources said that the cabinet would now decide whether to go ahead with plans for punitive action against a Rhodesian government which had declared its intention to take independence.

Smith said in the letter he again offered as proof of his good faith "a solemn treaty to guarantee our undertaking" to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution of Rhodesia, a self-governing central African colony ruled by a white-minority government.

"Rhodesia is being condemned not for what we have done but for what others say we might do in the future.

"Therefore, at this grave hour I repeat to you the suggestion I made to you at the London talks that the statesmanlike thing for you to do is to grant us our independence and to put us on trust to observe and to abide by the principles of the 1961 constitution.

"Should there occur a breach of such a solemn undertaking, that would be the appropriate time for the British government to take whatever steps thought fit.

"I believe it is my duty to impress upon you that no hardship and misery will flow from any action taken by the Rhodesian government. If the unfortunate situation which you predict should occur it could only stem directly from actions taken by the British government and those whom you have induced to support you."

Fierce Battles Fought

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—The Viet Cong launched two big attacks on government troops in South Viet Nam's central highlands during the night and suffered heavy casualties.

A U.S. Army helicopter was shot down during one of the battles and the four Americans aboard were killed. An estimated 150-200 guerrillas were killed in the two actions.

Supported by heavy air attacks, a force of 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 American advisers held off hundreds of guerrillas laying siege to a special forces camp at Plei Me, about 17 miles from the Cambodian border.

The Viet Cong lost an estimated 60 to 100 men but kept up their attack throughout the day. Casualties among the defenders were reported light.

U.S. advisers said government troops beat off attacks by two Viet Cong battalions in a fierce battle in the Ba Long valley, about 400 miles north of Saigon near the North Viet Nam border.

COUNT 94 BODIES

The advisers reported 94 Viet Cong bodies had been counted and "they're still counting." South Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

Government forces also took one wounded captive, a regular North Vietnamese soldier who told intelligence officers that he was with the 800th Viet Cong Battalion which rendezvoused two days ago west of Hue. He said he came from North Viet Nam six months ago with other Hanoi regulars to fill out the battalion.

A large store of Viet Cong weapons was seized, including seven Chinese anti-tank weapons, four machine-guns and one rocket launcher.

The intensified Viet Cong activity Tuesday night and this morning followed one of the biggest strafing and bombing campaigns carried out by U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft in the Viet Nam war.

A fleet of 124 U.S. naval and air force jets pounded targets north of the border Tuesday—all were reported to have returned to base safely.

RETIRE HERE

I spent most of the week before last showing an Ontario client some 2-bedroom, no basement retirement homes in varied price ranges. After they found the one they wanted I received some more calls to my "wanted" ad that had been running in the paper. This is one.
It's an older home, but exceptionally clean and well kept. Nice and warm, easily and economically heated, without cold drafts. Yes, 2 nice bedrooms, cozy living room, all immaculate floors, up to date kitchen, bright dining area off. Range and fridge included. Good, large, new workshop attached at rear of the home. Set back from the street on an easy-to-maintain 60x120 lot in lawns with just enough flowers, etc. Located ½ block from the bus on a quiet, pleasant street close to the Jubilee Hospital. As I said, it's an older place, so please don't expect to see anything ultra-modern. However, it is very clean and very comfortable, and up to date. $11,600. Mr. Poole for appointments.

152 WATERFRONT PROPERTIES

IMMACULATE HOME

Undoubtedly this is one of the nicest waterfront settings you can find. The two-bedroom home with a spare bed-sitting room and its fireplace in the spotless basement is most suitable for retirement. The lot is beautifully landscaped and faces over an interesting waterway to the adjacent islands and Mt. Baker beyond. The beach is clean and most accessible with fishing at your door. The two lots give you 100' on the water, which is selling as high as $120 a foot in this area. The six-year-old home is most easy to maintain with its stucco finish and enclosed carport. This type of listing is a rarity so phone now. F. WILLS, 388-4271, J. H. Whittome & Co. Ltd.

WIRE BRIEFS

More Officers Killed

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The bodies of two more Indonesian Army officers reported to have been killed by forces of the "Sept. 30 movement," which staged an abortive coup against President Sukarno, have been found in central Java, Jakarta radio reported today.

Search Fruitless

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — The search for a missing international control commission aircraft carrying Canadian, Indian and Polish ICC members has been fruitless, commission sources in this Laotian capital said today.

Lady Churchill Tired

LONDON (Reuters) — Lady Spencer-Churchill, 80, who suffered a broken right arm in a weekend fall, was reported today to be "a little tired."

Arms Cleanup Urged

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) —Military leaders are demanding a "drastic cleanup" of arms caches in downtown Santo Domingo, where at least five persons have been fatally shot and seven wounded in four days, it was

Second Seaman Dies

PLYMOUTH, England (CP)— A second Canadian seaman from HMCS Nipigon has died as a result of the fire which broke out Monday night aboard the Canadian destroyer. He was identified today as Able Seaman Roderick E. Reade, 21, of Galt, Ont.

CAMERON

'Not Ashamed Of Word Socialism'

DUNCAN — Colin Cameron, NDP, said here Tuesday he would advocate an excess profits tax and capital gains tax if he thought they were necessary.

Mr. Cameron, seeking re-election in Cowichan-Newcastle-The Islands, said: "I'm not ashamed of the word socialism."

He said a lot of nonsense was talked about Canada depending on foreign investment.

Canada had one of the most striking expansion records on the basis of its own resources.

During the Second World War Canada's industrial capacity multiplied five times. And it was all done with the nation's own resources. The United States considered Canada a bad risk in those days.

NOT ENOUGH

It took a great measure of planning and control — to his mind not enough.

Mr. Cameron advocated public ownership of banking and public development of new technical resources.

He criticized Liberal intentions to turn the present public enterprise of Polymer synthetic rubber plant in Ontario over to private interests.

Polymer, built as a public concern, was the premier plant of its type in the world.

Mr. Cameron said some of Finance Minister Walter Gordon's efforts toward a more nationalistic economy were praiseworthy but ill-advised.

ROBERT
education, religion

Montreal Chief Named to Head Quebec Police

QUEBEC (CP) — J. Adrien Robert, the man who brought religion and education to the Montreal police force, has been named director of the Quebec Provincial Police.

Mr. Robert, 59, who once served for seven years as a constable in the provincial force, was police chief in Hull, Que., for 24 years before taking over the Montreal department in 1961.

The announcement of his appointment was made Tuesday by Justice Minister Claude Wagner, who said Montreal authorities had co-operated in the bid for Mr. Robert's services at the provincial level. Mr. Robert's contract with Montreal does not expire until 1971.

The vacancy was created when the resignation of QPP head Josaphat Brunet was accepted last week by the provincial cabinet. Mr. Robert will take over from Mr. Brunet Nov. 1.

Mr. Brunet said he resigned over differences with Mr. Wagner centred around a list of promotions that were not approved.

CONFIRMS MOVE

In Montreal, Lucien Saulnier, the city's executive committee chairman, confirmed the departure of Mr. Robert. A special meeting of city council called for Friday will be asked to accept Mr. Robert's appointment and approve the appointment of Deputy Director Jean-Paul Gilbert as his successor.

Mr. Robert, a devout Roman Catholic, was determined to renew respect for the force which had fallen considerably during the years in the public eye, and to make it a more efficient crime fighting organization.

With this in mind he established a scholarship system for those in the 3,000-member force who were interested in advancing their education. As a result, hundreds have improved their formal education, many of them graduating with degrees such as MAs in psychology and sociology. His emphasis was on a police force that would be positive rather than negative.

He was much concered with the moral conduct of his officers. On one occasion while touring police department officers he was appalled by the amount of swearing he heard

ORDERS MEDALS

He immediately ordered that an aluminum medal, slightly larger than the size of a quarter, be minted. On one side of the medal was the image of "Le Sacre Coeur" (The Sacred Heart — otherwise known as Jesus Christ) on the other side, the words "Ne me blasphemez pas" (Do not swear at me.) The coins were distributed to every employee of the department.

Every year more than 1,000 members of the force attend special masses and retreats. This began with a handful of men in 1962 and the number participating in these religious experiences continues to grow.

Mr. Robert established a special committee—upon which sit representatives of all ranks—to deal with day-to-day and long-range problems related to the force. He has also been responsible for raising salaries in all ranks on the principle "that if you want to get good men, you have to pay more money."

LUNG COLLAPSED

Explorer 'Lucky To Be Alive'

A Victoria cave explorer, who suffered a collapsed lung on an expedition Sunday to the West Kootenays, is lucky to be alive, according to his companion Leagh Hamber.

Clarence Hronek, 32, of 1653 Pembroke, is reported doing well in Nelson Hospital.

Mr. Hamber, of 1384 Vista Heights, said doctors told him his friend started off to explore Cody's Cave with a collapsed lung, but he did not know it until after the expedition.

Doctors attributed the collapse to physical exhaustion caused by a bad cold and the drive to the Kootenays on Saturday.

'SHORT OF BREATH'

"We spent more than eight hours climbing to a 4,200-foot level and exploring a cave with 3,000 feet of passages," he said. "I noticed when we were climbing that Clarence was always short of breath."

"When we were exploring, I knew that Clarence was not himself," he added. "He didn't seem to be aware of some of the hazards in the cave."

Mr. Hronek collapsed when he returned to his truck at the foot of the steep slope.

"It would have been a serious matter if he had collapsed in the cave or on the slope," said Mr. Hamber. "It was a big job in itself trying to get him to hospital."
